The Beauty of St. Louis.
The Wickedness of Russia.
The Bright Mrs. Patterson.
The Wicked Bankers.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MRS. CHARLOTTE NIXON-NIRDLINGER, St. Louis beauty prize winner, fortunately for her, still had what won the prize when she appeared yesterday in the French court, at Nice, to be tried for killing her husband.

She was worn and pale, but the beautiful girl's mother, who had come all the way from St. Louis, collapsed at the first words of the prosecutor's speech, asking a verdict of manslaughter.

MANY POLICE were needed to handle the great crowd, and the judge, acting also as prosecutor, as French judges do, had no heart in his work. When he asked the defendant why she kept a revolver under her pillow, she said it was a bad habit, and wept. All the French ladies in the court wept with her. The polite French jury acquitted her in 10 minutes, and everybody wept more violently than ever.

Gentlemen that marry beauty prize winners should behave themselves. The French jury decided that the dead man, who was not there to weep or talk, deserved what he got.

MR. KNICKERBOCKER, explaining the wickedness of Russia on behalf of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, discovers at Savona, in Italy, gigantic tanks for storing Russian oil.

And Russia, well may you shiver and shake as you read it, sells oil to Italy far below the "Shell" and Standard Oil prices.

Some distinguished oil men must have been sound asleep recently.

What is gained by raising a hue and cry against Russia? The thing to do is to compete with them. It is no crime to undersell another nation if you can do it. That has been the pastime of England, Germany and this country for many years. Why shouldn't Russia try it?

OUR "BEST MINDS," financially speaking, condemn Italy for co-operating with Russia. But Italians have not forgotten that in the war they could not get enough oil or gasoline at any price, or enough coal, and, for what they did get, they paid the highest prices. If they can get a reliable low price supply from Russia why shouldn't they take it?

Senator Borah, head of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says it is time to stop talking nonsense about Russia, and sweep away prejudices and intolerance. He says the country should realize that Russian problems cannot be met "by running away from them."

MRS. ELEANOR PATTERSON, brilliant young editor of W. R. Hearst's Washington Herald, writes:

"Successful women brag more than successful men, and successful men brag quite a good deal."

She probably knows about the women, but is mistaken about men. REALLY successful men do not brag, knowing how small they are.

You could not imagine Pasteur, Newton, Galileo or Michelangelo bragging.

MRS. PATTERSON says:

"I'm not a successful woman, never worked very hard, never worked very well."

But, convinced that the time has come to imitate her sisters, she adds:

"But, somehow or other (I guess it's just one of those merry little coincidences), since I came on the Washington Herald, July 31 of last year, the circulation has increased 24 per cent."

MR. GREEN, head of the American Federation of Labor, thinks there is a conspiracy of bankers to reduce wages. This writer has heard bankers talk about "the absolute necessity of deflating wages." But they all agreed that a cut in wages crippling the workers' buying power would be a short cut to a deeper depression.

While the discussion goes on, wages are cut in many directions, and there will be more cuts, until times improve.

The question in a depression isn't so much what you OUGHT to do or what you would like to do, as what you CAN do.

LABOR UNIONS will notice that those "allegedly conspiring" bankers have suffered a considerable cut in the pay of their closely unionized dollars, and a deflation in their profits.

They are lending money on call now at 1 per cent. Back in 1929, they got as much as 15 or 20 per cent. And they are lending money for 90 days at 2 per cent and less. And nobody knows how badly they feel about it. It is as though carpenters found themselves working for 80 cents a day.

LA GUARDIA, New York Congressman, some times Republican, some times Socialist, and always energetic, wants a law that would nationalize everybody and everything "from Tex Guinan to J. P. Morgan," in case of another war.

It is an amusing suggestion, but wouldn't work. The next war, like preceding wars, will be run bearing in mind the Bible text "as his part is that goeth down into the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff." And the tarriers "by the stuff" will as usual get the bigger part.

JUDGE SCANS LEGALITY OF HALL SITE

Zone Law, Nicola's Purchase Of Keefer Property May Block Court Approval

Decision in the taxpayer's suit to restrain the County Commissioners from purchasing the F. F. Nicola site, Ruskin and Fifth avenues, for Allegheny County's new $6,000,000 town hall, rests upon two points, Common Pleas Judge James R. Macfarlane indicated today.

Interrupting opposing counsel as they concluded final arguments in the application for an injunction, Judge Marfarlane said he was particularly interested in a possible conflict with the zoning ordinance and whether the arrangement for the purchase of the W. W. Keefer property is legal. He said:

"We must remember we are dealing with a great public improvement and should throw no brick in the way of it. I can't say now that the zoning ordinance appears to be an obstacle, but there is a very important legal question as to whether the arrangements for the purchase of the Keefer property are valid and whether, if invalid, they invalidate the whole agreement."

During the hearing it was brought out that under the final agreement the commissioners signed for purchase of the Oak-

REBELS BATTLE CUBAN TROOPS

MIAMI, Fla., May 21.—(INS.)—Sanguinary clashes between federal troops and insurrectionists throughout Cuba today following occurred throughout Cuba today following outbreak of a concerted revolutionary movement, according to information received here.

Revolutionary forces claimed the capture of three towns in Oriente Province and were reported massing for a determined attack upon railway centers. Havana is virtually under martial law, the information said.

HAVANA, May 21.—(INS.)—The government of President Machado officially admitted today that revolutionary outbreaks against its authority had occurred at the interior cities of Mazanillo and Jiguani, with some disorders at Chaparra and Holguin, but declared that all such attempts had been suppressed.

Warn of Frost As Mercury Drops

Early tomato plants will probably be nipped by frost tonight. With the mercury forecasted to drop to between 40 and 45 degrees, Local Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said that frost would probably be evident in favorable places. The cool wave will be accompanied by generally favorable weather, the forecaster said.

Ice Cream Man Held for Court; Resented Jibes, Denies Attack

His arm broken in two places, Bernard Suppers, 10, of 2319 Roller street, appeared as a prosecuting witness against Pete Chappas, 55, of 202 Mendotta street, ice cream peddler, in Morals Court today. Chappas, accused of wrenching the boy's arm until it snapped in two places yesterday, was held for court on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

A crowd of boys was playing in Roller street yesterday afternoon when Chappas drove his wagon along. Some of the boys shouted "hokey-pokey" and others threw stones at the horse. Leaving his wagon, Chappas is said to have caught the Suppers boy, escorted him to an alley and twisted his arm.

Chappas admitted chasing the boy, but said he did not catch him. His attorney questioned Bernard and asked if he did not fail and break the arm. Two others, who were said to have witnessed the alleged attack, did not appear at the hearing.

Governor Criticized For Fast Driving

FARMINGDALE, N. J., May 21.—(AP.)—The speed which Gov. Morgan F. Larson goes through this town on his daily trips between Trenton and his home at Sea Girt, has resulted in many complaints, he was told today in a letter from the Chamber of Commerce, asking him not to travel so fast.

HUGE WAR AIR SHOW THRILLS CHICAGO

Army Sky Fleet's Flight To Pittsburgh Postponed Until Tomorow Morning

International News Service.

CHICAGO, May 21.—Chicago today was treated to a spectacular exhibition of aerial strength by the war birds of the United States Army.

More than 650 planes demonstrated wherein aviation excels as a means of attack or defense as they participated in the greatest air maneuvers of history.

After the thrilling exhibition, the air armada flew away on its return trip to the Atlantic seaboard.

FATHER DEAD, MURDER JUROR KEPT IN BOX

News Withheld to Speed Trial Of Three in Barbecue Killing From Collapse

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 21. — (AP.) — Wallace Fletcher, of Donegal Township, resumed his seat in a jury box today unaware that his father had died during the night.

Fletcher is one of the jury trying Paul E. Boggs, Russell Wentz and John Greenwalt for the murder of Francis J. McGreevey, roadstand proprietor. Faced with continuance of the trial if Fletcher were released from service, Judge W. T. Dom decided after a conference to withhold news of the father's death.

State testimony in the case was resumed.

Miss Ethel Sago, 17, Irwin, employe of the road stand, said she was in the kitchen at the time of the holdup and identified Wentz as the one of the trio who stood in the doorway and menaced customers with a pistol while the others were looting. She testified she heard the fatal shot, but did not see who fired it.

Seven Insane War Vets Bolt

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 21.—(AP.)—Seven mentally deranged patients of the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Leeds, including one who is considered dangerous, escaped last night, hospital authorities revealed today.

George Burr, of Clarksburg, one of the seven, made his way to the home of relatives at North Adams, who reported his presence, and he was brought back to the hospital today. The other six remained at liberty. They are John Flagg, of Worcester; Joseph Lucas, of Pittsfield; Daniel Lynch, of Springfield; Charles Wall and Charles Harris, of Boston, and Frank Crebbins, of Cleveland. Hospital authorities said Wall organized the escape.

Henry J. Drisbois, an attendant, was injured slightly when he was overpowered and robbed of his keys.

Wheat Parley Brings Results But No Biscuits

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 21.

That London conference on wheat is bringing results but no biscuits.

All the big nations are represented by one vote. America gets two votes because we eat breakfast food, too.

The Soviet dumping policy has the rest of the world frightened. Soviet wheat makes a terrible cake but brings good prices. And any Russian can shake a bushel of wheat out of his whiskers.

There's only one international solution to the wheat question. Stop throwing it at each other and start making it into bread.

Out here in Indiana the farmers are watching their young corn and wheat sprouting. They don't know what to do with it after it ripens. They just plant it because it's a habit.

Our London delegate is Sam McKelvie. Sam advocates curtailment of production, fewer farms and more miniature golf. Well, out here in Indiana, the farmers thought of that plan two years ago.

They still plant the wheat as we said. But that's an old Anglo-Saxon inhibition. But there the interest stops. At least we didn't see any Indiana farmers fanning the young stalks with their hats.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The voice to which millions of radio fans have listened choked with emotion today as Graham McNamee admitted that a romance which Broadway has considered an idyllic example for 10 years was shattered.

Mrs. Josephine Garrett McNamee is suing the radio announcer for a separation. The suit has been on file for several weeks, but no inkling of her charges has leaked out.

In his Penthouse apartment on Riverside drive, McNamee, looking haggard and nervous, said he had been alone for several weeks, although even his nearest friends knew nothing of Mrs. McNamee's intentions. He repeatedly had termed her his "severest critic."

Last fall, McNamee's friends began to see him with Anne O'Brien, a dark-haired model, of Shenandoah, Pa., who has posed for Howard Chandler Christy and Harrison Fisher, and whose

CLARK ACTS ON SPUR OF EXPOSE

Secret Squad to Ferret Out Violators After Principal Tells of Peril to Pupils

Following disclosures of vice conditions in the vicinity of the Franklin School, Director James M. Clark and Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh today directed Inspector Albert Beebe to detail no less than six plainclothesmen to raid all places where they think the law is being violated. They said they would personally ask Magistrate Leo Rothenberg to mete out the stiffest sentences possible to these offenders.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park also promised the school authorities the fullest co-operation in investigations and prosecutions.

"WORST IN CITY"

Clark issued a statement following his conference with Walsh, and in which the latter joined, explaining how difficult it was to clean up this district, which was termed "one of the worst in the city." The statement said:

"When the police raid a place in the morning, a new crowd moves in and before nightfall they are operating again.

"The children should be protected at all costs and the superintendent and I will take every means to safeguard them from conditions of this kind."

Beebe said he would not take the plainclothesmen from the force reporting to Center Avenue Station, but would recruit them from other sections so there would be no chance of their being known to the persons in the various places against whom they were instructed to obtain evidence and raids.

This activity by authorities followed the disclosure of conditions through the Sun-Telegraph made by the school authorities.

CHARGE VICE WIDESPREAD

All forms of vice, from dope to the "numbers" racket, are represented in more than 30 establishments within a radius of two blocks from the Franklin School, in the heart of the Hill district, at Logan and Epiphany streets, Principal W. A. Laning said today.

Dope, lurking in the background never seen but often sensed, is the only vice practiced in secret, he said. Supporting Laning's estimate was Miss Anna B. Heldman, of Irene Kaufman settlement.

Park Orders Carey Arrest On Lottery Charges

Police Chief Ralph Miller, of Dormont, today insisted that one of the two address books seized upon John A. Carey, of 175 Leckey way, North Side, did reveal the existence of a county-wide baseball lottery.

He said this in reply to a statement of District Attorney Andrew T. Park that there was no evidence that the lottery was being operated in the county.

Upon Park's advice, that the possession of lottery tickets does not constitute a violation of the law, Miller said the address books have been returned to Carey.

Today Carey was arrested and committed to jail on orders of District Attorney Park, who said:

"Carey will be held until he does talk."

Park further said that Carey admitted operating a baseball pool in Ohio, but denied that he operated in Allegheny county. Park also said Carey denies knowing or working for Sam Rost, alleged pool operator.

Two raids on the North Side, resulting from the arrest of Carey, proved "water-hauls," Park said, no evidence of lottery operations being found.

Carey was held in $1,000 bond, on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated, by Burgess Charles Chamberlin, of Dormont, last night.

Chief Miller, testifying before Chamberlin last night, said Carey had told him that he sold thousands of chances and that Sam Rost was the pool's operator.

RADIO ADDRESS HITS SENATE TINKERING

By ED PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, May 21.—M. A. Musmanno, stirred by the attitude of the Senate's Judiciary General Committee, was to answer his foes in a speech over Radio Station WCOD here today.

Senator William Earnest, chairman of the committee which yesterday ripped the Musmanno coal and iron police bill to pieces, will be the subject of the address. The sponsor of the coal police bill said he will explain to Earnest's home folks here what kind of a senator they have.

TO TALK OF COMMITTEE

Musmanno will tell them, he said today, the history of the committee, comprised mostly of corporation lawyers.

This same committee held what they considered an investigation into the utilities, then recommended that slight changes be made in the law and whitewashed the commission itself. They killed the Pinchot fair rate bills, and yesterday virtually killed the Musmanno measure by taking out the limitation included to regulate the coal and iron police, and substituted a series of amendments which give them their old power, and prevent responsibility for their acts being placed either on the state or on the companies.

CHARGES IGNORANCE

Musmanno last night issued a statement in which he charged:

"The amendments inserted by the committee indicate either an utter lack of knowledge of the problem involved, or the same disregard and ruthlessness as to the rights of the people as has been manifested by the coal and iron police whose depredations my coal and iron police bill was intended to curb."

The bill will, when and if it passes the Senate, be sent to a conference committee of both the House and the Senate. It will be in unfriendly hands in both events, likely, and may be doomed.

POLICE RAIDERS WAR ON VICE

said. Children going to and from school, he said, must pass these places.

FIGHTS, DISORDERS

Scantily-screened doorways reveal bars, slot machines, beer flats, Miss Heidman said, adding that an estimate of 30 places was a minimum. From the school windows not less than 10, Laning said, can be seen. Drunken fights and disorders of all kinds occur near the school in broad daylight, he said. Laning declared:

"Children are born and raised with vice on all sides of them. If you drive away the bootlegger, you drive away his child. Seeing these things, as they do, everywhere, the children's sense of right and wrong is deadened.

"The police must know about it. It stares them in the face.

"It's a wonder to me that any of my children are good. Some of my boys worship Al Capone as their hero; some are cut in perfect gangster type. Houses of vice must cater to some at least of the older of my pupils."

Laning's statement confirmed charges yesterday of Mrs. Allena C. Stuhlfire, secretary of the Third Ward Board of School Visitors.

DENIES BOARD INACTIVE

Mrs. Belle D. Pardick, secretary of the Board of School Visitors in the Twenty-second Ward, denied today her board was inactive. Failure of its notice of regular, annual reorganization to reach the Board of Public Education was blamed for inclusion of the Twenty-second Ward board on lists of inactive visitors' boards.

For years Miss Pardick and her associates have been unusually active in school affairs in that ward, officials of the School Board said today.

ROOSEVELT MEN BOOM HARRISON

By FRASER EDWARDS
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The presidential campaign of Franklin D. Roosevelt has reached the point where his managers are casting about for an available running mate with the New York governor.

It was being reported today that Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, has been approached by friends of Roosevelt with a suggestion that he might make splendid vice presidential timber.

Harrison is regarded as an ideal selection. He is recognized as one of the foremost orators on the Democratic side of the Senate and is a whirlwind stumper.

The Mississippian would be reluctant to relinquish his place in the Senate, however, even for such a high honor. He is now the ranking Democrat on the powerful Finance Committee.

SCOUTS BEGIN TRAFFIC COUNT

In all sections of the city today 1,100 Boy Scouts began their sixth annual traffic count under the auspices of the Better Traffic Committee.

Not only will the Scouts count vehicular traffic, but they also take pedestrian count and keep a sharp eye for inaccurate traffic signs and markings.

Many of the Scouts have been posted at the most hazardous intersections of the city, and from their reports the traffic committee hopes to remedy conditions.

Traffic at through streets will also be watched carefully, and the speed and vehicles and the number of violations reported.

DRIVER ROBBED OF TAXI, $7

A passenger he picked up in Wilkinsburg early today forced Charles Coudit, a taxi driver of 640 College avenue, to give him his money and his cab when they arrived in Swissvale.

Coudit said the man drew a revolver when they reached Swissvale, and forced him to hand over $7. Doudit said he was then ordered out of the cab, and the robber drove off.

Swissvale police, given a report of the robbery, notified other stations and Rankin police located the taxicab.

Doudit remained in the Wilkinsburg-Swissvale district aiding police in their search for the robber, whom Coudit said he knew.

He appeared before Referee A. P. Wills on supplementary proceedings for failure to pay a $11,000 judgment obtained by E. J. Ralph, former city editor of a newspaper Vanderbilt once owned.

Engineer Checks Unsafe Conditions Revealed in Inspection of Line

HARRISBURG, May 21.—The Engineering Bureau of the Public Service Commission today recommended to the Pittsburgh, Harmony and Butler Railways Company that it put in new track to remedy a dangerous condition of switches near Keown Station, and to slow down its car speed to 10 miles an hour over the Cemetery Lane Bridge. Both are in Ross Township.

SUN-TELEGRAPH ACTION

These recommendations, contained in a report made by Paul F. Didier, Jr., one of its staff, followed an investigation by the engineer. It was begun several weeks ago after Sun-Telegraph photographers found a broken rail and a highly vibrant trestle near Keown, photographed the rails and printed the pictures.

Letters were sent to officials of the company today by Louis Tevell, acting secretary of the commission, following the report.

Didier explained that he investigated the bridge—a 300-foot trestle 50 feet in height over Cemetery lane, near the Babcock boulevard. His report stated:

"The bridge shows very little corrosion, mostly on the bottom of the bents on top of the pedestals. It is in fair condition. It has no guard rails on the side of the main rails.

"Due to a straightway of 150 yards leading up to the bridge, the cars speed over the trestle at between 40 and 50 miles an hour. The structure vibrated considerably. It had no weak spots of alarming condition."

TRACK HELD UNSAFE

The engineer recommended that the car speed here be reduced to 10 miles an hour, and that signs to this effect be posted.

The second suggestion was that the switch 75 feet south of Keown station, be replaced as the track is in very bad condition, and unsafe. He said:

"The Railways Company should insall, within 30 days, a complete new cross-over on new ties and ballast, to replace the existing cross-over."

SEEKS TO FORCE WALK LAYING

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang today asked City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to force the Carcia Construction Company to relay 30 defective sidewalks in the city.

Director Lang said he had asked the construction company three times to relay these walks. The demands have been ignored, Lang said. The Bureau of Tests reported the pavements measured only two and one half inches thick, while the specifications called for five inches.

If the Carcia company refuses to relay the walks, the city will ask for a forfeiture of its bond. In some instances property owners refused to permit tests of the walks in front of their homes, and from these Director Lang said he would obtain releases protecting the city.

land site, Nicola was to try to buy the Keifer property for the county. If unsuccessful it was to be condemned. Judge Macfarlane said he seriously questions the right of the county to delegate such condemnatory power to a third party.

Judge Macfarlane said that under the existing zoning law the county had no right to build a public auditorium on the Nicola site. He said it may be changed to permit its construction and added:

"But we have no right to bank on what anybody will do. I don't think this court has a right to speculate."

As the arguments were completed, Judge Macfarlane said an early decision would be made to permit the filing of arguments on exceptions during the June term of court. This action was taken as indicative of the general feeling that whatever decision is made an appeal will be made to the State Supreme Court.

McGovern Finds Hall Site For $1.50 Square Foot

A site costing $1.50 a square foot is available for Allegheny County's new $6,000,000 Town Hall, it was revealed yesterday by County Commisioner Charles C. McGovern, testifying in the suit in equity brought by Schenley Farms and Oakland property owners, seeking to restrain the County Commissioners from completing the purchase of the F. F. Nicola site.

This site, which McGovern referred to as one of seven or eight he had studied, is on the northeast corner of Forbes and Neville streets, directly across Forbes street from the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and contains approximately six acres.

Sponsors of this site say that the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad could be turned into the lower floor of the building if the Town Hall were built here, simplifying the transportation problem.

EDITOR'S VICE WAR BLAMED IN MURDERS

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—An investigation which was expected to lead to startling disclosures was under way here today in the murder of Herbert F. Spencer, 45, newspaperman, and Charles Crawford, 52, prominent politician, presumably by gangsters fearing exposure.

Spencer died almost instantly with a bullet through his heart. Both men were shot by a gunman in the politician's private office.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Police arrested a suspect a few minutes after Crawford's death, but did not disclose his name.

Mrs. Spencer's first statement to reporters on the death of her husband was:

"I know who killed my husband. You know who killed him as well as I do. Herbert had only one enemy in the world. That man controls the saloons and resorts in Los Angeles."

For 20 years Spencer had been a police reporter in Los Angeles, becoming city editor of the Los Angeles Evening Express. Recently he bought part of the Critic of Critics, a liberal magazine, and began a campaign against gangsters, gamblers and racketeers in Los Angeles and Hollywood, with Frederick Schindler, part owner of the magazine, doing the writing on information furnished by Spencer. He was said to have more sources of information than any reporter in the city.

RADIO MAN WAN, ADMITS SUIT

Miss O'Brien, just 23, nearly died a few weeks ago from an overdose of sleeping powders.

McNamee said today he did not know where his wife was, but that the separation was not by mutual consent. He professed ignorance of the charges.

The McNamee romance attracted wide comment in radio broadcasting circles since the marriage 10 years ago in May, 1921. McNamee met Miss Garrett, who was the daughter of a wealthy Bronxville (N. Y.) family, when he was an obscure baritone soloist and she a soprano in the Bronxville Dutch Reformed Church choir. McNamee often said that his wife helped him most in his climb to prominence.

DISCUSSES MATE

Mrs. McNamee, in an article in the current number of Radio Digest, tells some of the difficulties of being a popular radio announcer's wife. She asserted:

"As husbands go I can't imagine anybody quite like Graham. Many a time I've made pancakes and fried egg sandwiches at 4 o'clock in the morning.

"Although Graham's work takes him away a great deal, I have one advantage over most other wives. I can always hear him. And no matter where he is, the first thing he does when he finishes a broadcast is to telephone me and say, 'Did you hear the program? Well, how was it?'"

He was absent-minded, she said, and practiced golf-putting on the living room rug. He insisted that one of the five radio sets in the house be turned on whenever he was home. She concludes:

Immunity Veils Woman's Screams in Turk Embassy

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(INS.)—The wall of diplomatic immunity today prevented police from solving the mystery of a woman's screams which neighbors said came from the Turkish embassy last night.

Police were told there was no need for their services. A member of the household, who said he was a nephew of the ambassador, Ahmet Muhtar Bey, said a woman had become ill and was in a highly nervous condition.

The ambassador was not at home, the nephew said. An embassy employe later told reporters over the telephone that a young woman employe had been screaming on one of the upper floors.

VOTE MACHINES TO CURB ELECTION FRAUDS, SAYS M'GOVERN

WOMEN AMONG VOTE THIEVES, HE CHARGES

Asserts No Device Can Bar Cheating Completely; Jibes At His Two Colleagues

No voting machine is "fraud-proof," County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said today in an address before members of the Women's Political Educational Association, meeting in the Chatham Street Y. W. C. A.

During the meeting one of the 1,100 machines being manufactured for Allegheny County by the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, of Baltimore, was demonstrated.

McGovern said:

"Although all machines can be cheated, this one comes the nearest being cheat proof and fool proof. With the election returns being recorded on a printing device, it destroys the efficiency of election thieves, and this is the only thing that will do any good.

"I've been arresting and prosecuting them for 30 years, but there's a new crop of election thieves every year, and some of them are women."

McGovern said he would do everything in his power to have the county's order of demonstrating machines filled by June 8.

Replying to a question if the other commissioners were as interested in the machines as he, McGovern replied:

BARTON SUICIDE LINKS 'LOST LOVES'

International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Life's irony, which his caustic pen had portrayed to bring him international fame, prodded Ralph Barton's troubled spirit today.

The noted artist took the trouble to write a long message explaining his act yesterday before he propped himself in bed, clothed in red and white pajamas, and with a lighted cigaret in his left hand, pulled the trigger of a revolver with his right.

WRITES OF GRIEF

In his long note Barton wrote of his grief in losing Carlotta Monterey, "the only woman I ever loved," who divorced him and later married Eugene O'Neill, the playwright. He said she would "understand what my malady was," and finally, he wrote, if the "gossips" insist on more, "let it be" a dentist's appointment or lack of cash.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, stopping at a New York hotel, barred all visitors and left word they had "gone out of town."

So they said today Barton shot himself because of unreturned love, because he was ill, because he was penniless.

KRESGE GIRL MENTIONED

Some said he was driven to death because he could not forget Carlotta Monterey and it was hinted he had hoped to marry Ruth Kresge, daughter of the 5-and-10-cent store merchant. She sailed for Paris Monday night on the Europa with her fiance, Rufus Clark Caulkins, former Princeton football player and now a member of the consular service.

Homer Barton, a New York actor, brother of the artist, and Miss Kresge's mother denied he had ever planned or hoped to marry the heiress.

Barton said:

BROTHER DENIES POVERTY

"My brother was still in love with his third wife, Carlotta Monterey, and the realization he had lost her broke his heart. It was a matter of impulse, I am sure, for Ralph was very impulsive. He did not consider his action, I know, because he was looking forward to the summer in his apartment. He had brought in some new flower boxes to decorate it."

Barton denied his brother was without funds. He said a bank book found in the pent house showed the artist "had thousands" on deposit. He had recently sold his home in France, the brother said.

The body of the artist was removed to an undertaker's and funeral plans had not been completed early today. The actor said his brother's body would probably be cremated and the ashes sent to Kansas City, where his mother and sister reside.

Convict Faces Jury in Tragedy Costing 320 Lives; Three Witnesses Testify

COLUMBUS, O., May 21 (AP.)—With a jury seated and opening statements out of the way, the state called its first witnesses today in the first degree murder trial of Clinton Grate, 31, convict, one of two alleged co-conspirators in the Ohio Penitentiary fire in which 320 prisoners perished a year ago.

The witnesses included Dr. J. A. Murphy, former coroner; D. J. Bonzo, record clerk at the prison, and Mrs. Ruth Brashear, widow of Howard T. Brashear, convict, for whose death Grate is specifically charged.

HOOVER TALKS TONIGHT ON RED CROSS

Radio Chains to Broadcast Golden Jubilee Speeches By International Leaders

Two presidents of units of the International Relief Organization will open the golden jubilee tonight. President Hoover, who heads the society in this country, and Judge Max Huber, of Zurich, Switzerland, president of the International Red Cross Committee, will make addresses. Both the National and Columbia systems will broadcast the speeches. Chief Justice Hughes will preside, while eight ambassadors and more than 50 other diplomatic representatives will be among the guests.

FETE IN DANSVILLE

DANSVILLE, N. Y., May 21.—(AP.)—This health resort center, where, 50 years ago, Clara Barton sought repose and a return to the health she had impaired by her labor in organizing the National Red Cross, today shared with the National Capital the first honors of commemorating "The Greatest Mother."

From every state in the union, every European country, the Republics of South America and countries all over the world, have come requests for the two-cent stamp issued in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the American Red Cross. It was here that Clara Barton, while a patient in a health resort, formed the first chapter of the Red Cross, August 22, 1881.

VIRGINIA DAWES IMPROVING

LONDON, May 21.—(INS.)—While eight American women—five debutantes and three matrons—today prepared to enter the gay social life that follows opening of the royal court, Virginia Dawes, 18-year-old daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, recuperated from an appendicitis operation.

Miss Dawes made her first bow before King George and Queen Mary Tuesday and yesterday underwent an operation at the American embassy. She was reported to be resting comfortably.

The American women last night witnessed for the first time the pomp and pageantry of the English monarchy. A thrill that those who appeared on Tuesday missed was afforded by the presence of the Prince of Wales, handsome in the scarlet uniform of a colonel of the Welsh Guards. His younger brother, Prince George, wore a naval uniform.

Mooney Innocent, 'German Spy' Says

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—(INS.)—Carl Von Moltke, 40, convicted of burglary, declared he could prove Tom Mooney and Warren Billings had nothing to do with the San Francisco bombing. He claims he is the nephew of Helmuth Von Moltke, German field marshal.

'Young Sinners' Star Married to Actor

Miss Appleby had just concluded a long run in "Young Sinners," a Broadway production, having achieved stardom within five years after winning a beauty contest in Madison Square Garden.

FEARS HUSBAND DEAD IN SOUTH

Mrs. H. R. Mathias, of 1506 Tyndall street, Sheraden, was awaiting word today from Jacksonville, Fla., that would establish the identity of the body found in a river near the Florida city as that of her husband.

She said Mr. Mathias, who recently resigned as manager of the Lang avenue store of Harris & McKeever Company, grocers, left Pittsburgh last Friday for Florida to seek employment. Since his departure she has had no word from him.

The body was partially identified by a memorandum book found in the victim's coat, bearing Mathias' name. It also contained several bus tickets, one of which was purchased in Pittsburgh.

A few hours before word of the finding of the body was received here, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh asked the Missing Persons Bureau to conduct a search for Mathias, who was reported missing.

SUSPENDS LAW FOR JOBLESS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 21.—(AP.)—Prosecutor J. B. Adams went to bat for the man-out-of-a-job today.

First he served notice that, where facts warrant, he will jail for costs any woman who files desertion and non-support charges against a husband out of work.

Next he ordered the release of Victor Robinson, sentenced to 25 days in jail for catching a turtle out of season. Robinson said he caught the turtle to feed his wife and five children. He has no job.

Adams said that no one out of a job in his district would be jailed for violation of the game and fish laws.

GIN TRIAL BARS LIE DETECTOR

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 21.—(AP.)—On the grounds that it might cause a mistrial, Judge Grant Crumpacker late yesterday ruled against use of a lie detector in the trial of Virgil Kirkland, Gary, Ind., accused of slaying Arlene Draves.

Although defense attorneys placed Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, on the stand to testify that the instrument was used in registering emotions of questioned persons, Judge Crumpacker said he preferred to exclude it until it was recognized and adopted by scientific bodies.

The defense had proposed to submit results of a former test made on Kirkland in the county jail, or submit Kirkland to a new test in court.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kirkland, step-father and mother of the defendant on the witness stand, described young Kirkland's friendship with Miss Draves.

240,000 Jobless Aided in England

LONDON, May 21.—(AP.)—Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, told the House of Commons today that about 240,000 persons had been employed directly and indirectly as a result of unemployment schemes approved by the labor government, the total value of which amounted to approximately £177,000,000 sterling (about $885,000,000).

WINDSOR, Ont., May 21.—(AP.)—A biplane, caught in the backwash of another plane, fell 75 feet and burned, near Walkerville airport late yesterday, resulting in critical injuries to Maurice D. Heller, 25, Windsor barrister.

DUCE TO PUNISH TOSCANINI

ROME, May 21.—(AP.)—It was said on good authority here today that Arturo Toscanini, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, possibly may be subjected to some "discipline" for refusing to play the Fascist national anthem at Bologna last Thursday.

This is expected in circles close to official quarters to take the form of a temporary suspension of his passport as a sign of the government's disapproval of his action.

Toscanini, after his refusal to play the anthem at a concert, was set upon and slapped by several Fascists and later was asked to leave Bologna. He now is at his home in Milan.

Wales Nice, 'Not Smart,' Says 'Jake the Barber'

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales, in the expressed opinion of John Factor, former Halsted street barber, accused of swindling Britons in a stock scheme, is "a charming person."

This description of the heir to the British throne was given yesterday by Factor after he had surrendered to federal authorities, and served notice that he would resist all efforts to extradite him to England.

The reference to the Prince was made when Factor told newspapermen of playing chemin de fer with him at Monte Carlo last August 16. He denied the Prince withdrew from the game when he learned that Factor was the banker in the game. Factor said this couldn't have been, because each player is his own banker. He declared:

"We sat next to each other in a small game and played for some time. I don't recall the other 10 persons in the game. It was not a steep game and the Prince did not lose heavily, not more than $500. I broke about even. The Prince is a charming person. He isn't so smart, but I wouldn't want you to print that."

Factor denied all charges of fraud laid to him by English officials. His hearing was set for Monday.

Order, Security Maintain Wealth, Coolidge Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 21.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

One of our great business associations estimates the national wealth, according to the latest return for 1929, at $361,000,000,000. Of this great sum it is well known that a generous proportion depends on order and security. Perhaps those are the chief assets of the nation.

Mr. Coolidge

It is for that reason that it is forever necessary to guard the honor and integrity of the government from the top to the bottom. Much of our property is intangible, consisting of credits and contracts. These would become valueless without the support of law and order and leave the country prostrate with only the empty and useless shell of commerce and industry. Russia passed through that experience.

When the law fails of execution, when the conduct of the government is hampered by dishonesty and corruption, when crime is prevalent, the value of property is reduced, the area of the slums is widened, ignorance becomes more dense, and the poverty of the people is increased. We are a rich nation but our citizens cannot afford to be complacent about violations of the law or laxity in their government. Our whole credit structure rests on the general power to enforce the law.

HAVOC OF AIR ATTACK ON N. Y. PICTURED

Mitchell Sees City Wrecked By Planes Carrying Most Terrific Weapons Known

By GEN. WILLIAM MITCHELL
Former commander air forces A. E. F. and director military aeronautics U. S. Army

CHICAGO, May 21.—The air division is beginning its maneuvers over the great cities of the country and soon will make demonstrations at New York, our greatest city. The question naturally arises in the minds of many, what could airplanes do if they really attacked New York?

Aircraft carry the greatest weapons known to man. Cannon projectiles for our biggest guns, weighing a ton, carry only from 5 to 10 per cent of explosives, that is, from 100 to 200 pounds; but an airplane bomb weighing a ton carries from 50 to 75 per cent of explosives, in other words, from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds.

HAVE TERRIFIC POWER

High explosives have been brought to an unprecedented power. A 4,000-pound bomb dropped on the earth will make a crater 16 feet deep, 65 feet wide and will either kill or endanger all the people within a diameter of about half a mile.

A 2,000-pound bomb makes a crater about 14 feet deep and 40 feet wide and has a diameter of effect of one-quarter mile. One of these huge missiles dropped in the middle of Manhattan Island would demolish the greatest buildings, kill or wound the occupants, cave-in the subways, and destroy surface lines.

A thousand bombardment airplanes, each carrying 4,000 pounds of bombs, would not only cause New York to be completely evacuated, but would destroy the entire city. Nothing could defend it against an air attack of this kind, except other aircraft, and as the defensive is always at a disadvantage, particularly in the air, it is doubtful whether they could be held off.

PREDICTS HUGE ARMADAS

In future wars, thousands of airplanes will be used. At the battle of St. Mihiel, I had under my command 1,420 combat airplanes. This is the greatest force that has ever been assembled, but it would be nothing to what we shall see in the future.

Poison gas will probably be used from aircraft in future wars, just as gas is now used by the armies and navies, but in the form of smoke screens and in projectiles from cannon. A gas projectile is much more efficient than an explosive bomb.

In a great city such as New York, it would probably be necessary for an enemy to hit it with only two or three comparatively small gas bombs to cause its evacuation.

EFECTS OF GAS

Gas would surge up and down the streets, with people fleeing before it. Men, women and children would be prostrated in the streets. Thousands would rush to the upper floors where the rising gas would choke them. There would be a rush to get off Manhattan Island such as the world has never seen before.

In future wars, if a great air power threatens the centers of population of another state which is not in a position to strike back, the mere threat alone may be sufficient to bring about peace.

Toward the end of the European war, when we began to attack the Rhine cities with our bombardment and when we were developing much greater and more powerful bombardment airplanes, the people of Germany put up a great cry for protection against the menace from the skies. When they were told that this was impossible, it had a great deal to do with bringing the war to an end.

Bombers can easily reach our shores, foreign countries from the island of four coasts and from territory to the north and south of us. Airplanes can now be built that will cross the ocean and go back without refueling, to say nothing of the giant Zeppelins that carry their own airplanes and can go around the world at the latitude of New York.

PITY, THEIR DOWNFALL

'Sympathetic' Bandits in Oakland Hearing

The hearing in Oakland Police Court today for the New Jersey young men recently released from an Ohio penitentiary and arrested last night after Cabby Edward Palmer told police they held him up, returned his money, offered their guns when he told of his "hard luck."

How two men, later arrested on a holdup charge, were moved to pity by the hard luck tale of a taxi driver, their alleged victim, returned $3 of the $3.85 they had taken, and offered him their weapons was told today in Oakland Police Court.

Cabby Palmer

The tale brought the sympathy of both Magistrate James O'Connor and Police Inspector James N. Hoey, but John Davis, 22, of Jersey City, and Van Wagenen, 26, of Hillside, N. J., both recently released from an Ohio penitentiary, were held for court. Unable to get work, the men said they turned to crime as a means of getting money for food.

Edward Palmer testified the men hired his cab and held him up near the Magee Hospital. He said he scored them for holding up "a poor cab driver." The men returned the money, but Palmer said he insisted they take the change.

Bedford Capitalist, Dies in Connecticut

WESTPORT, Conn., May 21.—(AP.)—Edward Thomas Bedford, 82, capitalist and philanthropist, died this morning at his summer home in Green's Farms. He was long identified with the Standard Oil Company interests, the Corn Products Refining Company, Title Guarantee and Trust Company of New York, Bush Terminal Company, and many other business and financial organizations.

2 HELD DESPITE RETURN OF LOOT

Cleveland Ousts Reputed Gambler

CLEVELAND, May 21.—(INS.)—Al Wertheimer, reputed notorious gambling house proprietor of Detroit for 20 years, has been ordered by police to discontinue plans to open up a night club in Cleveland and leave the city, it was learned today.

Textile Workers Go On Strike in France

LILLE, France, May 21.—(AP.)—More than 100,000 textile workers, including 43,000 Belgians, were on strike today in this region over wage difficulties. Empty factories were guarded but there was no violence.

N. Y. GANGSTER STABBED

NEW YORK, May 21.—(INS.)—Vannie Higgins, a sinister figure in New York's underworld, was mysteriously stabbed three times early today—perhaps critically—and his crumpled form unceremoniously dumped on a settee in the lobby of Polyclinic Hospital, where Arnold Rothstein and "Legs" Diamond were taken after they had been shot.

"Good-bye," pal," said the man who brought him in.

He then casually strolled out into the street, climbed into a limousine in which was seated a highly rouged brunet, and drove off. It was all done in the cold, matter-of-fact manner so characteristic of the underworld.

Police asked Higgins, the so-called "czar" of Brooklyn and New Jersey beer runners, who had stabbed him. With a wan smile, the racketeer replied:

"I'm a square fellow and I don't want to talk about it."

Judge of Mexican High Court Resigns

MEXICO CITY, May 21.—(AP.)—President Ortiz Rubio has accepted the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Alberto Valquez del Mercado, who protested the recent deportation of Luis Cabrera, former finance minister, accused of plotting against the government.

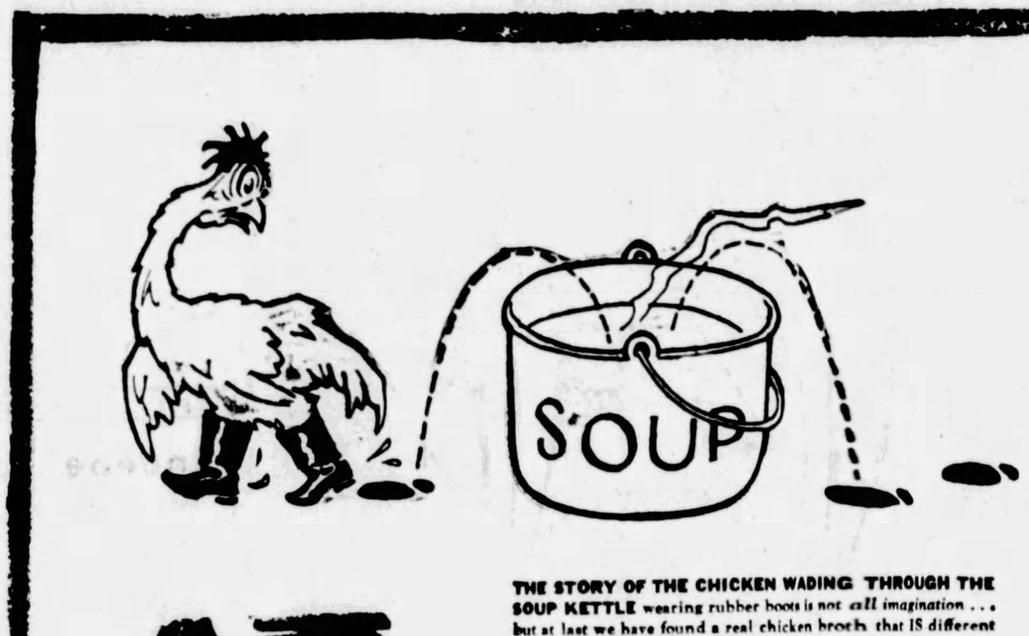
Distillery Blaze Rages Six Hours

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 21.—(AP.)—A 10,000-gallon by-products distillery exploded at a plant of the American Tar Company near Fairfield, a Birmingham suburb, and started a fire that burned six hours yesterday.

Company officials and firemen declined to estimate the damage. Included in the loss were 100,000 gallons of tar and pitch.



THE STORY OF THE CHICKEN WADING THROUGH THE SOUP KETTLE wearing rubber boots is not all imagination . . . but at last we have found a real chicken broth that IS different . . . double strength . . . and we are making you this amazing offer because this is the finest chicken broth we've tasted—EVER!

AND ONLY 15¢ PER CAN

on sale at ALL DONAHOE STORES

THE USUAL METHOD of making chicken broth is to boil out some of the chicken juices and then use the chicken meat for other purposes.

In other words, the broth is a by-product and the chicken meat is sold in some form such as boneless chicken or chicken a la King.

When Hormel makes this new Flavor-Sealed Chicken Broth the chicken is used only for making broth and the meat goes into the broth. That is why we can stand behind our claim that this Flavor-Sealed broth has a distinctly different and better flavor than any other chicken broth on the market.

To back up this statement, we are going to give you your money back, doubled . . . in other words not only return what you paid, but twice what you paid if you do not agree that it is the finest chicken broth you ever bought.

This introductory offer is good on four cans to each purchaser, and on Friday and Saturday of this week only.

MUSEUMS HAVE 'HOOK WORM,' SAYS REA

Carnegie Corporation Man Addresses 26th Meeting Held at Institute Here

American museums are suffering from "hook-worm," declared Paul Marshall Rea, of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, in an address before the American Association of Museums now in session at Carnegie Institute. He added:

"This disease is prevalent in large cities throughout the country, where the wealthy are especially susceptible."

His remarks caused considerable critical comment by many of the museum officials here attending the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the association, which will continue tomorrow and Saturday.

Charles R. Toothaker, of the Commercial Museum of Philadelphia, who followed Rae, said that the high school at Munhall is one of the first to seek a school museum. The school museum is one of the cures suggested by the Carnegie Corporation for the museum disease, and are sponsored and partially financed by the corporation.

Two new developments in museum growth were discussed by Dr. Laurence Vail Coleman, of Washington, executive director of the American Association of Museums.

Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of the institute, welcomed the delegates, who will be in session here until Saturday.

Girl Tourist Killed In Fall Over Cliff

INTERLAKEN, Switzerland, May 21.—(AP.)—Four members of a British tourist party fell over a cliff today while climbing Harder Mountain, resulting in death to a young woman and injury to a boy.

Miss Jenny Brown, a resident of Scotland, was killed when the path crumbled beneath her and tossed her over the brink. William Kilpatrick broke his arm when he landed on a ledge. His father and mother clung to bushes at the edge of the precipice, hundreds of feet high, until their cries brought lumbermen to the rescue.

Pedestrians Safer, Auto Records Show

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—Comparatively speaking, the pedestrian is safer than ever, the National Safety Council reported today. The council made public figures showing that pedestrian deaths increased but 5 per cent since 1927, whereas there was a 35 per cent increase for motorists.

81 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 15; diphtheria, 3; whooping cough, 3; chickenpox, 3; measles, 37; pneumonia, 8; mumps, 11, and erysipelas, 1.

Workman on First Pennsylvania Oil Well Dies

TULSA, Okla., May 21.—(AP.)—One of the crew employed by Col. E. L. Drake in drilling the little Pennsylvania oil well that was the forerunner of the American petroleum industry, 72 years ago, died yesterday. He was J. H. Wagoner, 90.

For 20 years following completion of the Drake well, Wagoner was associated with J. J. Carter, founder of the Carter Oil Company, who abandoned his tailor shop to enter the oil business. He retired 10 years ago.

The well, near Titusville, Pa., was completed as a producer in August, 1859, and from that event the American oil industry dates its birth. It was known at the time as "Drake's folly," because Col. Drake's venture in drilling a well for oil was regarded as foolish.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS BEFORE COUNCIL

A progressive traffic control system for the North Side, which will cover 10 intersections, and "stop-through traffic" signals for Pittsburgh's 13 new through traffic penditure, approved by the Public streets will be provided if the exproved by the Public Safety Com-Safety Committee, passes Council.

The projected North Side signal system, according to the plans developed by Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, and proposed to City Council by Public Safety Director James M. Clark, would be installed on Federal street from North avenue to General Robinson street, on Ohio street from Federal street to Cedar avenue, and on North avenue from Federal to Arch street.

Four additional signal units, for pedestrian protection, have been recommended for intersections at North avenue and Federal street, Sandusky and Ohio streets and Cedar avenue and Ohio street.

P. R. R. CRAFTON CONTRACT LET

Contract for the largest Pennsylvania Railroad public highway grade crossing elimination project of the year, that at Crafton, was let yesterday to the John F. Casey Company for approximately $400,000, according to an announcement by Vice President J. F. Deasy, of the railroad.

Plans agreed to by the railroad and the borough authorities, the announcement said, call for vehicular traffic on Emily street and Crafton avenue to be centered midway at a new underpass at White street, now a dead end thoroughfare. Subways for pedestrians only will be constructed at the abandoned Emily street and Crafton avenue crossings.

Attorney to Share Vallee Song Profits

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—The authorship of the "Vagabond Lover" song that brought fame and money to Rudy Vallee was decided in Circuit Court when Judge Philip L. Sullivan ruled that Vallee, his agent, Leon Zimmerman, and Leo Feist, Inc., must account for profits from the ballad to Jesse Brown, an attorney. Brown said he composed the song and that Zimmerman had copied it.

Burned River Boat Sale Authorized

H. M. Oliver, receiver of the Pittsburgh Steamboat Company, was authorized, in an order signed by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, to sell the salvage of the steamer Greater Pittsburgh, to J. M. Hammitt for $1,000. The boat was destroyed by fire March 11, while moored in the Ohio River, foot of Page street. The only salvage is the machinery in the hull of the steamer, now on the bottom of the river, the petition seeking permission to sale, cited.

Won Beauty Prize, but Her Scenes Are Eliminated From Picture

The Sun-Telegraph today presents the fourth chapter of the REAL life story of Clara Bow by Louella O. Parsons, who has so strikingly pictured the early struggles of the rollicking, devil-may-care screen star. Miss Parsons reveals a Clara Bow little known to her admiring public. The facts have been supplied by the screen girl and her father.

CHAPTER IV.

When her name was called, Clara was nowhere to be found. Her father, who was with her, in telling about that memorable day, said:

"I jumped up when the name Clara Bow was called. 'She is here—help me find her,' I cried. Eugene Brewster called an office boy and together we went in search of Clara.

"We found her downstairs playing with a bedraggled mongrel and a couple of Negro children. When I brought her upstairs, one of the girls who wore more paint and powder than Clara and I had ever seen outside of a drugstore, said: 'If that girl is in the contest, consider me out.' Clara had a dirty smudge on her face and, I must admit, she didn't look very much like a movie star."

The Bow spirit, even in those days, was not lacking. Clara, who a few moments before had been trembling with fright, suddenly held her head high and swept through the room with the air of a queen.

Eugene Brewster and two of the judges who were watching her were overcome with merriment and admiration for Clara, who, although dressed poorly, was so exquisite in her youth and her innocence that the whole magazine force went into a conference to discuss her possibilities as their winner.

Before Clara had time to take this insult to heart, one of the judges said to George Fawcett, who happened to be in the magazine office at the time:

"Tell me who is that beautiful girl in the red tam o'shanter? She has the most engaging little face I have ever see ."

Clara looked around and, since she was the only girl wearing a red tam, she realized the kind gentleman must be speaking about her.

But winners in a contest are not chosen overnight. All of the 12 girls, waiting their turn, had to make a test. One by one, they were eliminated until only Clara and a southern girl, who had had stage experience, remained. The southern girl, beautifully dressed, was called first. Clara walked off the set.

"Where are you going?" asked the director. "Stay and watch this scene. You might learn something."

"Do I have to stay?" she asked

"Certainly not; but this girl has had experience on the stage and she can tell you how to play the part."

Prefers Own Way

"I want to do it my own way," replied Clara.

Later, those who were on the set, said the Southern girl did a beautiful piece of acting, but that Clara actually lived her part.

She and her father walked home after the final test was made. There was no money for carfare. The next three days were the longest that Clara ever spent.

She watched for the postman, she listened for the doorbell, all without saying a word, for her mother was too ill to be disturbed.

"I thought," Clara once told me, "if I could only win the contest and make a little money I could send my mother to a hospital to be cured. Then, later, I would send her to the country where she could sit in a chair all day and sew, or read, or just rest.

"Honestly, much as I wanted to be an actress, the main idea in the back of my mind was to make money for my mother and father. I was so tired of being poor and so miserable at seeing both my parents suffer from the terrible poverty that faced them from the day of my birth."

Three days later, a telegram came announcing that Clara Bow had won the coveted contest and that she would be given a part in a picture and special publicity.

In telling me about that day of days, Clara said:

"I was so excited and happy that I forgot I mustn't let mother know. I cried with delight—jumped up and down, shouting at the top of my lungs, 'I won the contest! I'm going to be an actress!' "

Mother Faints

"My mother threw up her hands, fell to the floor in a faint, and all the joy of the occasion was lost when it took my father and two of the neighbors over half an hour to revive her.

"I told my father that perhaps I had better give up the idea of being a motion picture actress.

" 'You are wrong,' he told me. 'It's the one thing you are suited for. Your mother just isn't well. When she sees you a famous star, she will forget her objection.'

"But my dear mother was never to see me on the screen," Clara said. "She died in a sanitarium before I made my first picture. I know now that she understands why I wanted so much to go into the movies and my only regret is that she couldn't have lived so that I might have given her some of the luxuries she never had."

CLARA BOW WHEN 14 . . . SHE LOOKS LIKE THAT TODAY!

Things have never come easy for Clara Bow and breaking into the movies wasn't merely a matter of winning a contest. True to the agreement, she was cast for a part in "Beyond the Rainbow." Billie Dove, a "Follies" beauty, was the star and Christy Cabanne, the director. No one told Clara how to make up and she went through the entire picture without knowing that shadow is necessary under the eyes, that rouge should only be applied to the lips and that mascara is effective when used properly.

Ignored by Director

The director, busy with the rest of the cast, let her make her five scenes without giving her any suggestions or any help. To him, Clara was a necessary evil forced on him by a contest. He wasn't going to bother to give her any instructions. Not one word of advice did she get from the director or anybody else in the picture. She went on and did her scenes to the best of her ability not knowing whether she had been satisfactory or not.

Finally came the great day when her first picture, "Beyond the Rainbow," was shown in Brooklyn. Robert Bow managed to scrape up enough money for her to go and see the picture. Several of her girl friends went with her.

"Beyond the Rainbow" was shown on the screen. Not a mention of Clara—not one scene in which she appeared was left in the picture. Talk about the tragedies on the cutting-room floor! Clara still remembers that moment, even now when life is so filled with other terrible blows.

"I can never forget that day," said Clara. "It seemed to me that everything I had dreamed about, everything I had hoped for, was suddenly swept away. My mother was right—I should never have tried to be a motion picture actress."

Stunned by disappointment over her first film experience, Clara Bow gave up hope of screen success. Tomorrow's installment tells of an unexpected opportunity, and the part lovable Mary Carr played in the start of her career.

PLEA FOR ZONE CHANGE ARGUED

Council yesterday held a hearing on a proposal to change from a residence to commercial zone a property at the southeast corner of Camp street and Bryn Mawr road. Action was withheld pending a report from the City Planning Commission in the form of a map to show the attitude of the property owners in the district toward a change.

Several residents, for and against the change, appeared before the committee.

Opponents declared there was no need for an additional commercial area. Council was told a property owner desired to turn a residence into a store room.

DeSoto Auto Dealers Guests at Luncheon

Fifty DeSoto automobile dealers in this district were luncheon guests of the B. F. Stout Company yesterday at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Walter E. Dunkin, newly appointed manager of the Cleveland district which includes the Pittsburgh territory, outlined the DeSoto Motor Corporation's program. Following the luncheon, the dealers inspected models just introduced.

Two Estates Here Get Tax Refunds

WASHINGTON, May 21.—An overassessment of state tax amounting to $64,222 in favor of the estate of George A. Howe, of Pittsburgh, was announced by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The bureau announced a similar overassessment of $25,582 in favor of the estate of William S. Brown, of Pittsburgh.

Children to Give 'Tom Thumb' Wedding

A "Tom Thumb" wedding will be given by the children of the beginners' department and Bible class of the First Methodist Protestant Church, Georgia avenue and Zara street, Knoxville, tonight in the church. The performance is under the direction of Blanche Sankey. Children from 2 to 13 will take part.

Grotto Will Hold Smoker in Ingram

Members of Islam Grotto will hold a neighborhood smoker and entertainment at the Ingram Public School, Vancouver street, tonight. Prophets and Grotto members from Greentree, Corliss, Crafton, Wabash, McKees Rocks, Ingram and Carnegie are expected to attend.

WIDOW'S SUIT SEEKS $50,000

Seeking $50,000 damages for the death of her husband, Mrs. Caroline Kapela, of Ambridge, for herself and three children, filed suit in Common Pleas Court against George Cooper, individually and trading as the National Box Lunch Company. She is the widow of Michael K. Kapela, who was killed December 26 in Ambridge by a truck of the defendant, according to the suit.

Kate Gojkovic, of East Ohio street, North Side, asked $50,000 damages for injuries by an automobile in a suit against W. J. Boak, of Fair Oaks, Beaver County. She declared she was struck and pinned against an iron fence by Boak's automobile, driven on the extreme right side of the street.

The sudden opening of a street car door caught her ankle and inflicted injuries, Mrs. Josephine Anderson, 40, of 1132 Sheffield street, North Side, declared in a $20,000 suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The accident occurred November 20 at Irwin and Western avenues.

CHURCH AGENCY GETS MEN JOBS

The Rev. T. Frederick Cooper, of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement, Carnegie, has organized a churchmen's employment relief for members of his parish, which also includes Bridgeville and Oakdale. Mrs. Hilbert Walkoenig and Mrs. J. Elton Turner, the secretaries, telephone daily in an attempt to obtain jobs for heads of families in the parish. Although the service has been organized but a week, 12 men have been placed, and calls are coming in daily for men to mow lawns, repair autos and do other odd jobs. The Rev. Mr. Cooper plans to extend the relief activities to Mt. Lebanon and Crafton.

Henry George Club To Hear Chicagoan

Clayton J. Ewing, president of the Chicago Single Tax Club, will speak at a luncheon of the Henry George Club at noon tomorrow in the Chamber of Commerce on "Fruition of Hopes." He will address a public meeting at the Forbes School tomorrow evening on "Unemployment and the Remedy."

Six Game Roosters 'Arrested' for Fighting

The roosters were "arrested" in Enoch street by Patrolman John Manion, while engaged in a free-for-all fight. Their arena was a crate. Manion made a number of inquiries for the owners of the birds, but none could be found.

Pitt Grad to Face Arson Charge Friday

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 21.—Dr. Robert Holt, 24, University of Pittsburgh dental school graduate, arrested Monday on a charge of arson, growing out of the fire in a building here in which he occupied quarters, will be arraigned Friday for a preliminary hearing. Dr. Holt was scheduled to be tried yesterday, but the case was postponed.

PROGRAM GIVEN FOR CONCERT

The String Symphonic Ensemble of Pittsburgh will present a program of music in Carnegie Lecture Hall tonight. Oscar E. Del Bianco is conductor and Gregorio Scalzo concert master. The program follows:

RELIEF GIFTS ANALYZED

Over 62 per cent of funds expended for relief during January and February, including unemployment relief, were administered by seven private agencies, according to an interim report of the Bureau of Social Research of the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies by George A. Lundberg, director.

Unemployment relief totaling $75,988 was given in January from privately donated funds. In both January and February over 5,700 children were reported as being under care outside their own homes. Of this number 3,700 were reported from institutions for dependent, neglected, delinquent children or in maternity homes.

The organization was formed to secure the admission of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County in the United States Registrational Area for Social Statistics.

Coming...

Mlle. Manka Rubinstein

Sister and co-worker of Helena Rubinstein, who will discuss beauty and be available for consultation. Mlle. Rubinstein has just returned from Paris bringing news of the smartest and most flattering make-up — and she will give you personal and practical advice on your problems of beauty.

She will be here next week for personal consultation in the Toiletries Section, Main Floor—and for two informal lectures in the Auditorium, on the Seventh Floor.

Let There Be One Now in Every Refrigerator

2000 Revigorators

A remarkable and appreciable value in a most timely item—the product of the pioneer in this field, and the best known maker of enamelware in the country.

Made to our order, of heavy white enameled steel, comparable in quality with the fittings of the highest grade refrigerators—14½x9¼x5 inches, with cover. The special price, as a result of this large purchase, is about half the usual figure.

You can save on your food bills with a Revigorator—fruits and vegetables will stay fresh for a week or more. Your food will be tastier, for the Revigorator retains the freshness and restores the crispness of ordinarily perishable foodstuffs.

An Event in the "Sunshine Corner"

Washable Frocks of CHENEY SILKS

$10.75

Like attracts like. And so, to our "Sunshine Corner"—famous for the superior quality and smartness of its washable frocks—has fallen the rare good fortune of getting frocks of equally famous Cheney silks, to sell at this remarkable price!

Twelve models to choose from—dresses with long sleeves, short sleeves, three-quarters sleeves, and sleeveless ones with capelets covering the upper arm . . . In a wide variety of prints in medium, light, and bright colorings, also navy-and-white . . . Sizes 34 to 44.

The richness of the pure silk crepes, the smartness of the patterns, and the intensity of the colorings certainly do not suggest "tub silks" in the ordinary sense, and yet all these dresses can be washed as easily as if they were of cotton.

HOBSON PARLEY ON NARCOTICS CANCELED

State Department Shuns Educational Meeting on Dope Evil, Writer Hears

By WINIFRED BLACK

GENEVA, May 21.—Capt. Richmond P. Hobson's conference on narcotic drug education has been called off.

I don't see why the League of Nations' dope committee should take so much trouble to discourage Capt. Hobson, who does not try to act in any official manner at all.

He isn't trying to make people believe he can stop drug peddling and drug slavery and drug manufacturing just by getting someone to pass some kind of meaningless resolution.

What he is after is education, and why not? Why shouldn't people know all there is to know about the terrible dope menace?

U. S. OPPOSITION REPORTED

Yet is is rumored here that the American State Department forbade any of its officials to take part in or send papers to the Hobson conference that has now been canceled.

I can't help wondering just exactly why.

Europe does not seem to need much education on the danger of the dope ring. They don't deny the existence of the dope ring. They know there is one, and they have known it a long time.

Over in England they caught one Chang, and sent him back to China because they knew he was heading a great European drug ring. They couldn't prove it, but they knew it.

But there is a new dope ring with a new dope king in England now.

DEATHS CAUSE LULL

The London West End used to be the meeting place for dope slaves and dope slavers. But when three beautiful women died one after another from too much dope, the police made the West End night clubs uncomfortable and traffic died down in the "smart" districts—for a while.

It didn't take dope long to come back. But the dope ring operates now in the suburbs and the quiet, little residential districts on the outskirts of the old city of London.

A. H. Sirks, chief of Rotterdam police, is also a member of the advisory dope traffic committee of the League. He says:

"All the machine gunners in the criminal gangs of Chicago and 90 per cent of the New York gangsters are 'snowbirds.'

"We have not the organized crime in Holland that you have in America, but there is an organized dope ring in Europe just the same, and I believe you would find that a large percentage of what criminals we have are dope addicts."

AMERICA 'VICTIM'

Talk to any official on this side of the water and it is always the country next door that is working hand in glove with the dope ring. Nobody denies, however, that America is the victim nation.

It will be interesting to see what they decide to do about it when the League's narcotic conference opens in Geneva May 27.

Plans Contemplate 'New U. S.,' Wilbur Tells Women

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., May 21.—(AP.)—Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of Interior, told 2,000 members of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, the federal government was at work on plans which, if properly carried out, would make a new United States.

Secretary Wilbur said the best brains of the government were making "blue prints" in Washington along educational, recreational, health and welfare lines. But, he admonished the women, the government can only give new incentive to new endeavor and the people at home must do the work.

WORK HORSES TO PARADE

The eighth annual work horse parade Saturday will be the last of such events to be held in the downtown district. Next year's parade is scheduled for Schenley Oval.

Every branch of business using horses will be represented in Saturday's parade. The city will parade its black squad of 32 horses. Assistant Superintendent of Police Ben R. Marshall and Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey will head the police escort.

They will be followed by David G. McDonald, grand marshal, acting for Mayor Charles H. Kline, whose illness will keep him out of line. Aides to the grand marshal will include Public Works Director Edward G. Lang and Supplies Director W. L. Dunlap.

Polish President Given Rare Amber

HEL, Poland, May 21.—(AP.)—Fishermen found a lump of amber weighing 2½ pounds and sent it to Warsaw to the president with Hel's compliments.

OUTDOOR WORK BENEFITS IDLE

Outdoor activities showing a substantial increase during April have stimulated employment opportunities, according to a report of the United States Department of Labor, covering the Pittsburgh district, made public today. In general, the level of employment showed no marked change.

A seasonal reduction in some branches of the iron and steel industry was reported. A low level of production and employment prevailed in the coke industry, but the employment outlook in the electrical manufacturing plants appeared somewhat brighter, due to increased orders.

Gradual expansion of construction work, erection of several buildings and a large program of municipal improvements provided employment to large numbers of unemployed men, the report added.

Homeopaths Meet Prior to Vacation

The last meeting of the Allegheny County Homeopathic Medical Society, preceding the vacation season, was held last night in the staff room of the Homeopathic Hospital. Dr. W. D. Richards spoke on diseases of the mouth, and Dr. F. S. Morris read a paper on cancer.

Bandit Robs Pair Of $50,000 Gems

DETROIT, May 21.—(INS.)—An armed man held up Mr. and Mrs. Walter Irving, of Indian Manor village, early today and robbed them of jewelry valued at $50,000.

The bandit forced his way into their car as they stopped at the side of their exclusive apartment house and ordered Irving to drive away. Several blocks distant the thief called for the jewelry piece by piece.

Arnold School Fund Drive Aides Praised

Satisfaction with the progress of workers in the movement to raise $200,000 for Arnold School, Braddock avenue, has been voiced by R. E. Withers, president of the board of trustees and general chairman of the campaign. Withers, donor of $100,000 to the fund for the construction of a new gymnasium, said several memorials had been purchased in the proposed nine-room addition to the school.

Face So Disfigured Was a Sight to Look At. Cuticura Healed.

"I had pimples scattered all over my face. They were very hard and red and also very itchy. They had my face disfigured so that I was a sight to look at, and also caused a lot of discomfort. At times I was unable to sleep on account of the irritation. I had this trouble for about three months.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I got relief immediately so purchased more and in a few weeks the pimples cleared up and I was completely healed." (Signed) Joseph Barton, 3328 N. Sergeant St., Phila., Pa. Sept. 3, 1930.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, May 21.

THIS IS the story of a Rare Old Book. It might have been a copy of the Gutenberg Bible—or it might have been any one of a score of extremely valuable books. You can supply the name yourself because I'm going to call it nothing but a Rare Old Book. One of the main reasons why I use that dodge is because I don't know the name of the book myself.

I do, however, know the story. It opened some years back when a very wealthy gentleman who liked to play around Broadway invited a noted gambler to his home. Although the wealthy friend didn't know it, this particular gambler had many sidelines. He was mixed up in everything from importing dope to stealing chickens, and he had a mob behind him that would have made Mr. Capone hang his head in shame.

The wealthy bird, however, had made a friend of the gambler for the very simple reason that the latter's name was very frequently in the papers. He was also known as a pretty hard guy. And if you think that doesn't make social celebrities and prominent people want such hombres as their friends, you have another think coming. They enjoy boasting of the acquaintanceship.

After dinner, the millionaire showed the gambler around his apartment. The gambler expressed words of awe and seemed particularly interested in the huge library.

"Tell me," he asked, "are certain books really worth a lot of money? I've read a great deal about big prices having been paid for certain volumes, but I often thought it was only paper talk. Is it really so?"

The millionaire laughed.

"My dear George," he returned, "I'd pay practically any price for a certain book I'd like to have in this library. The name of it is the Rare Old Book. If somebody would get me a copy, I'd gladly pay $30,000 for it."

The gambler coughed. Thirty thousand dollars for a few thousand words between covers! It sounded absurd—and yet there it was.

"Yes, sir," the millionaire went on. "I don't think there are more than 10 such books in the entire country. I know there's a copy in Washington, two in Chicago, four or five in the West and one in the Blank Library, in a Certain Southern City. Boy, if I only had one!"

"Roy," he murmured, "you're a good guy. As long as your heart is set on that Rare Old Book, I think I might be able to get you one."

The millionaire's eyes opened wide in amazement.

"You're kidding me," he cried.

The gambler shook his head.

"No," he asserted, "I'm not. I have a friend who undoubtedly has one. As a matter of fact, I've heard him speak of it. Give me a few weeks and I'll see what I can do for you."

The wealthy gent put out his hand.

"George," he said earnestly, "if you'll get that Rare Old Book for me, I'll never forget you as long as I live. Do what you can, will you?" . . .

A few hours later the gambler sat in his own apartment and summoned Muggsy. Muggsy was a member of his mob. And a more expert crook never graced any town.

"Listen, Muggsy," muttered the racketeer. "I got a job for you. You're going down to a Certain Southern City for a couple of days and study a layout. It's the Blank Library down there. You're going to steal a book."

"Steal a book?" he repeated incredulously. "You can buy a book fer two bucks. Are you kiddin' me, boss?"

The racketeer sat back in his chair.

"You're here to listen," he grunted, "and not to crack wise. You should know by this time that I don't monkey around when I talk.

"The name of the book is the Rare Old Book. It's the only one in that Blank Library, so you'll have to be careful when you swipe it. Take as much time as you want on the job, but be sure you bring it back.

"Do I make myself clear?"

Muggsy nodded and put on his hat.

"Okay, boss," he replied. "You'll have it."

Outside he stopped to light a cigaret.

"Stealin' books," he muttered disgustedly to himself. "If dat ain't silly. I tink de boss is turnin' pansy." . . .

About a week later Muggsy returned from the Certain Southern City. Under his arm was the copy of the Rare Old Book. He turned it over to the gambler.

"There's yer book, boss," he chirped. "I never had such an easy job before."

The racketeer picked it up and glanced at it curiously. He shrugged his shoulders. So that was worth $30,000, was it? Well—

"Good work, Muggsy," he said. "You can go now."

As soon as the crook had left the apartment, the gambler had the millionaire on the wire. He informed him that he had the Rare Old Book in his possession. The millionaire squealed with delight.

"But," continued the racketeer, "there's a slight hitch. My friend wouldn't let it go for less than $40,000. I had to pay him that sum for it."

The millionaire didn't waste a second.

"That's all right, George," he cried affably. "I'm glad to pay even that price for it. Will you bring it up with you tonight?"

"Sure," said the gambler . . .

A few days later, the gambler called Muggsy in again.

"Remember that book you brought back from the Certain Southern City?" he murmured. "Well it's up in a certain apartment on Park avenue now. I want you to go up there and steal it again. I'll give you the whole layout."

"Look here, boss," he muttered, "I don't mind safes an t'ings like that. But when it comes to pansy t'ings like books, I don't—"

The racketeer clenched his fists.

"Are you going to argue with me, Muggsy?" he asked.

So, the following night, Muggsy stole the Rare Old Book all over again . . . .

There isn't very much to the story. All in all, the gambler sold the Rare Old Book four times and had Muggsy steal it back on just as many occasions. He kept boosting the price to various customers and the racket netted him almost $200,000 before he was through.

He was through when another racketeer put a bullet through him. The papers carried hundreds of columns about him and people shook their heads when they told each other what a bad man he was.

But in a Certain Southern City, the people in the Blank Library are sure the rest of the world is wrong in its opinion. They have a very definite reason.

"That gambler couldn't have been a bad man," the head of the library will tell you. "He had an artistic soul. Did you know that, under the terms of his will, we were given a copy of the Rare Old Book to replace the one that was stolen from us a couple of years ago by some sneak thief?" . . .

Skinny, "Lifeless" Women gain weight

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

If we could only show you the wonders that new Ironized Yeast has done for thousands of "skinny," run-down men and women. Tired, nervous people now peppy and strong. Constipation and indigestion banished. Blemished complexions changed to clear, rosy beauty.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's Yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. Has no starches, flours or gas-forming fillers.

Get a bottle of these pleasant little tablets today. Just a single course treatment should prove that you can be attractive and healthy. Easy-to-take tablets—no nasty taste, no gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for everybody.

Just ask your druggist today for a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast and take as directed. If not delighted with the quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

Health and work blend when there is

NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

At 4 o'clock you will be surprised how much better you will feel . . . how much more attractive you will be to your associates . . . after you have added New Strength to your blood.

RICH, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues . . . gives strength! When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . your mental condition is improved . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease.

If your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, let S.S.S. purify and enrich your blood.

S.S.S. is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. It has a successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

If constipated, try KLOK-LAX . . . it "acts on time."

S.S.S. Purifies and Enriches the Blood makes you feel like yourself again

The only Tire Fact you need to know

When you read a tire advertisement that almost sweeps aside your judgment with its enthusiasm: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you face a sales argument that sounds good but you have no means of testing: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When the high-pressure dealer works on you with hypnotic eye and coercive logic: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you are tempted to fall for bargain claims, a long trade-in, trick size comparisons, or anything else but intrinsic tire goodness: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Then, just for variety, ask yourself "WHY?" Why is it true that

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

The answer lies in the fact that Goodyear has, year after year, given the public built-in quality and value which far out-weighs trick comparisons and clamorous claims.

BIGAMY, SLAYER SUSPECT HELD

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—(INS.)—Police in several cities today were busy preparing charges against Frank James Moran, held here as being George W. E. Perry, five-time bigamist and murderer, but the prisoner's interest centered only in his bride of a few months, Mrs. Anna Maria Moran, pretty South American.

They were married here last January after a whirlwind courtship of three weeks.

If he is Perry and has left the string of false matrimonial venture across the country that are charged, he displayed no remorse and no interest in discussing his alleged escapades, climaxed by the slaying of Mrs. Cora Dell Hackett, of Chicago, at Lac du Flambeau, Wis., in July, 1930.

Replace Your Divots

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

We have tried out that new golf pellet. It is much lighter and bigger than the old ball.

It sets up on the turf as pretty as a strawberry on a shortcake.

But it doesn't remove that mental hazard from the ancient and honorable game of golf. You still take as much turf with your putts and still get as much distance with your slices.

What they need in golf is a ball that will go straight when it's smacked crooked.

Golf, like all other institutions, is being ruined by its improvements. What it really should have are quicksand traps, rubber bunkers and winter rules in the summer time.

Your drive cracks the rubber bunkers, bounces back at your feet and saves you the trouble of looking for the ball. You drop one into the quicksand trap and then you try to play it out.

The minute you step into the quicksand that's the end of the golf ball, the end of the golf game, the end of you. And to make it very cheerful and official we hope you have your caddy in your lap.

And you might go down in the center of the greens committee. For golf isn't golf any more. It was started by the Scotch as an economical form of amusement and has canceled both features.

It's not economical. And it's not amusement. It costs thousands of dollars to play badly and more to think you are good. The cities have tried to help by building municipal links.

You can play a municipal links for a dollar or so. But try it. It's like going to the poorhouse. A friend sees you playing on the public course. He tells another friend that Kasmith is playing the municipal links.

That gets back to the office and the banks won't lend you any more money.

TREASURY SETS ROBBERY GUARD

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(INS.)—With gang warfare and the holdup business in full swing in the National capital adequate means has been taken to protect the Treasury Department.

While a large amount of gold is not maintained in the National Treasury, billions of dollars in paper money, produced at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, pass through the vaults of the government's cashier.

So far no gangster or highwayman has attempted what might be termed the highest class job of any stickup man—robbery of the United States Treasury.

KNOW YOUR OWN CITY

Cash Prizes! New!

While the entire series of 40 cartoons in this new contest will be based on the names of the public thoroughfares of Pittsburgh, the contest will be attractive to all readers of the Sun-Telegraph, no matter where they live, because under each contest picture there will be a list of thoroughfare names and in this list the correct answers can be found.

CONTEST PICTURE NO. 5

Name of Thoroughfare.

WHAT STREET OR THOROUGHFARE DOES THIS PICTURE REPRESENT?

Album St.	Highland Ave.	St. Patrick St.
Amos Way	Kaufman Way	Smithfield St.
Annapolis Ave.	Liberty Ave.	Sailor Place
Boquet St.	Little Creek Rd.	Shady Ave.
Banksville St.	Mohawk St.	Tunnel St.
Bigelow Blvd.	Oakland Ave.	Telescope St.
Cayuga St.	Overlook St.	Underhill St.
Diamond St.	Plough St.	Valentine St.
Denver St.	Queen St.	Victor Way
Ferry St.	Railroad St.	Wheeler St.
Fedora Court	Tropical St.

Do Not Submit the Answers Until the End if the Contest

READ THESE SIMPLE RULES:

(1) Under the title, "Know Your Own City," the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph will publish a series of cartoons to run consecutively for 40 days, starting Sunday, May 17. All of these cartoons will represent a public thoroughfare in the territory commonly included in Pittsburgh, and prizes will be awarded to readers who submit the neatest and most nearly correct set of picture answers.

(2) A total of $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded, divided as indicated in another part of this announcement.

(3) This offer is open to all except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their families. You pay nothing. Files of the Sun-Telegraph are available at the Public Library or at the office of the Sun-Telegraph, and you may make tracings of the cartoons if you desire.

(4) Answers in the contest are not to be submitted until the entire set of 40 has been printed. After the last (No. 40) cartoon has appeared, entrants will be allowed 15 days to submit their sets of answers. They are to be addressed to the "Know Your Own City" Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(5) All answers submitted become the property of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and none will be returned. The judges will be appointed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tieing contestant.

$1,000.00 to Be Divided as Follows:

THE PENALTY of GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprisingly what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age-penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Kaufmann's and all Mayflower Drug Stores or your own druggist. —The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

CHURCH BOARD HEADS NAMED

JEANNETTE, Pa., May 21. — With a short session this morning the sixty-second annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Presbytery of the Reformed Church came to a close.

Members of the various church boards and directors of institutions under the supervision of the synod were elected at the closing business session yesterday as follows: Trustee of the Pittsburgh Synod, Frank E. Barnhart; director of St. Paul's Orphans' Home, J. C. Jamison; member of the board of beneficiary education, the Rev. A. C. Renoll; visitor to theological seminary, the Rev. G. L. Roth; trustee of Franklin and Marshall College, L. A. Meyray; board of directors of Hood College, the Rev. E. M. Deitrich and T. K. Saylor; directors of the Anti-Saloon League, the Rev. W. S. Fisher and the Rev. J. H. String, D. D.

The women of Westmoreland Classis, composed of 26 churches, who held a service yesterday afternoon in the Baptist Church, joined in the meeting of the synod in the Reformed Church last night.

CARSON BRIDGE PLAN PUSHED

City Controller James P. Kerr was considering today the advisability of selling bonds for erection of a footbridge on Carson street at the Duquesne Incline. Councilman Robert Alderdice moved, at a committee on hearings yesterday, that Kerr be instructed to make a report as soon as possible.

The improvement was provided for several weeks ago. Alderdice told members of the committee he thought the matter should be started at once. Residents of Elliot appeared before the committee and asked that consideration be taken of a proposal to repave a portion of Steuben street.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, was instructed to make a survey of the district and report to Council how much could be improved at present with funds available.

Opera Singer Wins $9,000 for Lost Voice

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—Lina Calbo, of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, has won $9,000 balm for her voice. A jury decided she deserved that much for being struck by a truck.

She asked $25,000, declaring the accident spoiled her singing.

He was connected with the builders supply business in Sharpsburg for 45 years.

The funeral will be from the family home, 62 Grant avenue, West Etna, Saturday afternoon, with services in the Methodist Episcopal Church at 2:30 in charge of the Rev. Pollock. Interment will be made in Greenwood Cemetery.

Credit of Chicago Defended by Cermak

CHICAGO, May 21. — (AP.)— Mayor Anton J. Cermak came to the defense of Chicago's credit last night. Speaking before the Chicago Credit Men's Association, he said:

"Chicago is not broke and is not deserving of the credit reputation it seems to have. We now owe $228,000,000 to the bankers and we are paying them 6 per cent interest on it."

MAN CONVICTED IN RAID FIGHT

Fred Bruno, 36, of Reedsdale street, was convicted yesterday in Federal Court of assaulting federal prohibition agents and resisting arrest. Another jury found him guilty Tuesday of violating the prohibition law. He will be sentenced later by Judge Nelson McVicar.

Prohibition agents testified they were attacked by Bruno while making a raid October 2, 1929, at a cabaret on East Ohio street. They testified he used a blackjack and one of the agents, P. E. Long, was knocked unconscious. The defense declared Bruno was not in the cabaret the night of the raid.

N. Y. Gem Agent Robbed in Detroit

DETROIT, May 21.—(INS.)—Abner Shaw, New York diamond merchant, reported to police on his arrival here that he was robbed of $75,000 worth of gems while he slept aboard a fast passenger train. Shaw told police a satchel containing the gems had been slashed with a razor and the diamonds scooped from the bag.

YEAR SENTENCE IN BANK THEFT

Miles Leslie Crampton, 37, of Richey avenue, former assistant cashier of the Second National Bank of Pittsburgh, Federal street, North Side, was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson to serve one year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary.

Crampton pleaded guilty to an indictment charging embezzling $68,307 of the bank's funds. The court was told nearly all the money was lost in stock speculation.

Twenty character witnesses, including North Side business men, appeared in court in behalf of the defendant. The bank is amply protected through surety policies, it was said.

Attorney-at-Law,
Jones Law Building,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

And now, to-wit, May 19, 1931, the foregoing petition having been presented in open court, upon due consideration thereof and on motion of counsel for petitioner, it is ordered that a meeting of the creditors of the Manos Baking, Inc., bankrupt within named, be called and held at the office of Watson B. Adair, Esq., Referee in Bankruptcy, in and for Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on the second (2nd) day of June, 1931, at 9 o'clock a. m., eastern standard time, for the examination of the officers of the bankrupt company, for the preservation and conduct of its estate, and for the consideration of terms of composition, at which meeting the said referee shall preside. The said referee shall report to this Court, within four days after said meeting, the claims of creditors allowed by him, the action of said creditors upon the offer of composition, his findings and conclusions upon the same, and any other proceeding had before him in said matter, and shall give notice to the creditors at said meeting that the terms of composition, if accepted by the requisite number of creditors, will be presented to the Court for final confirmation on the 6th day of June, 1931, at 9 o'clock a. m., eastern standard time.

It is further directed that notice of this order shall be given by the Clerk mailing a copy of the same to each of said creditors and by publishing a copy thereof in the Sun-Telegraph and in the Pittsburgh Legal Journal, as provided by law.

PER CURIAM, S.

SAVINGS BANK ASSETS GAIN

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(INS.)—The savings bank business escaped the depression and the assets of such banks increased in 1930 by more than $650,000,000, Thomas F. Wallace, of Minneapolis, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, told members of the association in convention here.

He reported that only two mutual savings banks failed during the last 10 years, while about 6,000 commercial banks were forced to close. He cited these figures to emphasize the fact, he said, that the two types of banks operate in entirely distinct fields in the banking world.

How She Gained 10 Pounds in 22 Days

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

As chock-full of vitamins as the nasty, fish-tasting cod liver oil itself, but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy, and won't upset the stomach.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days. 60 tablets, 60 cents. Ask any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid them.

Take "Pearls" to Soothe the KIDNEYS

Do your kidneys and bladder passages sometimes feel as if they were "on fire"? Do you get up at night, or have fierce back pains? Then you will welcome ONE OF THE MOST FAMOUS REMEDIES ON THE FACE OF THE EARTH—Santal Midy gelatine "pearls".

Each tasteless "pearl" capsule contains antiseptic oil that SOOTHES the organs and helps correct the condition. Remember kidney and bladder diseases cause 113,000 deaths every year in the U.S.A. Don't wait until it is too late. Don't take cheap remedies containing drastic drugs. All druggists sell Santal Midy.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Another Bud Added to Bouquet

Intriguing news of May includes plans for still another debut. The newest deb added to the list for 1931 is Anne Emmerling, now a student at Sweetbriar College. Her mother, Mrs. Karl Emmerling, of Kentucky avenue, will present her at a tea-dance in the Twentieth Century Club December 21.

Late yesterday afternoon the news began to spread that a popular member of the social set had just been married. The formal announcement comes from Mrs. Wesley Linford Smith, who is making known the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Louise Smith Macdonald, to Joseph Henry Bialas. And the ceremony took place in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday morning with the Rev. William J. McMullen, vicar general of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, as officiant.

East End Girl Weds

The bride, who is an enthusiastic sportswoman, is chairman of the woman's golf committee at the Longue Vue Country Club. And she's an ardent horsewoman. She attended Miss Bennett's and Miss Spence's schools in New York.

The bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Roman Felix Bialas and the late Mr. Bialas, is a graduate of the law school of the University of Pittsburgh, and a senior member of the law firm of Bialas, Ryan, Iron, McIntyre and Mackrell. He served in France during the World War, and is a member of the University, Oakmont, Duquesne and Longue Vue clubs, and of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. And of the Art Club of Philadelphia.

Immediately after the marriage the Bialases left for a wedding trip. They will be at home after July 15 at Fifth avenue and Devonshire street.

One of the debs of the past winter, Margret Brill, talented young daughter of the A. P. Brills, of St. James street, will be graduated from the French School on Wednesday. And she'll return home a week from today. And more interesting still, Margaret will play the harp at the commencement exercises. Next winter she'll return to New York to continue her study of the harp with Carlos Salzedo.

I've just heard of some more boxholders for the Allegheny Country Club horse show, June 4, 5 and 6, in the show ring, Sewickley Heights. Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., has reserved a box for eight people. Mrs. John B. Semple has taken a box, and Oliver M. Kaufmann has taken the one usually reserved by his brother, Edgar J. Kaufmann.

* * *

Before long folks will begin to sail away for Europe. Col. and Mrs. John P. Penny will sail on Saturday, June 6, for the continent, I've heard. And Mrs. Harry Darlington and the Raymond Ford Morelands are planning European trips, too.

The Wildwood Country Club is giving a Decoration Day dance in the clubhouse on Saturday, May 30, from 7 to 11 o'clock. The women's golf season at the club opens tomorrow and continues until July 31. Friday is ladies' day. A flag tournament will be held on May 29, and an 18-hole medal play on June 5. On Friday, June 12 there will be a golf breakfast and tournament, and on June 12 is the blind low net foursome. The kickers tournament is scheduled for June 26 and another flag tournament will take place July 3. Another 18-hole medal play will take place on July 10, and the one-club tournament on July 17 will be an attraction. A blind bogey tournament will be a diversion on July 24, and an 18-hole medal play another, on July 31.

Dance May 30

Mrs. John Denny Ritchey is chairman of the ladies' golf committee, and her committee includes Mrs. George Wittmer, III, Mrs. Eugene P. Whitcomb, Mrs. George Feltyberger, Mrs. L. O. Klingelhofer, Mrs. T. T. Thorn, Mrs. Paul C. Maher and Mrs. W. M. Beecher.

-:- CLUB NOTES -:-

That the death or decadence of the theater need not be feared and that that great actors are not all dead was the assurance given the Pittsburgh Drama League last night by George Seibel, dramatic critic of the Sun-Telegraph. Present day standards of acting are higher, he said, than those of the past, but past generations throw a glamor around their youthful memories of the theater.

Mr. Seibel discussed the plays Pittsburgh has seen this season and pointed out the "perfect casts" and the high quality of several productions. The theater has always been going to the dogs, yet the most vital literature of today is still largely in the form of drama, the speaker pointed out.

Will Create Book With Nature's Tools

NEW YORK, May 21.—(INS.)—A book, his autobiography, made from materials and with tools provided by nature in a primitive South Sea island, will be produced by Dard Hunter, of Chillicothe, O.

Hunter, who last night was awarded the gold medal of the American Institute of Graphic Arts, said today he would sail shortly to make the new book, using paper made from bamboo trees and island grasses. The ink will be made from tree bark.

Congress Probers Arrive in Manila

MANILA, May 21.—(AP.)—United States Senators Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana, and Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada, and Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, and Cassius C. Dowell, of Iowa, arived here today on the transport Henderson to study the Philippine situation.

Art Industry Show Opens Tomorrow

Club women of the district were busy yesterday afternoon assembling their displays for the art-in-industry contest which will open tomorrow in Kaufmann's auditorium. Even the women themselves were amazed at the quantity, quality and variety of the work exhibited, all of which shows that clubwomen do find time for avocations and that they follow them in no mean way.

Needlework, of course, is shown in great quantities, but what needlework! "The good old days" never saw anything better. Then there's the painting—in oils, water colors, on china (that is really an exhibit in itself), on velvet, tapestry and most everything that human hand could find to paint on. Weaving, bead work, toy-making, rug-making, copper work, are other avocational examples to be seen.

* * *

By all odds one of the finest and largest displays is that of the Woman's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church. There isn't so much as a suggestion of the amateur in the entire exhibit. Woven articles of wool, cotton, linen, silk and tinsel are displayed; there's a marvelous display of hand sewing, some very unusual quilts, too, and at one side is a fountain head, appropriately set, that was modeled by one of the members.

Expert Display

The Allegheny Valley Woman's Club has its model home, in which one sees a most intriguing set of furnishings and decorations—a kitchen sink made of soap, a cat on the hearth made of paper cleaner, real cement blocks in the foundation, sponge trees in the yard, chandeliers that were once pearl earrings, and—but why keep on? Go see for yourself, for the house isn't all of it. Be sure to look at the clever toys and the other articles in the Valley Club's display.

* * *

The Carrick Mothers' Club has another lavish exhibit—a bride and her attendants, fully clothed in exquisite things which the Mothers have made. Even the wedding ring is a product of the women's talents, her book is a lovely moire-bound, hand-decorated volume, and her gifts are as varied and beautiful as any live bride could wish. Her lingerie was made by the Juniors and the dower chest was filled by the Auxiliary.

Bridal Party

Another original display is that of the Monaca Woman's Club, a little grassy yard, white-fenced, and strung with clothes line on which are hung the dainty little dresses which the women have made and which are later to be distributed through philanthropic agencies.

Life-sized figures display the costumes which the College Hill Club members have designed and made and which they will wear in their playlet on Saturday morning.

THE EVENING PAJAMA MODE REMAINS DIVIDED QUESTION

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 21.—Quite obviously, so far as discussion is concerned, the evening pajama mode is going to be a matter of divided opinion. But the pajama itself isn't at all obviously divided. It is so cleverly camouflaged and concealed that it takes a lot of looking and much guessing to ascertain if one is really gazing upon the new formal pajamas enjoying their first experiences in the great world. Perhaps this shyness is but part of the scheme to make us all pajama devotees and so gradually, in a sweet, disarming way make us clamor for the undisguised, simon-pure pajama without any skirts, pleats fullness, or any other disguise. At present, the pajamas we have seen seem to have a fullness far exceeding that of any skirt for evening wear, a most insiduous form of propaganda, don't you think? At any rate, the ladies in trousers who are sponsoring the pajama-for-formal-wear movement seem very timid about it all, but that isn't to say that the idea is not going to succeed. For that kind of an inception generally gathers increased momentum.

* * *

WE SHOW TODAY a sketch of a dinner dress and also another sketch depicting one of the new formal pajama costumes. Study them carefully and take your choice. Of course the pajama costume must be judged when the wearer is in motion if a real decision is to be arrived at. The drawing to the left shows a Lanvin model, one of the most graceful in her new collection. Over a softly clinging base of white chiffon with a very ample, circular skirt, rectangular pieces of sapphire satin are attached at the bodice and hips and serve as a belt as well. On the bodice the satin pieces are loose at the outer edge only and suggest wide revers.

ON THE SKIRT they are attached and form a close-fitting yoke. Separate pieces of white chiffon reaching from the elbow down to the wrist partly cover the bare arms. Deep, turned-back cuffs of the satin top these sleeves just above the elbow.

* * *

WORTH IS ONE of the designers who is sponsoring the formal evening pajama mode and included several models in his new collection. One of these pajama-dresses—as they really should be termed—is shown here. It is of bright green crepe romain. The division in the exceedingly wide skirt is cleverly concealed beneath deep pleats and wide, flat panels. The bodice is slightly bloused at the front and sides by means of radiating folds starting at the waistline in front. Bright green crepe also is used to line the short jacket of black paillettes, which is bloused at each side seam.

REAL ESTATE

A six-room brick home in Clemensha avenue, Brookline, has been sold through the offices of Avey & Irish, realtors, by Helen May Wetzel to Ernest Matchett for a consideration of $10,000.

Ground will be broken shortly for two large residences in Southern Highlands, new South Hills residential plan in Upper St. Clair Township, according to Stevenson-Williams, realtors.

One of the homes will be constructed by Oliver Enscoe and another by Caste Brothers. Both Enscoe and Caste Brothers have been active in speculative building in the South Hills for several years. Southern Highlands consists of 180 acres. Seventy acres are now being extensively developed.

Stevenson-Williams have been named agents for the Oakhurst Plan, residential development in Bethel Township, by the Pittsburgh Suburban Development Company. The Ben F. Williams Company was the former agent.

If C. C. C. Stotler, secretary-treasurer of the Title Guaranty Company and the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board's entrant in the five-minute speech contest to be staged at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in Baltimore, May 27 to 30, wins the contest, the local board will be given permanent possession of the speech contest loving cup. The board winning three contests is given the cup. The Pittsburgh board has twice had possession of the trophy.

3. Cabinet well designed, properly insulated?
4. Provision for freezing enough ice, rather than number of cubes?
5. Proper temperatures to preserve foods?
6. Freezing of ice cubes and desserts speeded as needed?
7. This extra freezing without affecting temperature of food shelves?
8. Place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick-frosted" foods and extra ice cubes INDEFINITELY at a below-freezing temperature?
9. Are these various temperatures maintained AUTOMATICALLY, without attention?
10. Does mechanism work infrequently or often?
11. Does refrigeration continue 12 hours after current is off?
12. Vegetable freshener?
13. Is it tested by experience?

ESTEP TO SPEAK AT CIVIC MEET

Congressman Harry A. Estep will address members of the Roosevelt Civic Legion at a meeting tonight in the Nineteenth Ward Service Club, Boggs avenue, Mt. Washington. Donald D. Mangone, president of the legion, will officiate at the ceremonies for the admittance of about 200 new members.

The legion was organized last month for the purpose of educating its members to a better understanding of their civic duties, to further educational attainments in secondary schools for the children of the members and to establish a library for the benefit of its associates.

It is planned to hold a smoker June 15, and tickets for this affair are to be distributed tonight. The legion now has a membership of 300. District delegates have been selected for sections of Beechview, Brookline, Oakland, South Side, North Side and Swissvale.

LANG AWARDS 7 CONTRACTS

Contracts on five improvement projects were awarded late yesterday by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang. Earlier in the day Lang awarded contracts for improvement of Wilkins avenue to the M. O'Herron Company, at a cost of $43,350, and Noblestown road, to the same company, at a cost of $160,031.52.

The five other projects were: Boiler platform at the Ross Pumping Station, to Taylor & Dean Company for $3,852; building repairs at the Ross Pumping Station, to Lash & Dailey for $654; electrical equipment for Herron Hill Pumping Station, to Franklin Electric and Construction Company for $3,475; repairs to Smithfield Street Bridge floor to Pittsburgh Drainage and Engineering Company, Inc., for $2,005, and reconstruction of approaches to the Elizabeth Street Bridge, to Walter S. Rae for $1,753.75.

CLUBS, HOMES RAIDED BY DRYS

Two clubs were among six places raided by prohibition agents yesterday.

C. M. Houston, 40, and R. H. Claddy were reported arrested in a raid on a second-floor club at 929 Liberty avenue, where agents said they found gin, whisky and two barrels of beer.

A club in the rear of 536 North Homewood avenue, where Martin Hoehn, 45, was arrested, yielded the agents gin and moonshine, they reported.

Stills was reported found in the homes of Anthony Marino, 1604 Cliff street; Frank Spono, Hope Hollow road, Scott Township, and Jacob Lauer, 3973 Evergreen road, and in a building at 3268 East street.

Warrendale School Head Takes Oath

The oath of office was administered yesterday by President Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court to Attorney A. H. Kaufman, who was appointed to the board of managers of Allegheny County Industrial and Training School for Boys at Warrendale. Mr. Kaufman, who resides at 5519 Darlington road, was appointed at a meeting of the Common Pleas judges to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Aaron Cohen. The officers of the board are James R. AUDIT REPORT DUE IN 10 DAYS

It will be 10 days before the findings of the audit of the Department of Supplies being made by Price, Waterhouse & Co., will be made public, Controller James P. Kerr announced today. Discussing it, he said:

"The report will not come to me until the middle of next week. When it does, I will want two or three days to look it over. Whatever is of public importance will then be made known. I understand it is to be a very voluminous document."

Assistant District Attorney W. H. Colvin, assigned by District Attorney Andrew T. Park to handle the audit in the interest of his office, said today that he will make a study of it, as soon as the document is available.

However, nothing will be done in the way of any possible prosecutions, until he has received the report of the Citizens Committee, whose audit of the Department of Supplies is being made by Main & Co.

Sewickley Man Gets New Air Line Office

Richard W. Robbins, of Sewickley, vice president of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation and president of the Pennsylvania Air Lines, has been named managing director of Transcontinental-Western Air, Inc., it was announced yesterday. He will take charge of the line at its offices in New York immediately, but will maintain his executive capacity with both of the local organizations.

ALLIED BOARDS ASK CIRCLE OF BOULEVARDS

Plan Would Send Autos From North Side to East End, Missing Downtown Jams

Tentative plans for creation of a boulevard on Greenleaf street to make a complete traffic circle from the North Side to the East End without necessity of vehicles passing through the downtown section, were being considered today by the Department of Public Works and City Planning Commission.

Representatives of the Allied Boards of Trade appeared before City Council yesterday and asked that immediate consideration be given the improvement.

The proposed boulevard would improve Greenleaf street, connecting it with Grandview avenue and the Mt. Washington roadway, either direct or by way of Fingal street.

LAUDS WORKS PROBE

Approximately 3,500 feet long, the thoroughfare would have an added advantage of permitting tourists a better view of the city, the trade boards representatives said, as well as providing a traffic outlet.

Harry Bastow, president of the organization, complimented Council for the manner in which the recent Public Works Department investigation was conducted. He said:

"The probe was handled properly. It brought out conclusively that the integrity and efficiency of the departmental engineers and director could not be defiled."

URGES START SOON

William Armstrong, chairman of the group's highway committee, told Council he had no estimate as to the probable cost of the improvement, adding:

"The work should be started as soon as possible. It would be a good thing for business and would relieve unemployment if the project were built. The Empire of Pittsburgh is moving rapidly."

SUSPECT HELD FOR COURT

George Schillinger, declared to be the last of the "Blue Scarf" gang to be taken by the police, was turned over to the district attorney today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court.

He was arrested in Washington last Friday and returned here by city detectives. His accredited pals, Harry Logan, Theodore Geiser and Fred Dumberg, are serving terms in prison for 30 store holdups in the Pittsburgh district. Schillinger has been indicted in connection with the same holdups.

FAMILY OF SIX AIDED HERE

Frank W. Pierce thinks Pittsburgh is "as near heaven as you can get on this earth." Out of work for nearly a year, Pierce, 52, his wife and their four children, hitch-hiked to Pittsburgh yesterday on their way from Richmond, Va., to Detroit.

Pierce had $1.50 when his family arrived here yesterday. When they left the city last night, bound for Detroit in a bus, they had more than $50 and a new supply of clothes.

The money was raised within 30 minutes after Mrs. Agnes R. Joyce, manager of Shields store, 210 Oliver avenue, saw the destitute family and volunteered to "pass the hat."

Mrs. Joyce auctioned one of the children's hat for $5 to John D. Ayres, Koppers Building.

After the money had been collected, the family was given dinner in the Little Lunch Room. They Greyhound Bus Company carried them to Detroit, where the father hopes to get a job.

Stumbles Against Moving Train, Hurt

John Nord, 47, of 1270 Thirteenth street, McKeesport, is in the McKeesport Hospital, suffering laceration of the scalp. According to a report of the McKeesport police, he stumbled against a moving freight train at the Baltimore and Ohio crossing, McKeesport, yesterday.

Marines' Ranks Now Open to 'Little Guys'

The "little guys" now have an opportunity to enlist in the United States Marine Corps. Needing 500 men to fill the depleted ranks, it was announced here today that the minimum height required had been reduced from 66 inches to 64 inches, and that the minimum age had been cut from 19 to 18 years.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 21.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Was at the government hospital out here in Sawtelle, and all the disabled boys were working hard, making poppies, which they sell on Poppy Day, which is next Saturday. It's a great cause, and don't pass 'em up Saturday. Asking our small aid one day a year is not exactly having our soldiers impose on us. Nobody can sell anything else nowadays, and this starting in buying a poppy might be the turning point. So buy one and you will feel so good you are liable to buy a coat to pin it on before the day is over.

Yours, WILL.

BURGLAR ALARM BRINGS ARREST DOWNTOWN

Radio Car Crew Recovers Cab Taken in Holdup; Gasoline Station and Home Robbed

After having gained entrance to the Kirner Catholic Book Store, 209 Market street, early today, Jerry Baul, 33, Negro, police said, set off a burglar alarm and was captured in the place by Patrolmen Thomas Scanlon and John Wetzel.

The police report said that Baul had cut a panel from the rear door of the store. The alarm of the Holmes Electric Protective Association was sounded and operatives notified police.

Baul told them he has no home, police said, adding that he had a large pocket knife in his possession, and admitted cutting the panel. The store was entered in a similar manner three months ago, according to police records.

STOLEN CAB FOUND

Squad car No. 1 recovered the cab of John Fraunprice, of 4636 Friendship avenue, 40 minutes after a broadcast was sent out to the effect that two passengers had robbed the driver of his cab and $15 when he had driven them from the downtown section to Colwell and Vine streets. The cab was recovered at Elm and Whitcomb streets, and the money was found under the seat where the driver had hidden it.

After ordering 10 gallons of gasoline, an armed thug robbed Harry Strods, of 337 North Fairmount avenue, an attendant at the Gulf Refining Company station, at Penn avenue and Station street, of $3 early today.

During the absence of the family of Mrs. F. H. Shive, of 4128 Perrysville avenue, yesterday afternoon, thieves ransacked the house and stole jewelry and silverware valued at $820 and women's apparel worth $667. Entrance was gained by forcing a cellar window.

MOTHER, CHILD HURT IN AUTO

A 13-month-old child and its mother were cut and bruised today when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a tree in North St. Clair street, near Margaretta street. The injured were Mrs. Hilda Fink, 27, of 591 Mignonette street, and her son, Ronald. Both were treated at the scene and later taken home.

Victor Scherrah, of 591 Mignonette street, with whom they were riding, told police he drove his machine onto the sidewalk to avoid colliding with an automobile truck. He was unhurt.

Policeman Freed Of Attack Charge

Justice of the Peace George H. House, of Braddock, yesterday exonerated Patrolman Frank Neil of Hays Police Station, on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. The charge was made by City Fireman Michael J. Brown, and his brother, James H. Brown, of 855 Muldowney street, Lincoln place, after a fight at Mifflin road and Lincoln place last week.

Failed in Payment, Held in Lottery

Arrested when the Three-in-One Lottery failed to pay $200 to James F. Bracken, of Avalon, the winner, Joe Long, of Bellevue, was held for court in $2,500 bail by Justice of the Peace Elmer T. Greiner, of Bellevue, last night. Long is charged with operating a lottery. The pool was operated on the United States Treasury report, it was testified.

Seer Who Predicted War Foresees Prosperity

John Slater, of San Francisco, who claims to have prophesied the end of the World War, the stock market crash and the death of Houdini, today declared that the business depression will end in a year. He is in Pittsburgh to address the Pennsylvania State Spiritualist Association convention which opened today in the William Penn Hotel.

Asked what spiritualism was, Slater said:

"It is like radio; you catch the vibrations. There are genuine mediums and fakes just as there are real silver dollars and counterfeits. We have nothing to do with fortune tellers, but we are credited with their mistakes."

Mr. Slater is of the opinion that people in America, prior to 1910, were more intelligent than they are today, because "in those days they took up the study of spiritualism keenly."

The Rev. C. V. Morrow, of Pittsburgh, president of the state association, in explaining the purpose of the convention, said:

"We want to discredit any idea in the public mind that spiritualism is in any way connected with charlatans."

Evangeline Booth Guest Of General Assembly

Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, will be a distinguished visitor in Pittsburgh next week during the one hundred forty-third General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., which begins Thursday.

Commander Booth will address a popular meeting of the Board of Christian Education in Syria Mosque on Sunday, May 31. Her subject will be "The Stride of God."

Another feature of the annual conclave, which will attract more than 2,000 visitors to Pittsburgh, will be a dinner complimentary to the ruling elders attending the meeting. The visitors will be entertained on Monday, June 1, at a dinner in Memorial Hall and will be under the auspices of the Ruling Elders' Association of the Pittsburgh Presbytery.

Dr. Cleland B. McAfee, former moderator of the General Assembly, will be the principal speaker.

SURVEY SHOWS TAXES BURDEN REAL ESTATE

Government Cost Here Jumps From $25.38 Per Capita In 1917 to $53.77 in 1929

The increasing cost of government in Pittsburgh, including city, county and school taxes, has placed a heavy burden on real estate, according to a survey by the Department of Commerce.

Property taxes represented 80.6 per cent of the total revenue for 1929 against 73.2 per cent in 1917. The increase in the amount of property tax collected was 187 per cent from 1917 to 1929, the survey shows.

In order to put the city on a basis comparable with other municipalities where the county and city have been merged and schools are a part of the city corporation, the figures include 65.6 per cent of the transactions of Allegheny County for 1929 and the total transactions of the Board of Education for the same year.

$53.77 PER CAPITA

In 1929, it cost every person in Pittsburgh $53.77 to run the general departments of the city, against $25.38 in 1917. The total expended in 1929 for operating the departments was $35,824,298.

The total payments included for the county in 1929 amounted to $15,028,747 and the total payments for the schools to $15,077,098.

The total revenue receipts including county and schools were $54,703,379 or $82.10 for each of 666,300 persons figured in the city's population. This was $10,656,813 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of permanent improvements, but $6,700,270 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. The payments in excess were met from the proceeds of bond sales.

EARNINGS DROP

Earning of public service enterprises operated by the city shrank from 10.5 per cent of the total revenue in 1917 to 5.8 per cent in 1929.

The net indebtedness of the city in 1929, including fixed debt less sinking fund assets was $129,230,224, or $193.95 per capita. Of this total, $57,764,967 was for the city corporation, $49,301,158 for the county, and $22,164,099 for the schools. The per capita net debt in 1917 was $95.08.

13 TO GRADUATE AS NURSES

Thirteen members of the graduating class of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing will receive diplomas and pins at commencement exercises in the First Presbyterian Church tonight.

Judge H. Walton Mitchell, of Orphans Court, will preside, and Judge Sara M. Soffel, of the Allegheny County Court, will address the graduates.

Judge Soffel

The program includes the presentation of diplomas by the Rev. James A. Kelso, president of the Western Theological Seminary and vice president of the hospital board of trustees, and presentation of pins by Mary B. Miller, superintendent of the hospital and directress of the School of Nursing. A reception at the Twentieth Century Club will follow.

Ohio State Heads Back War Training

COLUMBUS, O., May 21.—(AP.)—The board of trustees of Ohio State University have placed their stamp of approval on compulsory military training for students.

The action was taken after the faculty, acting on a petition from some 600 students to make military training optional, had voted for optional training and then reversed itself and approved compulsory training.

NURSES AWAIT DIPLOMAS

Graduating classes of two local nurses' training schools were preparing today for the commencement exercises.

Sixty-five nurses of the West Penn Hospital will receive diplomas tonight in the auditorium of the Nurses' Home. The graduating class of the Allegheny General Hospital will hold its exercises in the United Presbyterian Church, Union Avenue, next Tuesday night.

As a parting gift to their classmates, the graduates of the West Penn Hospital have presented them with a hand-painted screen depicting a moonlight scene on one side and birds of paradise in brilliant colors on the other. The screen represents work done in the art class, instructed by Anna Belle Craig, former P. C. W. student.

"To the Juniors, we leave our places in chapel with the privilege of using the walls and bookcase as props; also the privilege of becoming seniors."

Widow, 70, Faces Charge as Slayer

TUCSON, Ariz., May 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Louise F. Marshal, wealthy 70-year-old widow, was charged with murder here following the death in Los Angeles of her husband, Thomas K. Marshal, 68.

She fired four bullets into his body April 27 at their home here as he lay sleeping on the porch. She declined to explain. Marshal, the day after the shooting, attributed it to jealousy over a former housekeeper and he asked that charges be dropped.

DRIVER SOUGHT AFTER CRASH

Police today were seeking "Mr. Englert, Box 42, Homewood, Pa.," who, they said, gave Edward Urban, 24, of 3503 Fleetwood street, his card, following an automobile accident and drove away without taking Urban to a hospital.

Urban, in a serious condition in the Pittsburgh Hospital, was hurt when his car collided with a machine at Sterrett and Bennett streets.

Acid Stomach Torture 4 Yrs. Ends It Fast!

"I suffered tortures with acid stomach for four years. During the past three weeks I have taken ACIDINE," says Willian Wilcox, of Pasadena, California, "I have gained three pounds. Have had no trouble during this time. I have tried many medicines and all failed to help with the exception of ACIDINE."

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath, vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

Ladies! Listen in on KDKA on Friday mornings at 11 O'Clock, Daylight Saving Time, for the Fayro Charm Period.

SLENDERIZING for Style or Health

Imagine reducing your excess weight from two to four pounds without doing any more than bathing in your own tub with healthful, invigorating mineral salts that leave your skin softer, and your general health improved.

Neither diet nor violent exercise is necessary when you use Fayro Bath Salts. No need to go hungry or impair your vitality in any way. This simple process of bathing fat away has been voluntarily* endorsed by scores of physicians and thousands of women all over the United States.

Fourteen pounds of excess weight disappeared after Mrs. M., of Bellevue, Pa., had taken five Fayro Baths. She writes, "I have received such gratifying results from the use of Fayro as a medium for reducing my weight that I feel in writing this testimonial it may be of as much benefit to other people who are over-weight as it has been to me. I reduced my weight fourteen pounds after taking five Fayro Baths."

You risk nothing in giving Fayro a trial. It is sold on the unconditional guarantee that if you are dissatisfied for any reason your money will be instantly refunded. More than a million and a half treatments have been sold on this guarantee.

One dollar at drug stores and toilet counters everywhere.

WOMAN SEIZED, BEATS 2 MEN IN FIGHT

Assailants Flee in Fright After Losing Battle in Attempted Abduction

Seized by two men while she was walking on the Meadow Street Bridge shortly after midnight, Mrs. S. Mangold of 6915 Odessa street, screamed and fought with them until they fled in fright, according to a police report.

Mrs. Mangold said that when she reached the bridge, an automobile was driven alongside of her and the two men jumped out while a third remained at the steering wheel.

She told police the men tried to throw her into the machine, but she screamed and struggled so vigorously that they fled.

She furnished the police with a description of the machine and the two men, and scout cars throughout the city were given radioed instructions to seek them.

Change in Interest Rates on Bank Deposits

NOTICE

On May 13, 1931, the Members of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association unanimously recommended that on and after June 1, 1931, the member banks of said Association would not accept new savings or time accounts at a rate of interest to exceed three per cent per annum.

This reduction was deemed absolutely necessary and in keeping with sound banking as a result of the prevailing low rates of returns upon those types of liquid investments in which banks must carry a large proportion of their funds for the protection of their depositors and stockholders.

For these reasons the following banks have agreed to comply with the letter and spirit of said resolution:

FAZIO'S NEPHEW ARRESTED IN BEER RAID

Three Youths Held After Dry Squad Finds 'Wildcat' Plant in Rankin Garage

Three Swissvale youths, one of them described as a nephew of Philip Fazio, Clairton beer baron, who was sent to jail for liquor violations after being acquitted of the murder of "Stuttering Bill" Gregory, a one-time beer runner, are under arrest by prohibition agents who reported raiding a wildcat brewery in Chartiers street, Rankin.

Agents said they arrested Joseph Fazio, 23, of 2205 Woodstock avenue, Swissvale, who is, they said, Philip Fazio's nephew; Melvin Bradley, 20, of 7503 Ellsmere street, Swissvale, and John Saccanagno, 20, of 2206 Woodstock avenue.

The three youths, agents reported, were preparing last night to barrel 500 gallons of beer that was contained in one large vat. One barrel partly filled, six barrels and 24 half barrels, all of which were empty, were seized.

The raiders said they destroyed everything in the building, a one-story garage, after arresting the men and taking a sample of the beer. They reported arresting the three youths as they were filling the first barrel, they reported.

Agents said that Philip Fazio, during his career as a wildcat operator, was partial to garages, having operated a brewery in a Lorigan street garage when he was arrested in connection with the death of Gregory, whose headless body was found in a potato barrel, after he was said to have hijacked a truck load of Fazio's beer.

Burgess Welcomes Action Of Homestead Meeting But Puts Armstrong First

Burgess John Cavanaugh, of Homestead, was indorsed as a candidate for county commissioner at a meeting last night of the Republican county committee of Homestead, in the borough hall.

Mart S. Delaney, who presided, was previously elected chairman of the committee and John A. Sullivan was elected secretary.

LOYAL TO ARMSTRONG

Cavanaugh, who did not attend the meeting, said later at his home:

"I appreciate the indorsement but I am not ready to announce my position. As I have said repeatedly, Joseph G. Armstrong comes first and I will be guided by whatever appears to be in his interests."

OFFICIALS SPEAK

Speakers included Maj. J. Clyde Miller, director of the poor; J. M. Horne, president of Homestead Council; Dr. John McClain, borough controller; P. H. McGuire, former burgess of Homestead; Attorneys Roy Keitzer and Harry McWhinney; Thomas D. Watkins, former burgess of Dravosburg; Earl Jacobs, of Munhall; Hugh Kelley, of West Homestead; William Noble, of Mifflin Township; Miss Grace Maroney, Mrs. Kate Graham and Mrs. Mary Sullivan, of Homestead.

SILVER SLIPPER HEADS HELD

Billy King, founder of the Silver Slipper cabaret, Federal street, and Harry Dickey, to whom King sold the business, were held for court today by the United States commissioner, in connection with a recent raid on the night club.

King argued he did not own the Slipper at the time of the raid, but agents testified they and their girl companions had purchased a pint of whisky when King did own it. They also testified that whisky was seized in the raid. Carroll Owens, a waiter, was discharged.

A rule was granted by Judge R. M. Gibson on Joe Rubin, Roxy Nesta, Oscar Hughes and Philip Gentille, of the Club Alabam, Wylie avenue cabaret, to show why 67 pints of ale and two pints of whisky seized by the agents should not be forfeited.

FORFEITS BOND OF 2 WOMEN

Angered when two alleged shoplifters failed to appear today after three postponements had been granted, Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today declared the two $5,000 bail pieces of Anna and Elizabeth Rodgers, of Boston, forfeited.

The sisters were arrested May 11 on complaint of department store operatives. Police said they found in their apartments merchandise valued at $3,000, alleged to have been stolen.

Attorney Louis Little was granted three postponements. Both Little and his clients were absent today when court convened, and the magistrate declared the bonds forfeited.

Building Statistics Reveal Increase

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(INS.)—Based on reports from 340 cities, having a population of 25,000 or over, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced today there was an increase of 6.2 per cent in the amount of building permits during April as compared with March.

There was an increase of 19.5 per cent in the estimated cost of new residential buildings, but a decrease of 3.3 per cent in the estimated cost of new non-residential buildings.

Sleepless Three Years, Man Testifies

Three years without sleep, spent in constant walking, with food bought on less than $22, is the argosy related to Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today by Harry Shapiro, 20, formerly of New York. Shapiro, arrested yesterday on a suspicious person charge, was held for mental observation.

He told Rothenberg he came from New York three years ago with $22 in his pocket. He never slept, he said, and spent the days and nights walking the streets. He bought food and still has some of the $22 left, he declared.

KIN SENTENCED IN CUTTING

Harry Herd, 30, contractor of 1729 Stratmore street, convicted of cutting and wounding his sister-in-law Mrs. Coletta R. Pauley, 26, of 1727 Stratmore street, February 3, last, today was sentenced to serve from one and one half to three years in the workhouse.

During the trial, Herd had a rug and davenport set up in the courtroom, for the inspection of a jury, claiming there were blood stains on it. He insisted the attack occurred in his own home instead of the home of Mrs. Pauley, as she had testified. Herd said he wrested the revolver from Mrs. Pauley when she entered his home. Mrs. Pauley was beaten on the head with a revolver during the fight and appeared in court with her head bandaged.

Discover a new meaning for "COFFEE FRESHNESS"

EIGHT O'CLOCK · LB 21c

There is no secret about coffee freshness. It is merely a matter of rushing the coffee from the roaster to your cup. The reason for the extraordinary freshness of coffees in A & P stores is the speed with which all coffee is sold in this, the world's largest coffee organization.

When it comes to our own blends, Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar, freshness has an entirely new meaning. For we control every step—every hour of time between their roasting and delivery to you. Time cannot rob these coffees of their freshness.

Why not discover for yourself a new idea of coffee freshness—and at the same time prove for yourself that "the coffee you like best is the best, no matter what it costs."

HOOVER TO GIVE RED CROSS TALK ON RADIO TONIGHT

The LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 21.—The broadcasters are giving more time this year to the big horse races. And they should if experience means anything. Experience has taught them that the races are among the sports events they do best.

A horse race has an advantage to the adjective-assemblers of radio. It's all over in a few minutes. There are no time-killing pauses wherein announcers must make conversation, must talk about sunsets and the preparatory schools of athletes. And invariably there is, at present—at least for the men—the thrill of a close contest.

* * *

For the little woman there is something, too. A heavy track may mean nothing to her. And she may not get excited over the hoofs of Male and Twenty Grand. But she will listen to a description of the hats and gowns on display. Even to the extent of hoping that it rains.

Strange, the radio panjandrums have not been more prompt in adjusting lorgnettes to style commentators. Maybe they were discouraged by the one previous attempt they made. You will recall they planned to announce the kind, if not the cost, of the chiffons at the ringside of a heavyweight fight, but before you could say "Schmeling" the fight was over and so was any idea of a word on the chiffon.

* * *

If horse racing is among the most exciting of air attractions to the cretonned cogswells, particularly those occupied by pappy, automobile racing is among the most monotonous items on the sports broadcast schedule. It is difficult to see how it can be improved.

At present it is equally an endurance test for the announcer and the listener. The commentators—dear, dear, how British we're getting!—start off bravely, but after the first 10 miles nothing matters—nothing that is save a piece of cotton. It becomes just a roar of motors, punctuated by repetitious description.

* * *

The only excitement possible to the eardrums in an automobile race is the ever-present possibility of a crash. Yet, it is doubtful if the announcers would do more than casually mention a crash were it to take place. Catastrophe in great spectacles is not welcomed by the broadcasters. And its mention is frowned upon by the promoters.

The latest frowning is in connection with the broadcast of the great air armada which is to "attack" New York tomorrow and Saturday. According to our spies the radio chiefs have been pledged by aviation officials not to give detailed announcement of any crack-ups should they occur. It is believed that any good will of the public toward aviation would be considerably lessened were the parlors to hear the slightest misfortune to the fliers.

* * *

Distinguished foreign personalities continue to speak to us from Europe. Week after week they come to American firesides, firesides that for the most part have been hastily deserted. It all goes down on the records, I suppose as public service. You will notice, however, that there is no concentrated rush on the part of the foreign radio chiefs to give their listeners similar public service from America. Only a handful of noted Americans have spoken to foreign homes.

15 Pc. Green Glass BRIDGE or LUNCHEON SET for either 5 coupons or top flaps of NOVITE box and 80c.

4—8½-Inch Luncheon Plates
4—Cups
4—Saucers
1—Creamer
1—Sugar
1—Sugar Cover

NOVITE is a mild, pure washing soda. It acts on the base that makes dirt stick so stubbornly—grease—and changes it into soap. Absolutely free from caustic, lye, grit or other foreign substances. Quickly soluble in water. Always use NOVITE WITH soap. NOVITE helps greatly in washing dishes, clothes, woodwork and floors. It makes bath water soft and refreshing to the bather. Ask your Grocer to include a package of NOVITE with your next order.

You may easily obtain the set by saving either the coupons to be found in the package of NOVITE or the top flap of the box where no coupon is contained in the box. Send 5 coupons or 5 top flaps and 80c to cover cost of postage and packing, and you will receive, postage paid, a set of this glassware.

Send 5 coupons or top flaps of NOVITE and 80c to

WHOLESOME FOOD HELPS BUILD GOOD TEETH

Vitamins, minerals and roughage, as supplied by the balanced diet, directly and indirectly contribute to promoting good teeth and gums.

Foods should be eaten regularly that abound in Vitamins "C" and "D." These include tomatoes, fresh peas, raw cabbage, spinach, lettuce; citrus fruits, berries, apples; eggs, butter and whole milk.

In preparing these foods, sugar will make them much more appetizing. Add a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooked vegetables. Put equal parts of sugar and salt in the French dressing. Sweeten stewed fruits to taste. And there are many delicious pudding recipes that call for eggs, butter, milk and sugar. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Now You Can Whiten Teeth—a Shade a Day

Remove Yellow and Stain, Prevent Decay This New Way . . . Teeth Whiten 3 Shades in 3 Days

A NEW and different way of making teeth gleaming white and keeping them sound has been discovered. It's a remarkable technique that removes the real cause of yellow, stain, decay and gum diseases—whitens teeth a shade a day—3 shades in 3 days. Hence it is now foolish to have teeth that embarrass.

Just do this: Morning and night, give your teeth and gums a Kolynos ANTISEPTIC FOAM BATH with a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush.

Then note the day-to-day improvement. Very soon teeth look cleaner and whiter than in years. Gums feel firmer and look healthier. The mouth and breath are sweet and fresh. Here's the reason:

Kolynos is unique. It succeeds where ordinary preparations fail because it becomes an antiseptic foam the very moment it enters the mouth. This foam gets into and cleans out every pit, fissure and crevice. It kills the millions of germs that swarm into the mouth with every breath, defy ordinary tooth pastes and cause 95% of all tooth and gum troubles—190 million are killed in the first 15 seconds.

Gently this exhilarating, antiseptic foam bathes the teeth and gums—erases tartar and the mucoid coating—stimulates the gums—purifies the oral cavity—CLEANS TEETH AS THEY SHOULD BE CLEANED, RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL NAKED WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY!

Thus stain and ugly yellow are removed. Decay is prevented. Teeth are kept sound and gleaming white. And gums are safeguarded against insidious disease.

Try the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Start giving teeth and gums a Kolynos ANTISEPTIC FOAM BATH morning and night. You'll be glad you did. Teeth will be whiter than ever. Gums firmer and healthier. The mouth tingling with a clean, fresh taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

An outstanding value for every shopping list

3c to 5c LOWER PER BOTTLE

CANADA DRY AT THE new low price

To be thrifty yet distinctive is an art in itself, and it has made woman today a most discriminating judge of value. Briefly, too, it explains why Canada Dry at its new low price has such an instant appeal.

Now more than ever, the value of Canada Dry is outstanding. Here is The Champagne of Ginger Ales—yet it is priced well within the range of all other ginger ales. The superior quality of Canada Dry, its decade-long reputation for distinction, its joyousness of flavor—these are all extra values, and convincing ones. No other ginger ale gives you so much for your money.

3 to 5 cents cheaper

As in the past, the new low price of Canada Dry will vary. Sometimes, particularly at night, or when Canada Dry is iced and delivered, it may be slightly more because of the extra service. But in all cases, you will find that a bottle of Canada Dry is now 3 to 5 cents cheaper than before.

For your week-end marketing

Take full advantage of Canada Dry's new low price and remember The Champagne of Ginger Ales when you are doing your week-end marketing. Buy an ample supply—preferably the handy Hostess Package of twelve bottles.

ADDITIONAL RADIO PROGRAMS

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

President Herbert Hoover's sincerity in radio is no better evinced than in the number of times he has appeared before the microphone since taking office. Add an additional star tonight at 10:30 when all three networks carry his talk on the fiftieth anniversary of the Red Cross. The local stations are KDKA, WCAE and WJAS.

Oley Speaks' "Sylvia" with its rich, velvety beauty, is reserved on the networks for only the best of tenors. Hear Robert Simmons sing it and "Eileen" on KDKA at 8:30.

John Charles Thomas, the famous baritone, was ordained by his clerical father to study medicine. He was attending Baltimore Medical School when he was awarded a musical scholarship. The question of doubt entered his mind, footlights versus physician—and he decided it with the flip of a coin. Blame us if you don't consider 9:30 enjoyably spent by hearing him sing "I Love Life," "Even the Bravest Hearts" and "Darling Nellie Gray" on KDKA.

QUESTION A DAY:

Is it true that Rudy Vallee is engaged to marry Fay Webb?—P. W., Homewood.

Answer—Almost stumped us that time for we had forgotten all about Fay. Rudy telegraphs us that he still corresponds with the Santa Monica girl that he met while making a motion picture, but there's no truth about the engagement. The old story, "Just good friends."

STUDIO LIGHTS

Ripley's speech from mid-ocean, 800 miles off Sandy Hook last night, was the most scintillating stunt of the radio year . . .

Boys in the New York control room must have had their fingers crossed when the announcer politely informed his public that the next voice they would hear would be that of "Robert L. Ripley, somewhere at sea" . . . these specialties don't always work and last night was poor atmospherically . . .

Al Capone is the only public figure in America who is well known in Syria, remarked Ripley . . . "And, believe it or not, they searched me for bullet holes when they learned I was from the land of the free and the home of the brave" . . .

Joe Sartory is burning the midnight oil at WWSW in Hotel Schenley.....getting ready for a gala opening on Sunday night, May 31.....his unique idea to celebrate the inaugural with a church service, invoking as it were all blessings possible.

Dennis King, star of "The Vagabond King," has scrawled his name to a Columbia contract.... the new series for five days a week starting Monday, June 15... the time, 7:15.....

KQV has ordered its 1,000-watt transmitter.....and engineers will look over Pittsburgh tomorrow and Saturday for a suitable location.....all of which was forecast FIRST in Pittsburgh by this department on March 10.

Mrs. Graham McNamee's suit for divorce does not surprise us . . . the riff has existed for some time. . . .

WABC attempts to pick up the song of the nightingale direct from England tomorrow afternoon at 5:30. . . .

Beatrice Mabie, NBC beauty specialist heard twice a week through KDKA, is to answer women's problems tomorrow and Saturday in a Fifth avenue department store . . . and speaks over KQV tomorrow morning at 10. . . .

"Treasury Problems," discussed by Secretary Andrew W. Mellon, constitutes a good feature on WJAS this Saturday at 9:30.

That funny noise in Paul Miller's program last night, which portrayed the winding of a player piano, was produced by drawing a cardboard across a comb... try it.

Craze for the miniature has invaded the KQV studios . . . the Blues Chasers have received a granny quilt which measures exactly 8 by 11 inches.

Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat—Cost 85 Cents

Table Tells How Much Women and Girls Should Weigh

How would you like to lose 19 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85-cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the safe, swift and pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands should possess to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One 85-cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts. Buy one bottle with the distinct understanding that you will be joyfully satisfied or money back.

Mrs. C. L., of Shepardsville, Kentucky, writes: "I have reduced 24 pounds in 31 days with Kruschen and I ate three meals a day." Your druggist knows all about Kruschen.

Old Play-Bills Recall Fame of Amateurs Fifty Years Ago

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Among the collections of old play-bills, theatrical news clippings, pictures of actors, and such things, sent to me in response to my call to gather and preserve such relics of days that are no more, is a bundle from P. W. Lascheid, one of the pioneer residents of the South Side, giving glimpses of amateur activities 50 years ago.

George Seibel

There is one play-bill of the William A. Lang Dramatic Company which reminded me that the first play I ever saw on any stage was entitled "Gipsy Joe," and was performed by Billy Lang, the Roscius of Birmingham, in old Odd Fellows Hall, still standing at the corner of Eighteenth and Sarah streets.

It seemed a splendid spectacle to my boyish eyes. Given in connection with a church bazaar, it caused a great stir in the congregation because the bazaar committee, in a mood of extravagance, had contracted to pay the company $70 for that performance.

Seventy dollars in those days was a very vast sum to expend for dramatic art. But William A. Lang was the best actor on the South Side between Beck's Run and McKees Rocks. And his daughter Agnes was esteemed as a local Mary Anderson or Fanny Davenport.

"SHOT IN THE EYE"

The plays presented by William A. Lang were thrillers with real thrills. Here is a program of Thanksgiving night, November 24, 1881. The drama was "Jack Long, or Shot in the Eye." Lang played Jack, and Mrs. Lang was May Gibbs. There was a plantation scene in which the "Grotesque Excentriques," Burke and Bartlett, appeared in a song and dance with "limber kicking."

The name of the dramatist is lost to fame, but the program leaves no doubt of the drama's merits. "Mr. Lang has adopted it as one of his favorite plays and will some day take it on the road."

The plays of those days had titles radiating red fire, for a heroic tableau closed every act. These tableaux called for a terrific expenditure on strontium, which was burnt on a shovel by one of the scene-shifters standing in the wings. While the villain lay prostrate under the heels of the defiant hero, a crimson glare impressed the picture indelibly upon the popping retina of the juvenile spectator.

SOME OTHER STARS

When the Columbia Literary Association produced "Maurice the Wood-Cutter," in the Fifth Avenue Lyceum, on September 7, 1878, the twin stars of that "great moral melodrama" were Alphonse M. Yochum and Peter W. Lascheid himself. Lang was not the only actor of renown in those days.

The St. Vincent Literary Association brought forward another group of ambitious amateurs. They produced at one time "The Minerali, or The Dying Gift," by H. G. Plunkitt, carefully explaining that "minerali" were miners, but never telling why they were not called "miners." And on Decoration Day, 1883, the bill was "Rip Van Winkle," with J. C. Kober as understudy of Joe Jefferson. Kober had a costuming establishment, where most of the embryo Hamlets of the day hired their "inky cloak."

ONE OF OUR POETS

Among the admission cards in the Lascheid collection is one that revives memories of another famous South Sider who was both poet and politician. The card was for Summer Night Concerts, "closing with a hop at midnight," and was signed by the president of the association, E. A. Wood.

Dr. E. A. Wood, a man of real literary attainments, achieved a temporary immortality when somebody presented at Harrisburg the bill making Good Friday a legal holiday. Dr. Wood presented a bill of his own to make Ground Hog Day a legal holiday. But it wasn't adopted.

Wood wrote several plays and novels, a lengthy poem entitled "The Wagoner of the Alleghenies," of which I still remember three lines, and an opera, probably the first opera written in Pittsburgh. It was called "The Lion of Peru," and the Boston Ideals sang it in the old Grand Opera House. The music was also composed by a Pittsburgher, Leonard Wales, first organist in the Allegheny Carnegie Music Hall. I have a copy of the libretto signed by Dr. Woods, the first poet and dramatist of the old South Side.

Ingram Children To Enact Wedding

The children of the beginners' department of the First Presbyterian Chuch, Ingram, will appear in a "Tom Thumb" wedding tonight and tomorrow night in the church auditorium under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The cast of 100 includes about 50 children under 7 years of age. Mrs. Edward G. Rex is in charge of the performance.

Student Injured By Thrown Discus

TROY, N. Y., May 21.—(AP.)—Hit on the head by a 10-pound discus while he and a classmate were practicing the ancient sport, Sidney Unger, 19-year-old Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute sophomore from Nashville, Tenn., suffered a fractured skull and is in a hospital in a serious condition.

Prized Marble Bust Revealed as Fake

DETROIT, May 21.—(AP.)—Dr. William Valentiner, director of the Detroit Institute of Art, said that a marble bust of a woman alleged to be by Mino Da Fiesole, Italian Renaissance sculptor, which was presented to the Detroit Institute by Edsel Ford at a price reported to be $125,000, had been revealed as a fake.

NOTES ABOUT COMING STAGE AND SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

After an absence of two months, Mabel Kroman will return to the cast of the George Sharp Players in the Alvin next week. The play will be "She Couldn't Say No," a farce.

After almost three years in soldier uniform, western garb or aviation costumes, Gary Cooper got "all dressed up" for his role in "City Streets," opening tomorrow in the Penn. It is the first time since in "Children of Divorce" that he appears in a part in ordinary civilian clothes.

Baby Rose Marie will share headline honors with Horace Heidt's Californians Orchestra in the Stanley beginning tomorrow. Dorothy Mackaill will be on the screen in "Party Husbands."

MARION DAVIES FILM

Marion Davies is starred in "It's a Wise Child," the talking screen adaptation of the legitimate stage hit, coming tomorrow to the Aldine. Miss Davies is surrounded by a cast including Sidney Blackmer and Polly Moran.

Marion Shilling and Zasu Pitts are seen in featured feminine roles in the dramatic production, "Beyond Victory," which opens in the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow. Bill Boyd, Lew Cody, Mary Carr, James Gleason and Russell Gleason are also in the cast.

The Warner screen, beginning Saturday, will offer Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez and Frank Albertson in "Big Business Girl," which tells the story of two young college sweethearts who begin their careers in opposite ends of the world and are finally brought together again by a scheming publicity manager.

BRENDEL AND HORTON

"Six Cylinder Love," with El Brendel, Spencer Tracey, Una Merkel, Sidney Fox and Edward Everett Horton playing the leading roles, will open tomorrow in the Enright and Davis. The Enright stage will have Brian McDonald, presenting Jay Mills.

"Bachelor Apartment," with Irene Dunne, Lowell Sherman, Claudia Dell, Norman Kerry and Mae Murray, will open Saturday in the Harris. Another of the series of "Adventures in Africa" will also be on the bill.

OTHER BOOKINGS

A new attraction, made in Berlin but synchronized with English dialogue, called "Rio's Road to Hell," will be shown in the Pitt for an indefinite engagement, beginning Monday, May 25. It will be shown exclusively to women audiences.

In the Nixon for a one-night performance Monday, the Yiddish actor, Leon Blank, and the Yiddish comedian, Aaron Lebedeff, will appear in the new operetta, "Russian Love," from the National Theater, New York. The two stars will be supported by the original company.

Montgomery to Alternate Between Featured And Star Roles

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 21.

Many smart players are leery of stardom. It puts too much responsibility upon their shoulders. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has devised a very sensible way out of this difficulty for Robert Montgomery.

He will alternate his stellar roles with feature leads. The first of the latter parts will be in "Sea Eagles," the cast of which ought to gladden the hearts of film fans. Wallace Beery, Marjorie Rambeau and Clark Gable all are in the film.

R. Montgomery

An arrangement similar to Montgomery's will allow Beery and Marie Dressler to accept either features or star roles in M. G. M. pictures.

It seems to me, everybody concerned will benefit from the plan. The seats of the mighty are greased and sloping. A few bad starring pictures, and it's the toboggan.

LATEST GOSSIP

It is costing Radio Pictures plenty to keep Richard Dix. He is said to get $50,000 a picture plus percentage. And after one more, there'll be a new deal all around. No doubt Richard will boost his ante . . . Incidentally, Director Paul Sloane is bowing out of R. K. O. . . . Harry Rapf's son, Maurice, is M. G. M.'s newest writer . . . Polo is turning out to be a rough game. Johnny Farrow limps around on a cane and is otherwise bunged up. His horse sat on him Saturday . . . Talk about address books. The casting director at M. G. M. knows the phone numbers of 3,000 pretty girls . . . One of the large studios has found it advisable to lift its ban on smoking on the sound stages. The actors were too hard to find when it came time to shoot a scene . . . The role of a modern Paris was braved this week by Clive Brook. He selected the prettiest girl from several photographs to go into the yearbook of Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash.

Clive Brook

FAST THINKING

Joe E. Brown is a great adlibber. His stage role as the conceited baseball pitcher in "Elmer the Great" calls for him to eat large quantities of food. One night, a large hunk of grapefruit slipped off his fork and slopped down his vest.

Instantly, Joe turned to another character.

"Gee, boss," he exclaimed, "that's the first error I've made this season."

The line went so well that the incident has gone into the show.

PLANS CHANGED

After all, Barbara Stanwyck will not star in "Safe in Hell" for Warners. Studio officials have decided to limit the picture to featured roles.

No feminine lead has been selected, but Richard Bennett has been engaged for an important part. Roy Del Ruth is looking for the rest of his people. The story, as you may have heard, is by Huston Branch. It's as daring as the law allows.

HARSH JUDGMENT

Five production officials were lunching together in a popular Hollywood rendezvous. A few tables away, a well-known scenarist eyed them dispiritedly. He turned to his companion.

"Not a hit in the carload," he sighed.

WALTER WINCHELL on Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

That "Seed" movie at the Rivoli is an incessant lump in the throat . . . It is the best "editorial" yet on Men Who Stray . . . I liked that epigram best: "The minutes go so slow—and the years so fast" . . . What an eye-filling ensemble Ziegfeld has collected for his new "Follies" . . . Forty-four "headaches" for fellows who think they Live and Learn, but only Live! . . . Only 36 of the sirens, however, will be in the lineup—the other eight will be spares, . . . In case of illness and, of course, sudden elopements . . . The ticket speculating business must be in a sorry way, considering that nearly all the brokerages have forced most of their staffs to take six-week holidays without wages . . . Broadway certainly is getting That Look about it, at that . . . "Coney Island" as one of its critics observed, "without a scenic railway!" . . . Bob Garland came up from Baltimore to make a better living here and called Broadway "just another Main Street—with the spotlight on it" . . . Mebbe so, mebbe so . . . Yet every time I take the express from Atlantic City, which makes the run in three hours—it never seems less than ten.

I get a minor thrill out of reading some of the "experts" on the various newspapers, who "explain" why a killer like "Two-Gun" Crowley kills . . . According to these so-called specialists the reason Crowley became a killer is that he was handicapped in life—no mother to guide him—the environment, etc. . . . Now comes another cop killer, that Montgomery guy, who knocked off a Washington night club manager and a policeman before he blew out his own alleged brains . . . Wonder how the "experts" will handle him? . . . He was socially registered and he came from one of the better tribes . . . One of the rags in recording the murder says: "He was well-known in shooting circles" . . . Well, he's better known now . . . Roy Sloane, who did all that time in the jail-house and was recently put on the "X," was another bad boy from a good family. The papers told how his killers escaped in a machine that had new license plates which were made at Sing Sing, . . . Sing Sing hasn't made a license plate since 1915 . . . Sunday night in New York is plenty terrible now . . . It seemed more like Red Bank, N. J., last Sunday after sundown.

I like that pleasant woman who manages the Embassy Newsreel theater . . . She has a mess of charm . . . Wonder what those uniformed youths think about as they congest the pavement in front of the various movie places and monotonously jabber how "great, colossal, stupendous and magnificent" the feature flicker is . . . It's a 20 to 1 shot that they never even see it . . . The slim guy on those unusually tall stilts who advertises this and that along Broadway must have felt silly Sunday night . . . When a 17-year-old giant, taller than himself, ankled by without stilts—or a sign on his back . . . It must have been interesting for that newspaper reporter and the 18-year-old girl who wrote "Whistling in the Dark," "Ho, Hum" and other ditties . . . He went to her office in the Broadway district to interview her . . . And they were locked in until midnight . . . When the watchman released them . . . The Log says: "Kissing a girl because she lets you—is like scratching a place that doesn't itch."

Eugene O'Neill can get into and outta this town with the softest pedals . . . Here he is back nearly two days and only one or two—well, now it is three—people know it . . . The Players' Club has its "scandal" after all these years . . . The blackballing of that very rich and prominent (former) newspaper publisher amuses me. . . . Wonder if any of the former World staff had anything to do with it? . . . Arthur Sinclair's performance in the new comedy, "Old Man Murphy," is something to cheer about . . . What an actor he is! . . . I hadn't laughed so much since the premiere of "Once in a Lifetime" . . . Show business appears to be getting back its health, if what they say about "Band Wagon" is so . . . In Philly, where it is shaking off its avoirdupois, they say the house has been sold out for the run there . . . And that the New York ticket brokers have already made a long "buy" . . . And that Billy Rose's "Crazy Quilt" is another promising revue . . . Such news makes you want to go to the theater—even on passes . . . Wonder why people steal theater tickets that are sent to the critic? . . . They not only risk a term in the federal pen, but the people to whom they sell or give the ducats are first embarrassed and then thrown out of the theater . . . For all the critic has to do is ask the manager for his "locations," which are kept on file at the box-office . . . And invariably the guilty one is fired.

Can't shake that contagious tune out of my head . . . That "Star Dust" thing . . . What a beautiful melody it is—when they retard its tempo . . . I like it best, though, when they syncopate it . . . It has more torch in it, then . . . No matter how ordinary the torch melody, it manages to spellbind the lads and lassies who frequent the Broadway asylums . . . They go to them chiefly to divert their minds—from this problem or that one—usually a problem about Love . . . And when the entertainers warble "Smile, Darn Yer, Smile!" it only lifts them high while the ditty is being done . . . When it is finished they all relax again and put on their brooding masks . . . Oh, you can tell . . . Particularly after 5. . . . That's when the mind leaves the body, and the groups who have oiled themselves with Wyoming Ketchup do not seem to care what ogiers may be thinking . . . They get the miseries again, and seem happiest in that mood.

Court Count Shows Bond Sales Approved

Official count has been made in Quarter Sessions Court of the votes cast at two special bond elections for new schools, held Tuesday. In Springdale Borough a bond issue of $150,000 for a new high school was passed, 195 to 125. Scott Township approved a $30,000 issue for an addition to the Gregg street school, 262 to 214.

ROMANTIC!
Does a girl pick a boy to read poems at her? At least this type is very easy to manage.

ROUGH!

FICKLE!

RICH, but OLD!
Being an old man's darling has its benefits but youthful arms are much more welcome!

SO INNOCENT—
yet she had the pick of the town

Let one gossip start the ball a-rolling and even the sweetest girl in town begins to look like a sinner! Here's a joyful entertainment that's packed with situations you'll scream at! You'll be in on the secret while the folks in the picture are trying to guess! That's why you'll laugh louder than you've laughed in months!

You've never seen a funnier movie—
With an All-Star Cast—

A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURE

A MARION DAVIES production

The stage play ran a year on Broadway and six months on the road. Every producer tried to get it for the screen, but Marion Davies is the lucky star to bring it to you!

KREMER LIFTED OFTEN EVERY SPRING

JUST HOW IT comes that a pitcher as good as Remy Kremer generally is when a pennant race is at its height or in its closing stages can be so ineffective and lacking in staying qualities during the first part of a season is a question that has puzzled Pittsburgh fans for a long time. In Philadelphia yesterday the big Californian was perhaps more disappointing than he usually is in the spring, even a seven-run lead not being enough to enable him to last the full distance, but outside of that there was nothing new or novel in the fact of his being lifted before the finish.

Remy Kremer

That makes the fourth time in his last six starts that Kremer has been derricked, all of which is only a new chapter added to an old story. It is doubtful if there is another front-rank pitcher in the major leagues who has been a greater failure than Kremer at going the distance in spring games. The master mound workman of later months appears to be easy picking for the batters in April and May.

LAST YEAR IT was necessary to lift Kremer from 10 of his first 11 games. In 1929 he had to be removed from four of his first five contests. In 1928 he failed eight times in his first 11 starts to go the route, and in 1927 he was yanked out of four of his first six engagements.

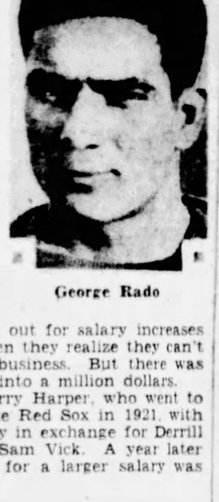
An old habit, and not merely a little off-spell of the present year. At the end of the season, as a rule, the coast ace ranks high among the National League's winning pitchers, but it certainly isn't due to anything he accomplishes in the spring.

PAUL WANER did not equal the major league record for outfield assists in turning in three for the Pirates yesterday. The records is four, made by Harry Shafer, Billy Crowley, Ducky Holmes, Fred Clarke, Lee Magee, Happy Felsch, Bob Meusel and Elton Langford. Only Crowley ever did it twice.

Clarke made his four assists while playing left field for the Pirates in a game against the Phillies at Forbes Field on August 23, 1910. He caught John Titus at the plate, Kitty Bransfield at third base, and Sherwood Magee and Mickey Doolan at second base. All the throws were direct except the one catching Doolan, on which Honus Wagner handled the relay to Jack Miller.

IF THE HOODOO numeral doesn't trip up the A's in Detroit today and cause them to stumble at the thirteenth hurdle after winning an even dozen games in succession, 10 of them away from home, the world champions will gain the distinction of having gone through an entire western trip without losing a game. Today's event will wind up the tour, and the Mackmen so far are unbeaten on the jaunt, having won four games in Cleveland, three in Chicago, one in St. Louis and two in Detroit. The first two victories in their string of 12 were scored over the Red Sox in Philadelphia. George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove are now playing their usual star parts in the Machian proceedings. In the last two games they held Detroit runless and allowed a total of only five hits in 18 innings, all singles.

ANOTHER GOOD FOOTBALL prospect for some future teams at Duquesne University is headed for the Bluff institution from Brookfield (O.) High School. He is George Rado, a four-year letter man in the gridiron sport at the latter school. He will enter Duquesne the coming fall.



George Rado

Rado led the Brookfield High elevens of 1929 and 1930 to Trumbull County interscholastic honors. He weighs 180 pounds and has had experience as a high school gridder in both the backfield and the line. He is considered likely to shine on the Duke freshman team next fall and to win a place on the varsity eleven later.

MOST BASEBALL PLAYERS who hold out for salary increases in the spring are glad to sign in the end when they realize they can't make nearly as much money in any other business. But there was one who remained firm in a holdout, ran it into a million dollars.

That's the story Sid Mercer tells of Harry Harper, who went to the Yankees as a left-hand pitcher from the Red Sox in 1921, with Wally Schang, Waite Hoyt and Mike McNally in exchange for Derrill Pratt, Muddy Ruel, Herb Thormahlen and Sam Vick. A year later Harper quit the game because his demand for a larger salary was refused.

THE PITCHER WENT into the garage and trucking business with his brother in Passaic, N. J., and it wasn't long until the venture grew into a big enterprise. The two branched out into the contracting line and within five years were operating the biggest fleet of trucks in New Jersey. Harry went into politics and was elected sheriff of Bergen County. Last fall the brothers disposed of their trucking business in a big merger, and Harry came out with a cool million. Now he is running for the office of state senator, and his friends predict that he will one day be governor of New Jersey. From a Yankee pitcher at 27 to a millionaire and statesman at 36 is progressing some.

THE FAILURE OF George Voigt, America's last hope in the British amateur championship golf tournament, to get past the fifth round, in which he was eliminated by Syd Roper, 1 up, adds evidence to the huge stack piled up in the past that this is one of the toughest titles to win in any division of sports.

It takes an exceptional golfer in exceptional form to survive a string of two 18-hole matches daily for five days and then come through in the 36-hole final on Saturday. It was not until 1904 that the tourney was won by a player from across the seas—Walter J. Travis, born in Australia. The only native Americans to win it were Jess Sweetser in 1926 and Bobby Jones in 1930.

AMONG THE LARGE number of old Queensberry acquaintances met by Jack Johnson during his visit to Los Angeles, Jim Jeffries was the only one who did not greet him cordially. Jack offered to pose with that other former heavyweight champion for photographers, but Jeff refused, and incidentally made some uncomplimentary remarks about Johnson.

John L. Hernon

"It's just ignorance on Jeffries' part," commented Jack. "That's just all it is. I told him at Reno that he was a big joke, and I still mean it." When informed as to what Johnson had said, Jeffries' only response was "to hell with him."

THE OUTDOOR BOXING season in the Pittsburgh district will be in full swing after tonight. Following the opening of Meyers Bowl in North Braddock last Monday, the other Allegheny County club that is to operate in the open during the summer will stage its inaugural show tonight at Hickey Park Bowl in Millvale, with a bantamweight natural between Willie Davies and Jimmy Thomas featuring an attractive program. The regular weekly Thursday night glove shows in Millvale this season will be conducted on a vastly improved scale in a plant that has been remodeled and enlarged. John L. Hernon, who has managed Motor Square Garden efficiently and successfully for several years, is heading the reorganized Millvale club, for his first outdoor venture, and under his capable supervision the outlook is for good matchmaking, appealing cards and the best season in general that Hickey Park has yet known.

SHIELDS, WOOD TO OPPOSE CANUCKS

MONTREAL, May 21.—(AP.)—The United States and Canada open their Davis Cup battle for the final honors in the North American zone today with two young New Yorkers opposing a veteran pair of Canadian players in the opening singles matches.

True to the predictions based on half a week of practice matches here, Bernon S. Prentice, nonplaying captain of the United States team, selected Frank X. Shields and Sydney B. Wood, Jr., while Alan C. Dunlop, who holds the same position on the Canadian team, chose Dr. Jack A. Wright, of Toronto, and Marcel Rainville, of Montreal. The draw for today's two matches sends Shields against Canada's No. 1 player, Dr. Wright, and Wood against Rainville.

The matches will continue through tomorrow and Saturday, the winner of the best three out of five winning the right to meet Argentina, South American zone victor, in the American final. It is considered a strong possibility today that the same players would take part in all the matches for the two countries.

Wood and Shields, who were members of the United States team which defeated Mexico in the opening round of North American zone play, are considered stronger and more finished players than their rivals, but Canada's supporters are by no means discouraged. Wright and Rainville went through a highly successful campaign in the South last winter and come into their first Davis Cup matches in far better trim than they have been in previous years.

Angus S. Cassils, of Montreal, a former Davis Cup captain, was appointed official referee for the series.

HELEN JACOBS, LOTT BEATEN

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Auteuil, France, May 21.—(AP.)—The hopes of one American pair highly favored to win one of the French hard courts tennis championships faded out today as Doris Metaxa and Antoine Gentien decisively defeated Helen Jacobs and George Lott in the quarter-finals of the mixed doubles, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Neither Lott nor the California girl could get their strokes to working after the first set. Lott erred frequently and Miss Jacobs netted continually and served several double faults.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian, and Cilly Aussem, German's ranking woman tennis player, today advanced to the semi-finals of the women's doubles. They defeated Mrs. Phyllis Statterthwaite and Muriel Thomas, of England, 6-4, 6-2.

They were joined in the semi-final round by the English team of Eileen Bennett Whittingstall and Betty Nuthall, and the Franco-Spanish combination of Mme. Mathieu and Senorieta De Alvarez.

Miss Nuthall and Mrs. Whittingstall defeated Doris Metaxa and Collette Rosambert, 6-4, 6-2, and Mme. Mathieu and Senorita De Alvarez defeated Mrs. R. E. Haylock and Joan Ridley, the English combination, 7-5, 7-5.

CRAFTON VICTOR

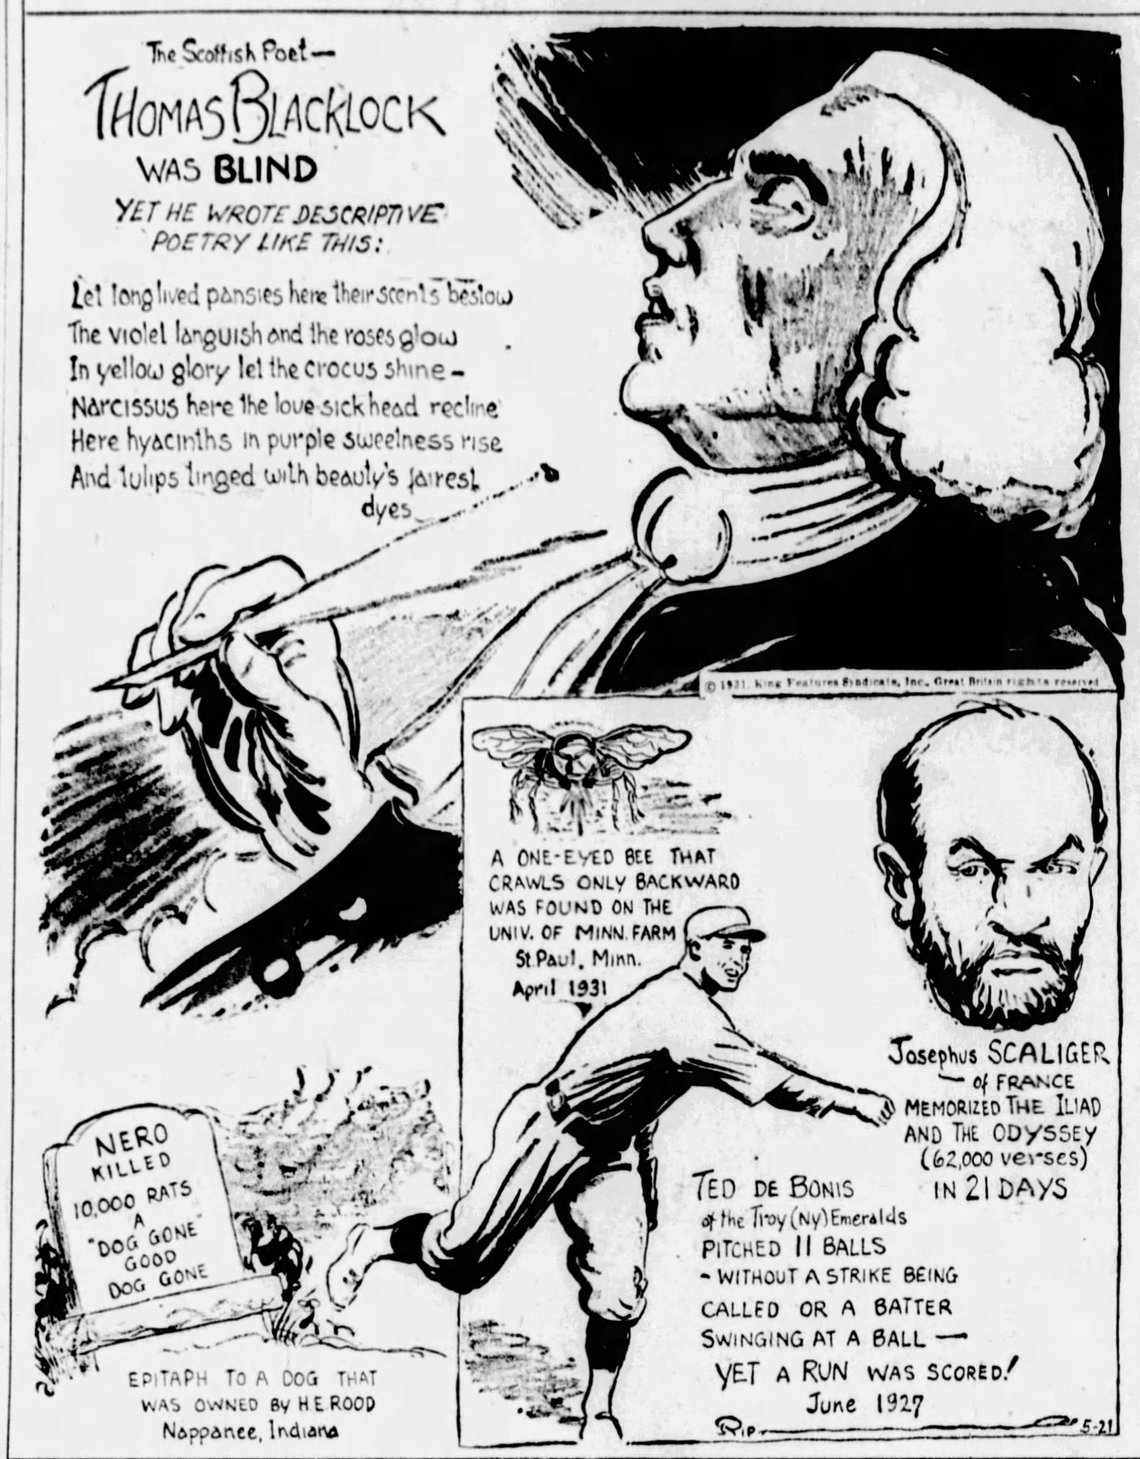
The Crafton High School tennis team defeated Carrick High yesterday, 4 to 3 on the Crafton courts.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

(Reg. by U. S. Patent Office)

By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)



EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: WILLIAM ELPHICH—While Elphich was a resident of Chiddingly, East Sussex, England, he indulged his fancy for his curiously prolonged ringing of a bell at Hailsham, about four miles away. He had a church bell rung continuously over his head for 8,766 hours. The history of Mr. Elphich's curious record is contained in Thomas Haines' "Parrish of Sussex." THE REPTILE BIRD—The Australian Jungle Fowl, belonging to the class of Mound Builders (Megapodidae), builds a huge mound for a nest. Within this mound the eggs are left to be hatched by the heat which the decay of vegetable matter generates within. The young escape by digging through the side of the mound. They are well developed, fully feathered and able to fly the minute they leave the egg. THE PHENOMENON OF EAST LAKE—A peculiar condition, which is locally called "The Paradox," exists in the southwestern section of Lake Placid, N. Y., where a tide ebbs and flows during the day—although the lake has no direct connection with the sea. This phenomenon is so regular, and its force so great, that it is dangerous when covered with ice during the winter.

TOMORROW: THE MAN WHO HAD A GOLDEN NOSE.

VICTOR OVER VOIGT LOSES

WESTWARD HO! Devon, England, May 21.—John De Forest, son of a British baron, and Eric Martin-Smith, young Cambridge undergraduate, won their way to the final of the British amateur golf championship over the Westward Ho! course today.

De Forest, a pupil of Horton Smith, brilliant Missourian, defeated William Tulloch, a Glasgow businessman, 1 up. Martin-Smith eliminated Dr. John MacCormack, of Dublin, by the same score. Both matches ended on the eighteenth green.

In the quarter-final round, this morning, De Forest scored a 2-and-1 victory over Sydney Roper, young British insurance agent, who, yesterday swept the tournament clear of American contestants by eliminating George Voigt, of New York, 1 up.

In other quarter-final round matches Tulloch defeated Capt. H. C. C. Tippet, 2 and 1, and Martin-Smith eliminated Peter Miller, 2 and 1.

Suhr to Rejoin Pirates Tomorrow

Gus Suhr, Pirate first baseman, who has been out of the game since May 2 on account of a leg injury, is ready to get back in the lineup. He will leave tomorrow night for Chicago to rejoin the Bucs, and probably will be at his old post on Saturday in the opening game of the series against the Cubs, George Grantham returning to second base and Bill Regan going to the bench.

THOMAS SIGNS STAR

Joe Saltic, veteran sandlot pitcher, has been added to the roster of the J. L. Thomas Club, of the City League.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Jimmy Bradley, young southpaw pitcher, of the South Side, who had a tryout with the Wichita Club, of the Western League, and returned home recently to join the Charleroi club, of the Mid-Atlantic League, claims he didn't get a very good deal with Wichita . . . He was with the club throughout the training season and for the first 11 games of the regular schedule and didn't get an opportunity to pitch except in batting practice . . . He feels he could have made the grade out there if given a chance and plans to bear down and make his mark in the Mid-Atlantic circuit . . . Ben Bright, swimming and golf enthusiast, thinks the best thing that has happened in sports here in a long time is the introduction of golf into the high schools.

Henri DeGlane, who took over whatever claim Strangler Lewis may have had to the world heavyweight wrestling championship when the latter was disqualified for biting him in a bout in Montreal (the Strangler claims DeGlane bit himself and pulled a fast one on him) has recovered in a Boston hospital from blood poisoning said to have developed from the bite . . . Proving that, after all that has been said on the subject, a wrestler's bite does not necessarily lead to hydrophobia.

Speaking of the rasslers, this fellow Aurelia (Ray) Fabiani, the demon promoter, of Philadelphia and Boston, who will have a part in future shows here as co-promoter with Arthur Sharkey at Hickey Park, has had a colorful career . . . He first broke into the game on a small scale in Philadelphia about 10 years ago and has developed the sport there to the point where he has drawn gates of upwards of $30,000 and is one of the big shots and master minds of the racket . . . He is an Italian-American, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he studied medicine, and a

GRIMES DRAWS SUSPENSION

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP.)—Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitching star of the champion St. Louis Cardinals, today was fined $50 and suspended for three days by John A. Heydler, president of the National League, for disorderly action in the game with Brooklyn yesterday.

President Heydler also issued a warning to Clyde Wares, Cardinal coach, for his action in protesting a decision at second base. The league executive, however, did not discipline Manager Gabby Street, who was ejected from the game in the first inning for objecting too strongly to a decision by Umpire McGrew.

Grimes was punished for a succession of arguments with Umpire Charles Moran, who banished the pitcher from Ebbets Field after stopping the game five times to issue warnings. Grimes alternated between the bench and the bullpen in annoying the arbiter.

WASHINGTON WITHDRAWS

Washington High, winner of the W. P. I. A. L. at the Stadium last Saturday, will not compete in the state championships at Altoona this Saturday. Connellsville will take the place of the Little Presidents.

JOE KIRKWOOD, TURNESA LOSE

LEEDS, England, May 21.—(AP.)—Percy Allis, British professional, today defeated Joe Turnesa in the second round of the $5,000 Leeds professional tournament, 3 and 2. Turnesa won the tournament in 1929, and was medalist this year with 138.

Allis, who is pro at a Berlin club, had a flying stretch of 3 on the first nine, which he turned 4 up, and never gave Turnesa a chance.

Tony Manero, Turnesa's clubmate from Elmsford, N. Y., won his second round match from Reginald Whitcombe, 5 and 4. He will met Allis in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Joe Kirkwood, American trick shot star, was eliminated in the first round this morning. He was beaten by A. R. Bradber, 5 and 3.

Turnesa defeated A. J. Young, of Essex, 5 and 4, and Manero defeated W. T. Twine, of Bromley, Kent, 4 and 3, in the first round.

Lew Fonseca Delayed By Son's Illness

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—The mystery of the non-appearance of Lew Fonseca in a White Sox uniform since he was traded by Cleveland for Willie Kamm, has been solved.

Fonseca was in Chicago today ready to go to work, having delayed his departure from Cleveland because of the illness of his son, which necessitated a surgical operation.

BOXER SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—(AP.)—The state athletic commission yesterday suspended indefinitely Eddie Brink, boxer of Scranton, for participating in unlicensed boxing clubs in New York.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—The third and final game of the Pirate-Philly series, scheduled for this afternoon, was called off on account of wet grounds. Heavy rains of this morning were still in progress at noon, but the home management was eager to stage the battle and it did not make its decision until after mid-day.

The canceled contest will be played off as a part of a double-header at the Baker Bowl, Monday, August 17.

HEAD FOR WEST

Immediately after receiving the news of the postponement, Secretary Sam Watters, of the Pirates, changed his travel plans. The Pittsburghers were due to leave here tonight for Fort Wayne, there to be transferred to automobiles for a jaunt to Huntington, Ind., where the Pirates are slated to play an exhibition game tomorrow.

Watters arranged with the railroad people for an earlier getaway, the Freebooters leaving the city late this afternoon.

A three-game series with the Cubs is slated to get under way on Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates took another on the button yesterday. After amassing a seven-run lead over the Phillies, their own defenses folded up and Buzz Arlett socked two homers over the bandbox fence to turn the game. Don Hurst's double with the bases loaded in the eighth won for the Quakers, 11 to 7.

KREMER LIFTED

The Buccos were held to one scratch single in the last five rounds, by Ben Shields, a big southpaw, who once had a tryout with the Yankees. Remy Kremer started well, but lost his stuff and had to retire. Glenn Spencer went to the mound in the seventh with a one-run lead. Arlett's second homer tied up the game.

The Buccos had the bases jammed in the eighth with one out, but failed to score. Claude Willoughby got into action just in time to sustain a defeat at the hands of his former buddies, Tommy Thevenow was benched in favor of Ben Sankey who made two hits, including a double. Biss Regan connected for a homer. Southpaw Stewart Bolen started for the Phillies, but was shelled off the hill.

MAX WELCOMED AT CONNEAUT

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., May 21.—(AP.)—Crawford County extended official welcome last night to Max Schmeling, of Germany, the heavyweight boxing champion.

The champion arrived here for the start of training for his titular contest with W. L. (Young) Stribling at Cleveland on July 3.

Several hundred business and professional men and devotees of the manly art from this locality gathered at Hotel Conneaut and, over a dinner served in German style, greeted the gladiator.

DAVIES BOXES THOMAS IN MILLVALE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

A young Negro boxer goes into the ring at Hickey Park, Millvale, tonight, with everything to gain and nothing to lose against an opponent who has everything to lose and little, if anything, to gain.

The party of the first part is Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, and the party of the second part Willie Davies, of Charleroi, veteran flyweight and bantamweight star.

A year ago, Willie Davies the mere mention of a Davies-Thomas match would have drawn titters from the fans, because Thomas then was just a struggling preliminary boy, while Davies was competing against the stars of the wee classes. Since then, Davies has slowed down and slipped a bit, while Thomas has been coming along in fine style, improving his boxing and sharpening his hitting.

OPENER FOR ARENA

A victory for Thomas tonight will make him a card in these parts and spread his fame around the country. At the same time, it will chip a piece out of Davies' prestige. A victory for Davies, on the other hand, will cost Thomas nothing, as he is young and bidding for fame and will have other chances if he misses this one.

The pair are in the main bout of the opening show of the outdoor season at Hickey Park. The Meyers, Bowl, in North Braddock, pried off the lid on the outdoor sport last Monday night.

GOLD VS. BUTCH AGAIN

Marty Gold, of Philadelphia, and Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw bantamweight, box a return bout in the eight-round semifinal, Gold having stopped Butch recently at the Moose Temple. Nordi Smith, Negro middleweight, of Newark, O., meets Carl Montebano, of Braddock, in the second bout, and Terry Waner, of the North Side, clashes with Joey Katkish, of Lawrenceville, in the opener, at 8:30.

Announcement was made today that the club has established downtown ticket headquarters at Spalding's.

BRANNON SEEKS GIZZY BOUT

Mike Ray, of the Hill, manager of Eddie Brannon, local Negro lightweight boxer, is all het up over the fact that anyone should think of signing Battling Gizzy, the Donora whirlwind, as the next opponent of Jack (Kid) Berg, former junior-welterweight champion, here, following Berg's easy victory over Ray Kiser at the Meyers Bowl last Monday night.

"Why doesn't Gizzy fight Brannon for the right to meet Berg?" Ray wants to know. "We have been trying to get a match with Gizzy for more than a year, and he won't fight Brannon. I am all in favor of having Brannon fight Gizzy, and, if Gizzy wins, we will step aside and let him go on to the Berg fight without any further protest."

Kiser recently defeated Brannon at the Moose Temple in a hard fight, but Ray says the point is that Gizzy has been sidestepping his Eddie. Brannon has fought Eddie Anderson, Joey Goodman, Frankie Chatterton and Chet Smallwood, among others. His manager's suggestion that he fight Gizzy for the right to meet Berg here sounds reasonable enough and may draw a nibble from the promoters.

Between Rounds

The Meyers Bowl card for next Monday night is complete with the exception of the semi-final. Buck McTiernan and Tommy Freeman, former welterweight champion, box the 10-round main bout. Benny Goldblatt, of the Hill, and formerly of Chicago, meets Angelo Verzione, of Swissvale, in the second bout, and Young Bordell, of New Kensington, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, are in the opener.

Johnny Windsor, light-heavyweight, of Herron Hill, is back home from Florida and may join up as a sparring partner of Max Schmeling in the latter's preparations at Conneaut Lake, Pa., for his title bout with Young Stribling in Cleveland, July 3.

Tony Galento, Newark (N. J.) heavyweight hope, boxes Jack Dorval at Detroit tomorrow night. In other bouts on the card, all six-rounders, Charley Long boxes Dog Conrad, Carlo Mazzola meets Johnny Mitchell and Tony Tassi engages Sergio Radam.

Midget Mike O'Dowd boxes Hymie Wiseman and Johnny Jadick meets Wesley Ramey in preliminaries to the Gorilla Jones-Bucky Lawless bout in the Chicago Stadium next Monday night.

Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, makes his first appearance since he was knocked out by Bushy Graham in Columbus some weeks ago when he battles Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in Memphis, June 6.

Babe Triscaro, national amateur featherweight champion, makes his professional debut against Al Paul, of Buffalo, brother of Tommy Paul, in the main bout of a show in Cleveland tomorrow night. Lope Tenorio boxes Billy Wallace in Cleveland next Monday night.

Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion, will receive a guarantee of $55,000 if he loses his title to Fidel LaBarba in their bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, tomorrow night. This is more money than any show has netted in the Garden this year and means that LaBarba, if successful in his title quest, will be fighting for mere training expenses.

YEAR 1928 1929 1930 1931

OCTANE RATING 72

METHOD OF MEASURING ANTI-KNOCK VALUE OF MOTOR FUEL

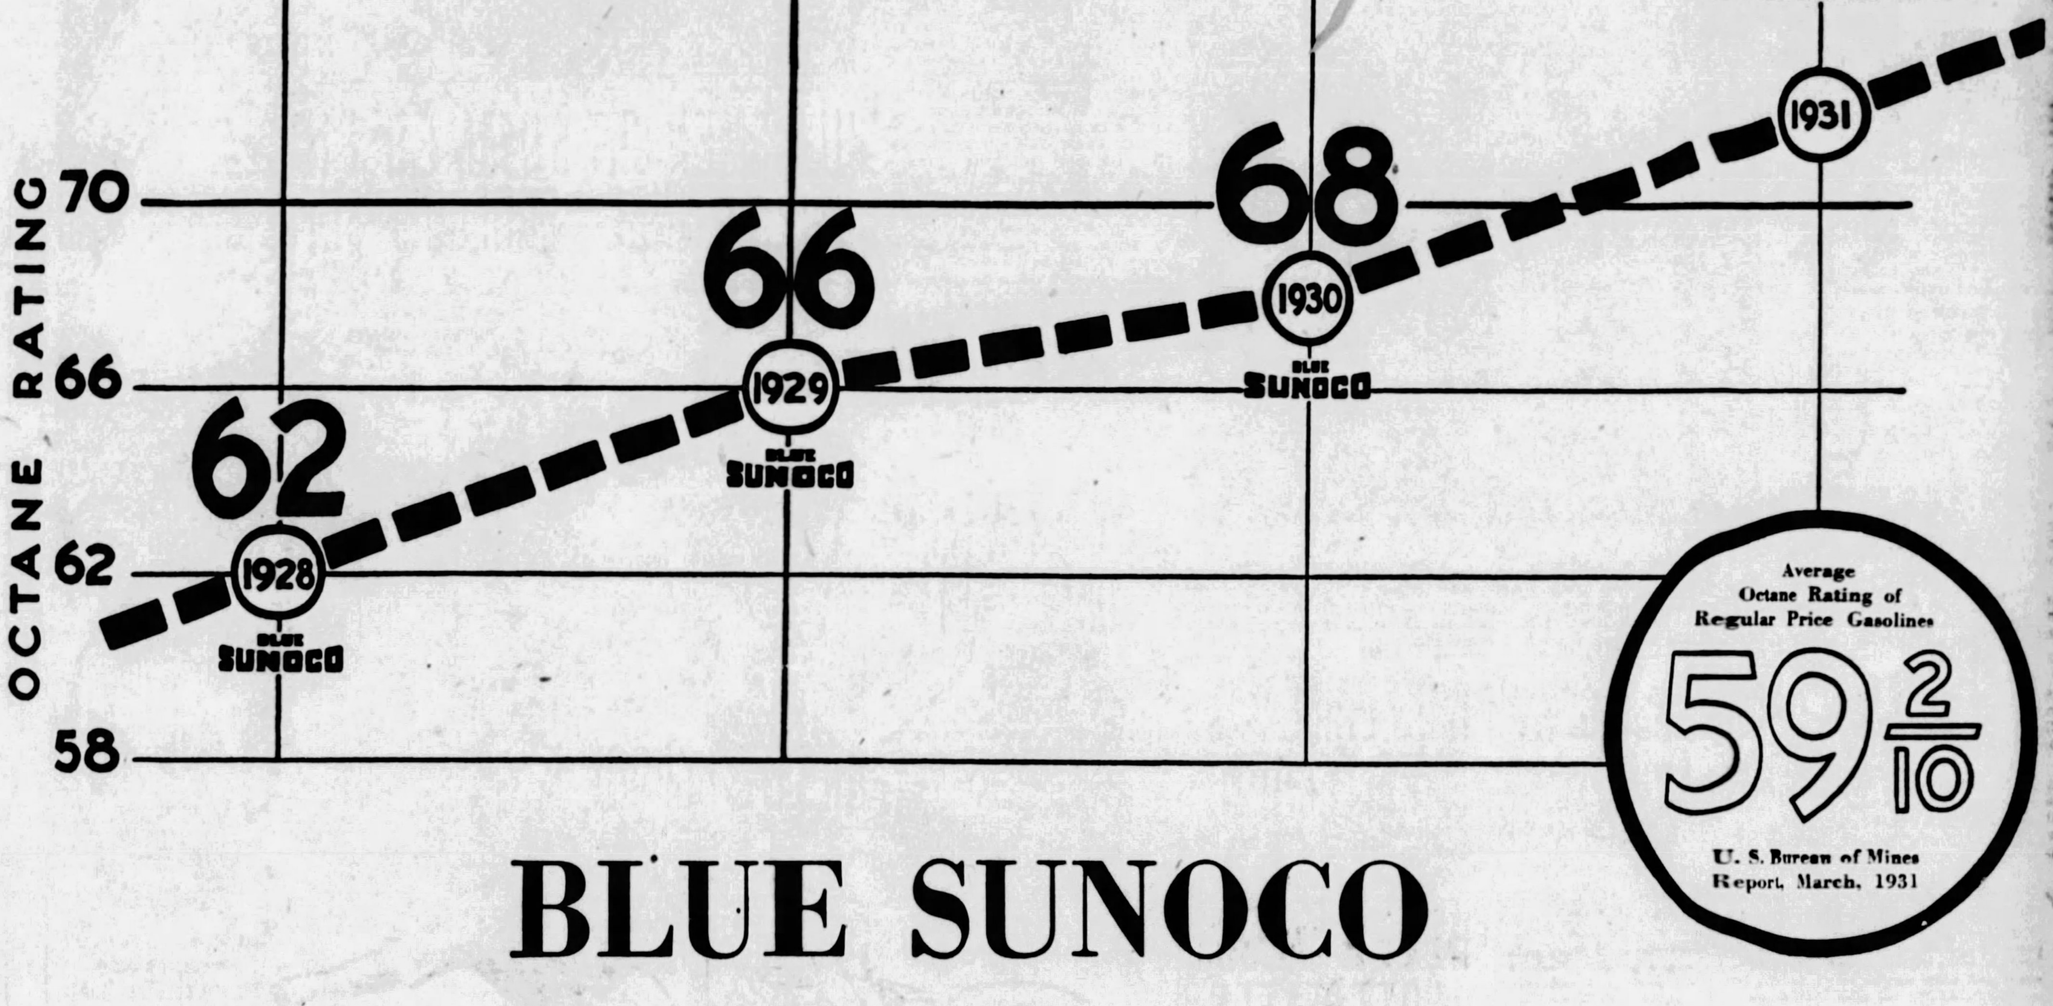
BLUE SUNOCO 1931



BLUE SUNOCO

Steps up its Knockless Rating . . . . .

Keeping Ahead of Motor Requirements

BLUE SUNOCO was the first knockless motor fuel to sell at regular gas price. Today it leads the procession as it always has.

Authorities agree that gasoline over 70 octane rating is essential for modern motors. Premium priced fuels substantiate this fact by having an average octane rating of 73 7/10 (U. S. Bureau of Mines Report, March, 1931).

This premium rating of BLUE SUNOCO, which in and around this city has advisedly been held at 72+, proves it is a high powered, knockless, quality motor fuel.

How OCTANE RATING Is Determined

INTO the head of the testing motor is placed the Midgely Bouncing Pin, a scientific instrument which forms an electrical contact when the motor knocks.

The motor is run on the gasoline whose octane rating is to be measured. The load on the motor is increased until the dial registers knocking.

Without stopping the motor, the gasoline is cut off, and the motor is run, with the same load, on a mixture of octane and heptane.

Different mixtures are tried until the dial again registers knocking. The percentage of octane in the mixture in use at that time is the octane rating of the gasoline.

Octane is a fluid costing $25.00 a gallon. Running on octane, a motor cannot be made to knock. Heptane is another costly liquid. Using heptane, however, a motor knocks violently.

Therefore, the higher the percentage of octane in the mixture of octane and heptane, which matches the gasoline being tested, the better is the knockless performance and the higher is the octane rating of that gasoline.

BLUE SUNOCO
THE ONLY TRUE BLUE

BLUE SUNOCO will not make gum deposits in any motor, neither will any other good gasoline.

By TOM BIRKS

Some attractive games are listed for this evening on the local sandlots in the three leading leagues. Linwood travels to West Field to meet Jack Fertig's undefeated Homestead Aces in the West Penn. This game should attract a banner crowd. The Aces are playing to fine crowds, again proving the popularity of Jack Fertig's fighting Aces.

Rieck-McJunkins will oppose the Joseph Horne nine at Magee Field in the C. & I. loop, and since Eddie Imhoff was all set to work at Library last evening, it can be assumed that the Sharpsburg boy will get the assignment against Sam Craig's entry.

CIVICS, THOMAS MEET

Only one game will be staged in the City League, the North Side Civics, who seem to be having the worst season in the history of the club, meeting the J. L. Thomas nine at Bloomfield. Dave Black will have to start to clean house and instill some pep into that crowd, for the Civics have the reputation of being the spunkiest club in the district.

In the Steel City loop, the Snee Dairy nine meets the DePasquale Club, which, by the way, is leading the loop. Manager Grabowski will take his D. J. Broderick Club to Hays Borough to meet the Caruso team.

In the Minor League, Melrose goes to Brookline to hook up with the Brookline Cardinals.

INAUGURAL SPOILED

The elaborate ceremonies planned for the opening of the home season by the Pittsburgh Coal nine at Library last evening were spoiled by rain. Officials of the company, Honus Wagner and other celebrities were on hand, but after the Rieck-McJunkin nine had finished its infield practice, the rain was descending with such force that the contest was postponed. It will be played next Monday.

HACK ON SHELF; FINGER HURT

BOSTON, May 21.—(AP.)—Hack Wilson is out of the Chicago Cubs lineup because of an injured finger, Riggs Stephenson took his place yesterday.

Wilson received the injury Tuesday when he hit his right hand against the fence chasing Wally Berger's second triple of the game, which ended with the Cubs losing its sixth of seven eastern starts.

Manager Rogers Hornsby said Wilson will be back "in a day or so."

"Lately they've been printing a lot of hokum about dissension on the Cubs," Hornsby said, "and particularly about Hack Wilson not getting along with me. The truth is that Wilson, finding himself in a batting slump, has been trying too hard and he is content to stay out until his finger heals."

City Schools Hold Novice Meets Today

Three novice track and field meets are scheduled for local high schools today. Allderdice, Baxter, Gladstone, Liberty, Peabody and Westinghouse, members of Section I, clash at Westinghouse.

Carrick, Knoxville, Langley, Overbrook, South and South Hills, Section III members, compete at Langley, while Allegheny, Vocational, Latimer, Oliver and Perry meet at Oliver in the Section IV event.

1,127 ENTER U. S. OPEN

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP.)—Entries for the National open golf championship this year fell 50 short of the 1930 total, but 1,127 players are hopeful of winning places in the tournament at Toledo July 2. That number of entries was received before the lists closed on Tuesday, Prescott S. Bush, secretary of the United States Golf Association, announced.

Sectional qualifying tests will be held in 20 districts on June 8 to cut down this list.

CLAIRTON BEATEN

Turtle Creek Union High won over Clairton in a dual track and field meet yesterday afternoon by a score of 61 to 52. Anweiler, of Turtle Creek, won both the 220 and 440-yard sprints.

LANG'LEY ON TOP

Langley High defeated Dormont in a dual track and field meet yesterday afternoon 85 1-3 to 21 2-3.

MRS. PRICE WINS AT ALLEGHENY

Mrs. J. Raymond Price, of Oakmont, the first Western Pennsylvania women's champion, won the honors in the inaugural one-day tournament of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, held over a windy course at the Allegheny Country Club yesterday. Mrs. Price scored 42-45—87 to ring up the only tally under 90. Her net was 81.

Some of the best women stars of the district fell under the strain of using the new lighter and larger ball against a strong headwind, and, as in the case of the South Hills tourney, the scoring was abnormally high.

Mary Kuhn, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, was second in the first division with a 93 gross and a net 85. Such stars as Mrs. Frank E. Campbell, of Stanton Heights, West Penn woman champ, who recorded a gross 93; Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, former titlist, with a 93; Anjeanette Hunter, of Oakmont, with 94, and Mrs. L. G. Riley, of Edgewood, 93, failed to make the grade.

Mrs. Nanson Thomas copped in the second flight with a net 82, and Mrs. G. G. O'Brien won in the third division with a net 79.

SANSTOL BEATS ARCHIE BELL

MONTREAL, May 21.—(AP.)—Pete Sanstol, Norwegian boxer who makes his home here, won the recognition of the Montreal athletic commission as world bantamweight champion by defeating Archie Bell, of New York, in a fast 10-round fight at the Forum last night.

In the 10-round semi-final, Roger Bernard, of Flint, Mich., received a technical knockout over Al (Rube) Goldberg, New York lightweight, when Goldberg's seconds tossed a towel into the ring in the sixth round.

Padoubney, Steel Headline Mat Show

The headline match at the first open-air wrestling show of the season at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Tuesday night, will bring together a giant American and a big Russian, according to an announcement today by Arthur E. Sharkey, working in conjunction with Ray Fabiana, Philadelphia promoter, in the operation of the Pittsburgh Wrestling Club.

The principals in the event—one fall to a finish—will be Ray Steele, of California, and John Padoubney, of Russia. Steele is not unknown in Pittsburgh. He appeared on the final indoor card at the Motor Square Garden against Dan Delaun, also a West Coast product, and won.

There will be another finish match and three time limit bouts of 30 minutes each on Tuesday's program.

CHURCHILL DOWNS MUTUELS

PARKS VICTOR IN P. G. A. TOURNEY

Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, captain of the University of Pittsburgh golf team, and the only member of that squad skillful enough to win consistently against his collegiate opponents, came through yesterday to win the low gross honors in the first Pennsylvania Golf Association tournament, staged over the South Hills Country Club. Sam registered 74, and was one of only four who were able to break 80 over that wind-swept and rain-drenched layout.

W. E. (Bill) Donahue, of South Hills, one of the newer stars of our district's satillites, came through with a 77 for runner-up honors in the low gross fight, while Maurice (Ski) LeBosquet, of Highland, former West Penn amateur champion, and Joseph I. Crawford, of Oakmont, who always is near the top in any district major tourney, each recorded 78. H. F. Miller, Jr., of Montour Heights, former Edgewood star, had an even 80 for his round and almost broke into the select circle.

Two South Hills men grabbed the low net individual honors, K. D. Eskey and John Bain deadlocking at 68.

The best ball match play against par for partners top honors went to Parks and George W. Snodgrass, a clubmate, who were 6 up on the Colonel, with three-fourths handicap prevailing.

It was one of the most unusual days in local golf from a standpoint of weather conditions. A terrific wind sent the new ball skyward in the morning, it calmed more or less in the afternoon, but a light rain was interspersed with the sunshine, and with evening a steady, cold rain, and a heavier wind took its place.

COUNTY FAIRS DATES SET

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 21.—The times and places for holding 59 county fairs and exhibitions have been compiled by the Bureau of Statistics, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The fair season covers a period of approximately 10 weeks, with two fairs opening August 12, one at Ford City, Armstrong County, and the other at Fawn Grove, York County. The last fair is scheduled for Oil City, in Venango County, beginning October 19.

During 1930, approximately 70 county fairs were held in the commonwealth. Almost 2,000,000 people were in attendance and a total of $225,000 was paid in premiums to exhibitors.

The preliminary 1931 schedule of all fairs reporting to the department follows:

Denmark, Poland Split Cup Duels

COPENHAGEN, May 21.—(AP.)—Denmark and Poland split honors yesterday in the third round European zone Davis Cup play, each winning one singles match.

J. Tiszynski, of Poland, defeated Einar Ulrich, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, while P. Henriksen, of Denmark, beat J. Hebda, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

RAIN HALTS 'CATS

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., May 21.—(AP.)—Rain halted a baseball game here yesterday between Marshall College and West Virginia Wesleyan in the first half of the sixth inning with the score tied at 3-3. Two were retired in Marshall's half of the inning when the downpour came.

Fight Results

At Montreal—Pete Sanstol defeated Archie Bell, 10 rounds; Robert Paulhus won by technical knockout over Freddie Smith, 3 rounds; George Sidders defeated Johnny Heistrom, 6 rounds; Harry Leibowitz defeated Harry Hill, 6 rounds; Roger Bernard won by technical knockout over Al (Rube) Goldberg, 5 rounds.

HILLSMEN GET TITLE CHANCE

South Hills won the right to meet Oliver in a playoff game for the Section II baseball title in the City League yesterday by slugging out a 9-to-5 victory over Allegheny in a postponed game.

The Tunnelites made eight hits account for nine runs, four Allegheny errors playing important roles in the scoring. Allegheny garnered only three hits from the combined deliveries of two South Hills pitchers.

In Section I, Peabody lost to Connelley in another postponed fray, 4 to 1. Meteff missed a no-hit game by a single blow, Davis, Peabody second baseman, cracking a single.

McKees Rocks punched its way to the Section I, W. P. I. A. L. title, defeating Crafton 8 to 5. The Rox team will meet McKeesport in a semi-final round game.

GRADE SCHOOL MEET TODAY

Section I teams of the city grade schools will compete in a district track and field meet at Schenley High School's field today. The teams that will compete today include Franklin, Madison, Miller, Minersville, Rose, Moorhead, Penn, McKelvey, Soho and Watt. All are from the Central and East End districts.

Next Tuesday, the Section II schools will clash, with Section III meeting Thursday. The South Side district holds its meet June 1, with the North Side affair scheduled for June 3.

The championship meet, which will include the 46 schools having seventh and eighth grades, will be held June 9.

MRS. MANVILLE LEADER IN GOLF PLAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Mrs. Clay Manville was setting the pace among the early finishers in the 18-hole medal play event under full handicap, the opening tourney of the season for the women at St. Clair Country Club today.

Mrs. Manville had a gross of 107 and a handicap of 21 to give her a net of 86. This was one stroke better than Mrs. W. E. Clark. The scores:

Mrs. Clay Manville	107-21	86
Mrs. W. E. Clark	121-34	87
Helen Wilson	135-47	88
Mrs. Clara Gould	108-20	88
Mrs. Thomas Griffin	118-29	89
Mrs. H. A. Wilk	127-38	89
Mrs. J. Y. Chidester	132-42	90
Mrs. A. B. Pruitt	109-17	92
Mrs. T. H. Lehner	154-45	109

Other competition on today's bill includes mixed foursomes for members at Shannopin, and a dinner match at Greensburg.

Dr. John Day Garvin, chairman of the house committee at the Edgewood Country Club, has announced that the beautiful new locker room will be formally opened with a dinner dance Saturday night.

Two school tilts are carded tomorrow in the Interscholastic Golf Conference, Langley High playing at Kiski in Section I and Bellevue traveling to Carrick in Section II.

Two-ball mixed foursomes are to be held at the Pittsburgh Field Club tomorrow. Saturday and Sunday events will mark the opening tournament play at the Summit golf links, near Uniontown.

St. Clair has carded its opening dinner match, between the Red and Blue teams, for Saturday. C. H. Bond will captain the Blues and A. C. Dyer the Reds. The winning teams will be guests of the losers at dinner at 6 o'clock.

Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis and John Jay Burke, city office manager for the parks, this morning reviewed the motion pictures of the dedication of the South Park links last Friday.

OLD RED STAR DIES

STOCKTON, Cal., May 21.—(AP.)—J. Raleigh Johnson, aged 40 years, former third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, died here Tuesday, a victim of appendicitis.

GIANTS OVERHAUL CARDS IN FLAG CHASE

MACKMEN RUN WIN STRING TO 12 GAMES

Associated Press.

The New York Giants had a just complaint today against the compiler of baseball's handy reference book. The volume in question is a compact, paper-backed affair that tells you at a glance what club is leading the race.

And what has that to do with the Giants? Just this. Up to yesterday afternoon they figured, on the face of things, to be just a half-game behind the St. Louis Cardinals. It looked that way. Then they went out and took the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 0, and the Cardinals obligingly lost to Brooklyn, 5 to 4.

That put the McGraw clan out in front and pulled the Cards from the top of the National League for the first time this season. That is, it did until the ready reckoner was consulted. It shows that the league champs, though superficially a half-game behind, actually still are leading the league by four percentage points today. Hence the Giants' chagrin.

BERLY HURLS WELL

Although they fell short of their goal, the McGrawmen gained solace in the brilliant pitching of John Berly, recruit from Rochester, who set Cincinnati down with five scattered hits and cinched himself a place as a starting pitcher.

The Cards went down fighting. They rallied in the seventh and ninth innings to tie the count at 4-all, only to see their efforts wasted when the Robins nicked Bill Hallahan for the winning run in the last of the ninth.

Buzz Arlett, husky recruit from the Coast, poled his eighth and ninth homers of the year as the Phillies came from behind in the late innings to take their second straight from Pittsburgh, 11 to 7.

Four runs in the first inning off Frankhouse and McAfee gave the Chicago Cubs a lead that was never overcome as they squared their series at Boston, 7 to 5.

GROVE BRILLIANT

Not to be outdone by his side partner, George Earnshaw, who shut out Detroit with two hits the previous day, Lefty Grove allowed only three blows and gave the Tigers another whitewashing, 3 to 0. It ran the Athletics' winning streak to 12.

The Washington Senators made only three hits off Pat Caraway, but turned them into a 2-to-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Urban Pickering's two homers did not prevent the Boston Red Sox losing an 8-to-4 decision to the St. Louis Browns.

TARTAN, W.-J. NETMEN TIE

The Carnegie Tech and Wash-Jeff varsity teams wound up in a 3-3 tie in the dual match at Washington yesterday, rain forcing a halt in the proceedings with the Wash-Jeff doubles pair of Horner and Prodfit leading McCloskey and Groves, of Tech, 12-10.

TRIO OF AUTO RACES CARDED

Three automobile races are scheduled in the Pittsburgh district on Memorial Day, Saturday of next week.

They are at the Bridgeville Speedway, Monongahela and Junction Park, New Brighton. The New Brighton tracks announced its plans today.

Races also are scheduled at Junction Park Saturday of this week.

W. A. Brown, of Crafton, and Hen Langer, of Turtle Creek, are the two latest entrants in the Monongahela race.

Smith to Attend Morrison Funeral

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 21.—(AP.)—Coach Art Smith, Mountaineer track mentor, will represent West Virginia University at the funeral of Okey Morrison, former West Virginia hurdle record-holder, who died yesterday in Columbus, O. The funeral will be held at Charleston tomorrow.

Morrison, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Okey J. Morrison, of Charleston, was employed as a manager of one of the chain of department stores operated by his father. He was a member of the class of '27, West Virginia University and captained the 1927 track team. He was 26 and married.

TEAM SEEKS GAMES

The County Road club of Carnegie is now booking with the best teams in the tri-state district. The County Roaders were posed out by the Crawfords in the last game played. Games are wanted abroad, twilight and Sundays. For games write Manager Phil Rock, Third street, Carnegie.

CARDS FARM HUNT

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—(AP.)—Joel Hunt, regular outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been ordered to report to Rochester of the International League, Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals, has announced. Hunt's release reduces the Cardinal squad to 25.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

CHICAGO, May 21.—There was 500 airplanes over Chicago yesterday. At first I thought a new beer war had been declared and I was ready to spring to the colors of whichever side was defending the 8 per cent beer, but it was only Army aviators looking for places in Chicago that hadn't been bombed yet. It took the whole 500 of them to locate a half dozen targets that weren't second hand. There is one favor those army fliers could do, though, and that is drop a bagful of poison gas on the Athletics with the compliments of the rest of the league. If those A's get out front any farther we'll just have to shoot them in the back.

TARTAN TEAMS DINE TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER

Carnegie Tech's athletic council's annual testimonial to the school's athletic teams, except the footballers, will be offered tonight in the form of a right nifty dinner party in the school commons.

The tennisers, basketballers, swimmers, sharpshooters, cross-country chasers, track and field men and boxers will be honored. You can't fool these football players though, at least, you can't fool all of 'em, for gents such as Stu Dueger, Murray, Armentrout, John Karcis, Johnny Dreshar, Jacques Croissant, Jimmy Traa and Duke Ducanis will be right in there, digging in with both paws, as members of other teams.

Dueger is a tennis player; Ducanis, a boxer; Karcis, Dreshar and Croissant, trackmen; Traa, a basketballer, and this guy, Armentrout, probably will put in a yelp for a double portion of everything as he is a member of both the track and basketball squads.

All varsity competitors will be awarded letters and the plebes will get their numerals. Der Maxie Hannum, the publicity gent, will get the razz, from Dreshar and Ducanis.

The affair is scheduled to get under way promptly at 6 o'clock, and the noble Buddy Overend, graduate manager of athletics, will preside. About 200 athletes, coaches, managers and guests will be present.

'CASTLE HIGH WINS MEET

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 21.—The New Castle High School track team yesterday won the annual triangular track and field meet with Washington and Wilkinsburg High. The meet, which drew about 1,000 fans, was held at Taggart Field.

New Castle scored 58 points to cop the meet. Washington with 38 points was second while Wilkinsburg finished third with 21 points.

Sport Vignettes

former concert violinist . . . He studied classical music in Brazil and later sponsored grand opera there and then appeared with opera companies in Chicago before making his headquarters in Philadelphia . . . He first began to make money in wrestling when he obtained a lease on the fine Metropolitan Opera House in Philadelphia, built by Oscar Hammerstein, and attracted the better class of people of Philadelphia to his promotions . . . Recently he has invaded the sacred precincts of Paul Bowser, the wrestling czar in Boston, and made good there, pitting his Jack Curley troupe of matmen against those of Bowser and Billy Sandow, who represent the opposing clique . . . He is a showman of the first water and predicts that he will put over the grunt-and-groan game here in big league style before he is through with it despite the pitiful start made in the handful of shows staged in Motor Square Garden in recent weeks, all of which lost money.

Announcement that an attempt will be made to popularize motorboat racing in a series of regattas to be held on the Allegheny River at Oakmont, beginning Memorial Day, recalls the fact that this course is one of the oldest in this country for water sports, it having been the scene of championship rowing races a half-century ago . . . As recently as 15 years ago, boat racing still was very popular around Oakmont, but interest has died down since then and it is with an idea of reviving the old life and spirit that the outboard motorboat races have been arranged . . . Press Anderson, of the Willows Pool, of Oakmont, is one of the prime movers in the revival and he is confident the Allegheny again will become a rendezvous for the lovers of water sports . . . Four races, to be run in eight heats, make up the opening card, free to the public, which will line the course, and some thrilling speed and spills are anticipated, with the small powerboats attaining a speed of as much as 50 miles an hour.—HARRY KECK.

Miss Orcutt Sails For Title Attempt

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP.)—One American woman is following the golfing trail to Great Britain blazed by many American men. Maureer Orcutt of Englewood N. J., winner of the metropolitan women's championship for the past four years, sailed last night in quest of the British women's championship, a title which no American born player has yet captured.

The tournament will be played over the Portmarnock course in Ireland beginning June 8.

Western Golf Body May Abolish Stymie

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP.)—A vote is being taken by the Western Golf Association over one of the perplexing problems of the game, the stymie.

The vote was requested after several members insisted that many were in favor of abolishing it in match play as well as medal. Officials of the western body, however, said they didn't know whether the stymie would be eliminated even if voted against, as rules of the parent golf body, the United States Golf Association, are in favor of it.

Neighbor Wins Local Cue Tourney

Neighbor went into the final round by defeating F. W. McElroy, 15 to 10, and then downed Jack Burke in the finals, 15-13.

ARNOLD SCHOOL MEET

A varied athletic program has been arranged for the students at Arnold School in connection with commencement activities the week of June 8. Baseball, tennis and track events are listed.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Are You a Victim of Too Much Mother Love?

Have you a loving fusser in your home?

Someone who frets over you 24 hours per day . . . who wants to run your life, pick your friends, do your thinking?

And get the jitters every time you dare have an idea of your own?

Theresa has. And . . . you might know it . . . It's Mamma. It is not a new story. It's happening in thousands of homes, all over the globe. Probably it's happening to you. If you're another Theresa . . . or another Mamma . . . hang on, while I hunt a few bricks.

"Dear Sally:

"Here's another problem for that wise head and kind heart of yours. I know you'll tell me, straight from the shoulder, whether I'm right, or my mother is.

Mother Objects

"I am 26, and an only child. Mother and I live together. When I was a baby, she and my father separated, and we have never since heard of him—and now we've come to where it seems necessary for us to decide whether to 'break up housekeeping' or not.

"Ever since father left, mother has provided for me until three and a half years ago. She made a huge success as a saleswoman, and kept me in a boarding school and college, so I have a profession of my own now, and earn a fair salary at it. Everything she did was always for me or some relative. She never thought of herself.

"Four years ago, while I was still in college, I fell deeply in love. I don't think mother ever realized how deeply Joe and I loved each other. She always seemed to take it as a joke. When she did understand we were serious, she started in on me. He had a university degree, a profession, a little money, a lot of ambition, and above all, a marvelous disposition and good habits. But he was Italian born, so I was 'out of my mind' to hear her tell it. She talked for a year about it. So finally it was over. Since then, everyone I've gone with has gotten the ups-and-downs from her to such an extent that I've said 'good bye' to about every man I ever knew. It's always their politics, nationality, religions, ideas, or what have you, that she objects to.

Plans Made for Her

"Now she insists that I cultivate men with money! And that just isn't my line.

"Besides all this, her middle name is Plan. When I get up in the morning, she announces my plans for the day, week or whatever it may be. After work she has all my time planned, so that I never have a minute or an idea to myself. And when I object, she accuses me of 'having no ambition' or 'appreciation.'

"I've talked to her about it, and she agreed once to let me plan for myself. But in a week she was at it again. So this morning we had another scene, and she says that 'if she has to live like a stranger with me—if she can't make plans or suggestions, we'd better live apart.' Everyone but she seems to think I'm sensible, ambitious and level-headed, but just because I've made a few mistakes now and then, she criticizes me so much that I'm getting actually afraid to move, because I dread her lectures.

"Tell me, please, is my mother right? I've been away from her for one day, or one evening, exactly five times in as many months. Am I crazy? What should I do? I try to get along. All I ask is a little fun and freedom, instead of a constant stream of talk that indicates how dissatisfied she is with me . . . and everything else.

"THERESA."

Who's right?

You are, pal. You're free, white and 21, and you have a right to pick your own friends and live your own life. No human on earth has a right to try to pick those friends or live that life for you.

An Injustice

Sure you've made mistakes. And you'll make more of 'em, if you amount to a hill of beans. Any peppy, spunky, ambitious human is bound to make 'em. They're the way we grow. And don't ever let mother kid you that she hasn't made plenty herself. She's making the biggest one of her life right now when she refuses to let you cut your own eye teeth!

Of course, she's miserable and unhappy now, just as you are. She sees you growing up, growing away from her into new worlds of your own, and her heart is jealous. For years you were her baby. You were her reason for working and being. You were dependent on her. And she gloried in that dependence. She gloried in her responsibility for you. And now she isn't going to let go of that responsibility without a riot. But don't let her get away with it, my dear.

Because she must let go, if she wants to avoid doing both you and herself a dreadful injustice. She's allowed herself to become so wrapped up in your life that she can't see or think of anything else. But that's something she'll have to get over . . . She'll have to learn to let you go it alone. Unless she's willing to do that, leave her. Don't let yourself be crippled by another case of "Smother Love."

Too Often Big City Suffers for Escapade of Small Town Girl, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Too often the big city must suffer for the escapade of a small-town girl.

No village is more shocked than the great city itself to see the speed with which these girls from small cities fall in with the wrong sort.

Ninety per cent of the people who live in big cities are decent home-loving folks.

But most of the stories written about the great city are concerned with the fractional few who are faulty frivolous, but make more fascinating reading.

Those who leave wholesome homes to seek adventure do not look for the kind of folks they wanted to get away from.

That's why they so willingly drift with the worst and the big city is blamed for what happens.

Love's Reawakening -:- Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Ruse Proves Quite Successful

I pretended not to hear the horror-stricken "wh-what" with which Henry and William responded to my assurance that I meant to reward them for trimming the Christmas tree by seeing that they had a dance with every girl of the merry party from The Larches which was scheduled to appear at the farmhouse at 11 o'clock.

"You need extra boys, don't you, Marion, for a stag line?" I asked. "You've only a man apiece, now."

"And that will never do," Marion seized the cue with dancing eyes. "It will be wonderful to have you boys. And I'm going to get ahead of the other girls right now. Bill, the minute the dancing starts, I'm going to claim you for the first dance, and Hank for the second."

"And I'll just reverse that process," Mary struck in, and I knew that Lillian had managed to give her a hint of my scheme. "Hank, you're mine for the first, and Bill for the second. Then, Marion, I suppose we'll have to stand back and let the other girls have a chance."

William and Henry did not move, but they gave the curious impression of having gone backward to a wall and set themselves against it. For a second or two they did not speak, but their eyes, turned on me as if I were their only hope, were eloquent with appeal.

"But we can't dance," William stammered. "We never learned."

"That doesn't matter," Marion said airily. "The girls will be glad to teach you. Peggy is a wonderful leader, and we'll all help. You'll catch on in no time."

William's eyes shot toward Ronald, as did his brother's, and when they returned to my face I knew that both boys were visualizing their own awkward appearance as contrasted with the easy graceful dancing of the collegians.

"Aw, we can't," Henry protested. "We'd look like fools. Do we have to stay up for the dance, Aunt Madge? Can't we go up to bed, now, or is there something else you want us to do?"

"No, trimming the Christmas tree was the last thing," I said, "and of course, you may do as you please. I thought you'd like to sit up and share in the dance."

"No, no," both boys protested. "We'd rather go to bed."

"We're awful tired," Henry supplemented. "We went a long way for that Yule log."

"But it was lots of fun," William hastily amended, with a apologetic look at me, and I knew that something besides the natural honesty of the boy had prompted the speech. He knew that I had planned the bringing home of the Yule log, and I still had before me the vivid picture of his happy face and that of his brother, as they took up their stations at the head of the rude but effective hand sledge Jim fashioned long ago for the time-honored rite which it has been my fancy to indulge for years.

"But fun tires people as much as work," I reassured him, smiling, "so if you wish to go to bed, you may. You'll have a busy day tomorrow."

"Gee!" Henry's relief exploded in the syllables, and William added, "Thanks a lot, good-night," as they turned and hurried to the stairs. Harry Underwood hardly waited for the door to close behind them before making me a low bow, sweeping the floor with an imaginary plumed hat.

"'For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain,'" he intoned, "no 'heathen Chinee' has nothing on our Missis Madge. You sure threw out that bait proper. They're swallowing the pole now."

"Hush!" I whispered frantically, and Lillian fastened a firm forefinger and equally insistent thumb upon her husband's ear.

"Suppose you swallow your tongue and get out of here," she suggested grimly. "The crowd at The Larches will think we're deserters."

"You're jealous, that's all that's the matter with you," her husband retorted.

He caught his stepdaughter's arm and rushed out of the room to the accompaniment of the laughter which invariably applauds his foolery.

"I'll hold the crowd over there as long as I can," Lillian whispered to me under cover of the laughter. "But deah old Phil's simply raring to get over here."

Cake Pans

Grease cake pans with lard or unsalted fat for real service. Butter scorches easily and causes the cakes to stick. The cakes will not pick up any taste from the lard. Of course, the lard should be fresh; drippings should never be used for greasing cake tins, as they have such a decided flavor.

-:- Correct Manners -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEEKMAN

Thanking a Very Nice Young Man

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please advise me of a correct note of appreciation to be sent to a young man who has aided a girls' organization to make a dance successful, and who has co-operated with us very much.

A READER.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

You have been so especially kind and so gracious and generous in the giving of your time and your excellent advice to our organization that we want to give you special thanks and special gratitude. Your unfailing co-operation and your suburb help have, I assure you, been deeply and highly appreciated. I don't dare think of our helplessness without you! And of course we couldn't dream of giving a dance in the future without clamoring for your help. So you see what you have started!

Every good wish to you, Mr. Johnson, and the sincerest appreciation of your goodness to us.

Cordially yours,

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Overexcite Baby by Tickling and Play

Have you ever watched a baby play in his crib? With a most serious expression on his face he may lie for minutes playing with his fingers or toes. Chuckling and laughing to himself, he seems to be having a grand time.

Dr. Copeland

A few minutes of gentle play during the day is good for Baby. Unfortunately, many parents fail to realize that babies need a great deal of rest and quiet. Much of the play made available for infants is too exciting.

Too often, the family resorts to any manner of things to make baby laugh. Tickling, bouncing, or tossing the baby in the air are common practices which should be discouraged. Not only do these things excite the baby, but they teach the infant to demand attention. Such practices should not be encouraged.

As the baby grows older, a definite time should be set aside for his playing. The morning is the best time. Do not have your child play in the later afternoon. He should be kept quiet at this time, so that his night's rest will not be disturbed.

Older children should be taught to play for half an hour to an hour without interruption. As the child grows older, it is best for him to learn how to entertain himself. He must learn to do things for himself.

Such training is best accomplished in infancy and early childhood.

A word about toys: Since most babies want to put everything into their mouths, care must be taken to discourage this habit. Toys must never be so small that they might easily be swallowed. It is best never to have any loose parts on a toy that might come off. All toys should be washable and without sharp points.

As the baby grows older, educational toys should be supplied to him. It is not necessary to buy expensive games. Careful selection of toys that will create interest for the child can usually be purchased at a slight expenditure.

All these matters have their influence upon the development and habits of the youngsters. They are not too trivial to demand your attention.

Answers to Health Queries

L. W. Q.—What causes my eyes to water every time I go out in the air?

2.—What will reduce large ankles?

A.—You probably have an obstruction to the tear duct or else cold has settled in the eyes. If this condition persists it would be wise to see an eye specialist for an examination.

2.—If due to fat, exercise or massage will reduce them. If due to large bones and muscles, the trouble cannot be remedied.

E. S. Q.—Are pears and grapes fattening?

A.—If eaten in moderation these fruits will not add to the weight. However, grapes are rich in sugar, and therefore fat-producing if eaten in quantity.

Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Self-consciousness is social fear. It is overcome by the cultivation of a little healthy conceit, handing oneself a bit of applesauce now and then. It is a terrible affliction, makes many a life a dull and drab affair. Parents of the shy girl should tell her repeatedly that she is pretty, charming and attractive. Their praise will give her confidence and help her to find her proper place among her friends.

Deep-seated pimples which do not come to a yellow point should not be tampered with. If there is a yellow point, wipe the skin surface with alcohol, sterilize a needle by holding it in a flame, puncture the pustule and press gently with the fingers covered with gauze. Heavy pressure may cause abrasions in the skin and produce scars. Hot applications are helpful in treatment of acne, and soap and water should be used freely.

LOOK!

HUNDREDS OF SPINES ON EVERY HAIR

When hair is truly clean as Laco cleans, it is soft, silky, a shimmering mass of beauty.

No wonder it needs this special shampoo to "clean out the corners" and make the hair shine

We always think of hair as smooth. Now the microscope shows us each hair is covered with little points that catch and hold soap and dirt.

When they are clean, they catch the light and sparkle like diamonds. But alas, they also catch the dirt and they form little corners for soap particles to hide in.

Ordinary shampoos with their coarse, sticky suds do not reach these corners at all. And that's why "clean" hair is often dull and mousey looking.

But now there is a shampoo especially made to clean these tiny hair spines. Laco Castile has a fine penetrating lather. Its tiny bubbles reach every particle of dust and dirt and gently wash it away.

Real Olive Oil Castile

You will be delighted to know that Laco Shampoo is made of real olive oil Castile, the mildest, safest soap known. It contains no free alkali and no alcohol. It is so mild it is recommended for a child's scalp and hair.

Beware Germ-filled Handkerchiefs

For Health's Sake Use Kleenex

Each tissue is destroyed after one use . . . germs are never carried back to your face

USE Kleenex instead of handkerchiefs. That's the advice of medical science today. Take no chances with dangerous self-infection. Use a handkerchief you can destroy.

Kleenex is a soft, absorbent tissue. The size of a handkerchief. So inexpensive it is used just once, then destroyed. With it go countless germs. The germs that cause self-infection when carried back to the nose and mouth. The germs that may lead to serious diseases.

By using Kleenex instead of handkerchiefs you avoid this danger. Each time you select a new tissue—exquisitely clean and fresh. Softer than the oldest linen.

Costs less than laundering

The use of Kleenex does away with the unpleasant job of washing handkerchiefs. Surprisingly inexpensive, too. Kleenex actually costs less than commercial laundering of handkerchiefs.

BACTERIOLOGICAL TESTS SHOW:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief. The types of organisms in the enumeration are those known to be associated with colds.
2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when rinsed in boiling water and/or soap water, were found not to be killed or appreciably inhibited from growing.

These conclusions were reached after a series of scientific tests by a former professor of bacteriology at Northwestern University Medical School.

Soothing Kleenex tissues are ideal for children. Office workers find it handy to keep a box in the desk. For use during colds and hay fever. Try Kleenex just once, and the old-time handkerchief will seem impossible.

To remove cold cream

Beauty experts advise Kleenex for removing cold cream and cosmetics. So absorbent, it makes rubbing and stretching of the skin unnecessary. Many women also find Kleenex invaluable for manicuring, for use in the nursery, for dusting, applying medicines, etc.

Kleenex comes in a smart, modern, dust-proof box that automatically hands out the tissues, as you need them. Buy a package today at your drug, dry goods or department store. 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.

Pittsburgh-Erie Saw Bonds Offered

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION in the ownership of another Pittsburgh company, which has been a closed corporation up to the present time, is being made possible by the offering of $550,000 of 15-year 6½ per cent convertible sinking fund debentures of the Pittsburgh-Erie Saw Corporation. The sale of debentures will be followed by an application to list the common stock on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

The company is one of the few organizations which reported record earnings for 1930, for the last quarter of 1930 and the last month of 1930. In the first three months of 1931, earnings were greater than in the corresponding period of last year with indications that earnings for the present year will exceed those of any year in the company's history.

Due to the type of product and the unusual manner in which the business is operated, the organization comes close to being depression proof under almost any conceivable conditions.

Products Leased

THE COMPANY MANUFACTURES, leases and services butcher saws and other equipment. It has 75,000 customers in 38 states. It is the only organization engaged in this business on a nation-wide scale. Plants are located at Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Los Angeles with branch offices in 15 cities.

Its products are not sold but are almost invariably leased. As part of the rental agreement, the company resharpens the saw blades. By the use of automatic machinery, this can be done at a low cost which makes it possible to supply the service for an exceptionally small price. The lease arrangement insures the company of a steady income in good times and bad. Its business has shown year to year gains due to the growth of the country and the more intensive development of markets.

The business was started in 1912 with an original capital of $25,000 and has grown to a present net worth of $1,379,620. Dividends in the past five years exceeded $1,170,000. While growth has been remarkable and profits have been substantial with an exceptionally small investment in physical properties and equipment, development has been predicated on many sales with only small profits per unit.

New Equipment Developed

A NEW PRODUCT is being placed on the market which, officials believe, eventually will create an additional source of earnings fully as great as from saws. This is a special alloy steel plate used in meat grinding machines. Longer life and better service are claimed for the product than for the older type of plates. Over 40,000 of these were shipped on a rental basis in the latter part of 1930. The company also has perfected a power saw which will be marketed at a low price in the near future.

The purpose of the financing is to permit the management to obtain a larger share in the ownership of the company and to permit customer and employe ownership. A substantial part of the securities being offered were acquired from an estate and from interests no longer active in the company.

Earned $3.25 a Share

IN 1930, NET EARNINGS applicable to interest on the debentures, were $313,326, or 8.76 times interest requirements. For the past five years earnings averaged 7.9 times interest requirements.

After deducting all charges, including dividends on 7,000 shares of $7 cumulative convertible preference stock, net available for 60,000 shares of common stock in 1930 was $3.25 a share. The average net income available for the common stock in the past five years was $2.80 a share. The five-year table of earnings shows a gain in each successive year.

The debentures, which are priced at 99½, are convertible into 50 shares of common stock for each $1,000. The financing was underwritten by John A. Beattie & Co. and McLaughlin, MacAfee & Co.

LAUDS DAILY ADVERTISING

NEW YORK, May 21.—During the past four months, newspaper advertising has proven to be more effective in the sale of a financial service than at any other time in the history of the Reliance Life Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, according to R. C. Braun, advertising manager, who outlined the success of his company's national newspaper advertising campaign at a meeting of the advertising managers' group of the insurance advertising conference today in the Roosevelt Hotel. Mr. Braun said:

"We have proven that adverse business conditions do not impair the effectiveness of good newspaper advertising. In four months of a six-month newspaper advertising campaign, beginning in January of this year, Reliance Life has received more than 10,000 inquiries from prospects for insurance through these advertisements. This is equal to the total of inquiries expected from the entire campaign, according to the basis upon which it was planned.

"It is apparent that insurance must look to the daily newspapers more and more for the solution of its merchandising problem. The newspaper habit has caught every worthwhile American, and the advertising message reaches him fresh and welcome through the daily press. We have found that through a newspaper advertisement a sale can be made today that might take a month or a year to get through any other medium, if it is obtained at all."

Reorders Heavy in New York Market

NEW YORK, May 21.—Reorders received thus far this week through the mails have continued heavy, resident buying offices in New York report. The volume was interpreted as showing the stimulating effect of fine weather on retail turnover since the weekend. The feature of the demand continues the active interest shown in summer dresses.

New Sears Catalog Reveals Price Drop

CHICAGO, May 21.—Prices in the mid-summer flyer catalog of Sears, Roebuck & Co. on an average basis show an average decrease of 11.4 per cent from the 1930 mid-summer flyer and of about 9 per cent from the 1931 spring and summer general catalog. Comparison of 1931 flyer prices with those for spring of 1913 reveal that scores of prices are as low as in 1913 and hundreds of prices are only a few cents higher than in the pre-war year.

Acquires Rights to Ehrhart Process

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Rails Aid Market — Local Market Narrow

MARKET AGAIN BOLSTERED BY RAILROADS

Selling Flurries Continue To Sweep List, But Have Little Effect on Leaders

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP.)—For the third successive day, the stock market was bolstered by an improved tone in the railroad issues today.

Selling flurries continued to sweep through the market, but had little effect upon the bulk of prominent issues. The bimonthly settlement day in London brought forth no adverse developments, and uneasiness on that score appeared to have been ill founded.

Although the list encountered considerable scattered selling at times, particularly in the late morning, it stiffened notably in the early afternoon.

Small early losses in United States Steel, American Telephone and American Can were replaced by gains of a point or so.

The improvement in the rails which first appeared Tuesday, after eight sessions of steady declines, is attributed both to completion of liquidation and to unofficial reports of progress in the plan of the carriers to request an upward revision of freight rates to restore their earning power and protect their credit.

The copper issues generally worked lower, although they have been so thoroughly deflated that losses were small. Red metal was available at 8¾ cents a pound, a record low.

The Department of Labor's commodity price index as of April 15, showed a further decline of 1½ per cent from a month earlier. This tabulation, embracing 550 commodities, is the most inclusive one published. It shows that the current dollar will buy as much as would $1.36 in 1926.

Wall street is awaiting with sode interest the semi-annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute tomorrow, and is confident that steel executives will have constructive comment to make on the current outlook.

Cotton Spinning Gained in April

WASHINGTON, MAY 21.—The Department of Commerce announces that according to preliminary census figures 33,057,118 cotton spinning spindles were in place in the United States on April 30, of which 26,645,404 were operated at some time during the month compared with 26,489,832 for March and 28,851,122 for April, 1930.

Based on an activity of 8.91 hours per day the average number of spindles operated during April was 31,172,123 or at 94.3 per cent of capacity on a single shift basis compared with 91.2 per cent for March and 96.1 per cent for April, 1930.

Orders Recapture From B. & O. Unit

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered the recapture from the Indian Creek Valley Railway, operating between Indian Creek and Jones Mills, Pa., of $73,611 as excess income for the years 1921 to 1926 inclusive.

The commission found the road earned during that period $147,222 in excess of a 6 per cent return on its valuation. The road is controlled by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Ford Leads in New Car Registrations

DETROIT, May 21.—New passenger car registrations in the 33 states which have reported for April total 167,576, against 129,963 in March, an increase of 29 per cent and equal to 74 per cent of the 225,742 cars titled in the same states in April of last year.

Ford has taken the lead in these states with 51,456 cars registered, against 50,575 for Chevrolet.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 21.—Cotton opened today 5 to 7 points higher, with July selling up to 9.37c and December to 9.87c. Later there were reactions which carried July off to 9.23c and December to 9.77c by the end of the first half hour, or about 4 to 7 points net lower.

The dominating factor later in the morning appeared to be the weakness of the stock market and prices worked gradually lower under liquidation coupled with some further local and southern selling. July declined to 9.20 and December to 9.74, making net losses of about 6 to 10 points on the active positions. The market at midday was a shade steadier on covering, with prices showing rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest.

LIVERPOOL, May 21.—Cotton—Spot quiet; prices 10 points higher; American strict good middling, 5.86d; good middling, 5.51d; strict middling, 5.26d; middling, 5.11d; strict low middling, 4.91d; low middling, 4.66d; strict good ordinary, 4.46d; good ordinary, 4.16d. Sales, 4,000 bales, including 2,200 American. Receipts, 2,000; American, 1,100. MARKET RULES ON TRUSTS

NEW YORK, May 21.—The New York Stock Exchange has announced a list of amendments to its regulations, approved on May 7, concerning the relations between its members and investment trusts.

Under the rules no member or members "shall be associated with an investment trust, whether management, restricted management or fixed type, unless the committee on stock list shall have determined that it has no objection to such association." This committee is empowered now to make such rules and resulations as may be deemed necessary to regulate these relations.

The committee on stock list does not intend to announce its determination of which trusts are objectionable until it has had time to examine all data received concerning the respective trusts.

Shoe Manufacturers' Leather Stock Off

NEW YORK, May 21.—Shoe manufacturers' leather stock on March 31 showed a further drop of 4 per cent below the previous month and 11.6 per cent below March, 1930, the New York Hide Exchange reports. Tanners stocks of finished leather also showed a decline from February, but were 16.8 per cent over March, 1930. Finished stocks of leathers made from cattle hides in all hands were lower, aggregating 7,602,000 hides on March 31, against 7,777,000 at the end of February, but were above March 31, 1930.

Gas Utilities' Net For Quarter Down

Revenues of manufactured and natural gas utilities aggregated $195,496,393 during the quarter, as compared with $203,576,209 for the first quarter of last year, a decline of 4 per cent, the American Gas Association reports. The manufactured gas companies reported revenues of $101,674,793 for the quarter, a decrease of nearly 2 per cent from a year ago, while revenues of natural gas concerns totaled $93,821,600, a drop of about 6 per cent.

Wheat Imports by Italy 150% Higher

ROME, May 21.—Italy's wheat imports have increased 150 per cent in the last fiscal 10 months, partly as a result of the commercial treaty with Russia and partly as a consequence of the smaller harvest this year.

From July 1, 1929, to April 30, 1930, her imports were 6,788,295 hundredweight. From July 1, 1930, to April 30, 1931, this had risen to 16,837,287, an increase of 10,048,992.

Stock Membership Sells for $230,000

NEW YORK, May 21.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat at $230,000, a decline of $5,000 from last previous sales.

Jennifer Urged to Try to Win Berry Rhodes

CHAPTER XIII.

The consciousness had long since begun to dawn upon Jenny, in whom the impulse to climb was an acquired, rather than an inherent characteristic, that she had started off, socially, on the wrong foot.

The advent of the John G. Raricks, from out of the Middle West, had not been a planned campaign, for the reason that the need for strategy had simply not occurred to her until the propitious moment had passed and the house of Rarick had settled.

Subsequently her mistakes had been fast and successive. After the dust of the publicity attending the purchase by John G. Rarick of the famous Ficke mansion had been laid, Jenny, appalled by the lull, had snatched, with more nervousness than diplomacy, at old relationships, mostly families of wealth and no particular social position, whose migration from the Middle West had preceded theirs.

Jenny Disappointed

Thereafter, the Raricks bobbed about in uneven waters, sometimes riding up to quite a social crest, but in an erratic, unstable way that was precarious, and then, just as likely as not, sliding down again into the valley between the waves.

No gainsaying the fact that the Raricks were invited to six houses outside the social register for every one within. Jenny's awareness of social-register discriminations did not even begin to dawn upon her until well after the move, when that dawn came up like thunder.

The time was not slow in coming when she was to encounter the difficulty of rounding up a formal dinner composed of the people she came gradually to realize were the right ones, and when she was to scorch under such mortifications as sending out 36 invitations to the alleged right ones and have 28 regrets come home to roost heavily upon her heart.

It was not exactly in the spirit of snubbing. The Raricks were not sufficiently in the running for that. It was just that in settings where even great wealth required proper exploitation, the Raricks had somehow not arrived right.

What brought this home with sudden acuteness to Jenny was the fact that the Issac Slocums, whose wealth and social connections back in St. Louis days, when they were neighbors in Westmorland Place, were comparatively negligible, had moved East considerably after the Raricks, and were now moving securely and consistently in social circles which Jenny achieved only sporadically.

Betty Slocum's careful social sense had accomplished that. She had planned ahead. She had surveyed, and ended by employing, at a vast sum, the services of a woman of impeccable social position, whose chief financial resources flowed in bountifully in return for achieving a wedge for the socially ambitious.

There was no going back. The best that could be hoped for was less uneven sledding.

The mistake had rebounded most cruelly on Jennifer. Passionately Jenny had wasted heartburn on the futility of wishing that Jennifer and Avery had been born to her in reverse order. An eligible son, somehow, millions in his offing, would have accelerated social matters.

As it was, Jennifer, always popular, whirled nevertheless in three worlds. A Bohemian one which her set invaded in "slumming parties;" an outer fringe one which represented wealth and perhaps a bit too much gayety; and, far too occasionally, the one within the walls which the Slocums had scaled by careful maneuver and which Jenny had mistakenly planned to hurdle by a running high-jump.

Father Not to Blame

It was not, Jenny felt sure, that Rarick money could not have accomplished anything that Rarick money set out to do; it was that Rarick money had not taken its psychological moment.

These realizations began to marshal themselves into Jennifer's younger and more nimble mind the first year that she was out of Miss Pratt's School for Girls. To begin with, Miss Pratt's School had been a mistake. The daughters of millionaires attended all right, but not the daughters of the socially-right millionaires. Jennifer kept a stiff and even an impudent upper lip about it all, but in the seclusion of talks with her mother those lips of hers could drag at the corners.

"Where do they get off, leaving us out! I wouldn't give a plugged nickel to go to the Monkton-Beck's cotillion. I thought cotillions went out with bustles, anyhow. But what do you bet they don't forget father's name on their Joint-Disease Hospital subscription list?"

"Let them get it!"

"Don't be silly, darling. You know perfectly well Leila Monkton has as good as got you down for $5,000."

Jenny did. "Well, just the same," went on Jenny, whose eyes were heavy from a sleepless night over this same case of omission, "what can you expect? Your father never accepts an invitation of any sort. People don't know quite how to approach us, the women of the family always either asking permission to bring another man or attending alone."

"Nonsense, mother! Look at the Slocums. Does their old man ever show himself? Look at the Turpitzes. The face of the husband and father of that family has almost become extinct. Fewer and funnier husbands is the social cry of the hour. Bring your own gigolo. Don't kid yourself along, darling, that's not the reason we're zero."

Social Mistakes

In the inelegant parlance of her daughter, that was precisely what Jenny was doing, casting about within her troubled spirit for some sort of satisfactory explanation of a position that was hourly becoming more enigmatical to her.

"There's nothing mysterious about it, mother, we've treated the exact science of social climbing inexactly, that's all."

"But just the same, Jennifer, assuming that we are horrible people, with intellectual harelips and no 'g's,' this is a country where money is supposed to buy everything."

"And so it does, if you know how to go about spending it. Money will buy anything from a plush horse to an Aubusson tapestry. You're out of luck if you go after the plush horse when Aubusson tapestries are the swanky buy.

"We should have employed a social interior decorator to keep us from making mistakes such as cultivating plush horses, like the Ben Wimans or the Maxfield Doons. Not that I would give one blondined Wiman hair in order to crash into the Monkton cotillion. But just the same, you've got to know your onions."

"Do you know, I sometimes think," said Jenny, contemplatively, and with the crinkled look of continuing to break her head for more satisfactory explanation, "that there's such a thing as being too nice? There is nothing more ghastly than the hung-on smile of trying to be too amiable."

"Nonsense," said her mother, regarding her with tilted lids of admiration. "You have every kind of 'It.'"

"Oh, I get by in a crowd. That is, if I can manage to care enough. I'm so damned half-baked. Even the desire in me to be something besides the thing I am is half-baked, or I'd go be it. I've got a brain, mother."

"Use it, Jennifer," said her mother, regarding her through lids that were untilted now. "On Berry Rhodes."

"In other words, the beautiful and reluctant daughter of wealth must jerk her family into social security by marrying the scion of a great family. What is a scion, anyway?"

"Berry is a person on his own, you've said to yourself. Why not come out and own you like him?"

"Why mother, you pain and surprise me!"

"You're not clever in the role of ingenue, darling. A little awful, in fact."

"Well, all right, if you insist. He's a bad boy, but I like him. God knows why, but I do."

"Mother, you continue to pain and surprise me."

"Berry got you asked there. She must have thought it the better part of wisdom not to refuse."

Likes Berry

"Are you sure, Jennifer?"

"That's the devilish part. I'm not."

"Jennifer, there's one thing I must say for your father. He never played for small stakes in his life."

"There was all that talk that Leslie's trip to Europe was a trip to Brooklyn to have a baby—Berry's."

"You know that if that were true, it would have been marry the girl at the point of the merciless Edgerton tongue!"

"Berry's a queer, evasive devil of a darling-on-wheels. I don't know where I get off with him."

"Find out."

"Of course he got me asked out to the Edgertons' tonight, but I don't give a damn. I'm going! With him. I like him.

"You know perfectly well that he is better than the average would be in his position. He has everything, and besides, a clever girl can settle him down. Jennifer, if you would!"

"You mean if I could."

"You can."

"I will."

DAILY TRUE STORY

Caught!

Girl's Plot to Marry Rich Bachelor Foiled

Margaret finally decided on a black lacy dress. It was most effective with her ultra golden hair and fair skin. Besides, it was a dress that disclosed amply her still seductive curves.

In a way, she was.

Then she went down. The doorman whistled for a taxi and Margaret Waring drew her wrap about her to protect herself from any dust that might be in the car.

"The Stange Arms on—"

"Sure, I know, Miss," said the driver.

Ivan Harding was not the sort of a chap who ever appeared in daily newspaper columns as being "afire" with this chorine or "rushing" that movie star.

Harding Surprised

Margaret Waring had met him fully a dozen times, through the friendship of Mrs. Throckton. Harding had been pleasant to her, had murmured a few nice things, had danced now and then and once complimented her on her contract game.

It is doubtful if he ever thought much, if anything, about the stately blonde when not in her company.

Now, at 11 at night, she was going to him in his bachelor pent house.

"He is expecting me," she said, in a half whisper.

The boy believed it. He eyed her as they rode upwards, wishing he had heaps of money like Mr. Harding. He, then, could and would be having swell blondes coming to his apartment late at night.

When Margaret pressed the little ivory button she expected the Jap to appear. She had been up there just once with Mr. and Mrs. Throckton, and had cocktails.

"Why—er—Miss Waring," he stammered, plainly surprised.

"I just had to come now—I couldn't wait any longer, it is so important," she said.

He held the door open. She entered and went into the den with its book-lined walls and real fireplace. He came to her and she slipped out of her wrap, which he took and placed over a chair.

"Sit over there, Miss Waring—my Jap has gone for the night—shall I knock together a sort of cocktail?"

"I'd love it—here alone with you," she said.

Talks About Niece

He went out and was back with the drinks in suspiciously quick time.

After they had taken a sip, he said, "Well?"

Margaret leaned back. She knew that she made an exquisite picture under the lamp and against the flicker of the cannel coal in the grate.

"It's about Zoe," she said.

He said nothing, so she went on, using her expression of chaste concern.

"After all, you know, I feel rather responsible for Zoe, she is a sort of niece—but I'd be anxious about any good little girl approaching danger, even if we were not related."

"What danger?" Harding asked.

"Are you insinuating that I am the danger that threatens little Zoe?"

"Probably not intentionally, Mr. Harding—but Zoe is such an innocent dear, and she is a pure Titian. You know about girls like that—they're not inclined to repress their emotions. You've been about a lot with her."

"Quite—Zoe is a lovely young lady."

"She's only a baby—and I know—listen Mr. Harding, I must talk plainly."

Fond of Girl

"If I were a handsome young man like you and a pretty chit of a red-headed innocent girl chased after me, I would expect to take advantage of her. I came to ask you not to do that with Zoe."

"If you were a young man and took advantage of an innocent young girl, you wouldn't be any sort of a young man, Miss Waring."

"Don't be so formal, Ivan—I'm Margaret to you. And it is better to be safe than sorry—"

"What?"

"I mean, it is better for me to come here and beg you not to take advantage of little Zoe than it would be to let matters go on."

"Go on," Harding said, coldly.

"I mean, we are all human, you might. Please promise me not to turn her silly little head."

"Need I promise? Zoe is a little darling. I'm crazy about her——"

"I knew it!"

"And realizing that she is a little darling, a sweet, pure girl, I certainly would not do anything to disillusion her."

"I know, you say so—you mean so now, but you'd forget, so would she—it would be terrible."

"It would be, the way you plan it. Zoe lives with her brother, a hard-working upright young man who will get ahead. So long as he doesn't object to our—er—friendship, why should you, a twice-removed sort of aunt?"

"What a word, 'aunt,' and I'm only five years older than that child. Surely you understand how I feel."

"I think I do."

"I was never so serious in my life before. I'd give anything, do anything, to protect Zoe."

"Creditable, I am sure, Miss Waring, but so far as I am concerned you do not have to give anything or do anything—Zoe is quite safe with me—er—when we are together."

Marriage Revealed

"Yes."

"How could you? Has anything—"

"Well, why hesitate?"

"To have that child up here, alone!"

"Not alone," he said, sharply, "with her brother on both occasions. By the way, where is your escort?"

She glanced at the clock, and got up and went over and sat on the arm of his chair.

"I came this way to impress you, to explain—if you will just leave Zoe alone I'll make up for it—make all the love to me you desire—I'll even make that sacrifice to save Zoe."

"But while I appreciate your great sacrifice, I really don't want to make any love to you, I—"

"Is Miss Waring here?" the older man asked, loudly.

"I thought so," said the man. He went in and started to make a scene.

"My wife," said Harding, "we've been married since noon today," which was quite true.

"Five and Ten" Synopsis

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. Rarick buys a magnificent home, but secretly finds himself hating his wife. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to Jennifer and Avery, his children. Rarick installs an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, in his house. Jenny objects, and a bitter scene follows, in which Rarick delivers the ultimatum that Gerkes remain. He sends for Jennifer and compels her to cancel a dinner engagement to dine with Gerkes. Jennifer finds him interesting. Jenny begins to be intrigued with Ramon, a youthful gigolo. Avery comes home from school to beg his mother to help him get leave from his father to have a couple of years to himself. Avery is afraid to make the request of his father.

Evil Amendments

Senate Committee by Its Tinkering Has Made a Dangerous Thing of Coal and Iron Police Bill.

In brazen defiance of public sentiment the Senate committee to which the Musmanno bill for the abolition of the coal and iron police was referred has amended it so as to restore the evil features that Musmanno and the House sought to do away with.

Dangerous powers are again conferred on the property guards. They are granted authority under which they could again be used by the corporations for the oppression of the people.

The committee is reported to be composed largely of utility and corporation lawyers.

Pennsylvanians who stand for social justice should leave nothing undone that may dissuade the Senate from passing the bill in the dangerous form in which it has been reported out.

School Bond Issues

Now Is a Splendid Time to Borrow Money for the Improvement of Educational Facilities.

The people of Springdale and Glendale are to be congratulated on their enterprise and public spirit in voting in favor of bond issues to pay for new schools.

It is to be hoped that the citizens of other Western Pennsylvania school districts whose buildings are antiquated or inadequate will catch their spirit and follow their example.

It is false economy to be parsimonious to the schools. Money spent judiciously in the improvement of the facilities for public education is one of the best investments a community can make.

Now is a splendid time to issue school bonds. Money for such a purpose can be borrowed just now on exceptionally favorable terms, interest rates being very low and the demand for good municipal bonds strong.

An additional good reason for building is that it will help to relieve unemployment.

'Jungle' Is Burned

Loss of Residents' Homes Is Regrettable, but Public Safety Demanded Destruction.

The police have burned the "Jungle," that strange town of packing-case houses built by the jobless and destitute along the Banksville road.

Sympathy will go out to the residents who have lost their homes. They displayed considerable ingenuity in erecting and equipping their dwellings, and their spirit of independence was commendable.

It is said the police were moved to destroy the settlement by complaints that the residents were annoying people of the West End by begging.

That may or may not have justified burning their homes.

But there was a better reason for doing so. This community of several hundred people, utterly lacking in sewers, running water and the other indispensable requirements of sanitation, was a menace to public health.

Commendable Enterprise

Second Avenue Folk Set a Praiseworthy Example in Constructing Public Playground.

The folk who live in the neighborhood of Second avenue and Bates street have given the rest of us an inspiring example by turning in and constructing a public playground themselves after repeated appeals to the city authorities had gone unheeded.

The people of that section, in the shadow of the Second avenue steel mills, have sore need of a playground. They need one far worse than residents of the suburbs who have fields within a few minutes' walk of their homes.

The city should have provided a recreation plot. Since it has failed to do so, about 60 or 70 of the residents joined hands in constructing one with their own labor on land said to be city-owned, which had been used as a dumping place for refuse. They cleaned it off and leveled it and made it suitable for games.

This is an example of the kind of work the city should now carry on, on an extensive scale, as a contribution to unemployment relief, as well as to make Pittsburgh a pleasanter place in which to live.

There is plenty of such work to be done, and labor is plentiful and wages reasonable.

Hunting Tales Sought

Prudent Sportsmen Will Be Moderate in Telling of Their Achievements.

A stranger in the Pennsylvania mountains asked a native if the trout fishing was good.

"Wonderful!" was the answer. "I caught 172 yesterday." (Twenty-five is the maximum number that may be lawfully taken in one day.)

"Do you know who I am?" queried the stranger. "I'm the new fish warden for this district."

"Well, I guess you don't know who I am," the native retorted. "I'm the biggest liar in the county."

We commend this story to the consideration of sportsmen who may be tempted to send hunting stories to the State Game Commission for publication, in response to the commission's call for such yarns.

9—Consolidation of railroads.

'That for You!'

(Copyright, 1931.)

Of all the ill-begotten brood which Prohibition foisted upon the land, "the most brazen of the litter," writes Cartoonist Enright, "is the Racketeer.

"He scoffs at conventions, laughs at laws, snaps his fingers in the face of a constituted authority and says, 'What are you going to do about it?'

"And just so long as Prohibition gives him the opportunity to finance his Crime Syndicates, Rum Runners, Bootleggers, Dope Smugglers, Hi-Jackers, he will continue to hold himself above and beyond all laws."

If this country were to meet the Prohibition Question and to settle it in the interests of TRUE TEMPERANCE, it would strike a decisive blow at the Racketeer, at the growing intemperance among our young folk and the steadily increasing contempt for all laws.

It costs this nation more each year to support the various forms of Rackets than it does to operate the United States government.

Isn't it about time that something was done about it?

These Icy Modern Lovers

Falling in love is nature's own spring tonic for the Tired Soul. Heaven pity the man whose path is so covered with the ashes of cynicism that he can't even skid into a mild little Maytime romance! He is on his way to the wheel-chair.

The primary requisite for catching a man's interest is sweet indifference. As long as a modern girl goes husband-hunting with war-paint and a drum she is giving men all the good breaks; and every man's first break will be to break—and run.

The woman who appeals to a man's vanity may stimulate him; the woman who appeals to his eye may attract him; and the woman who appeals to his imagination GETS him.

This is the time of year when a man offers you a lot of flattery, a soupcon of sentiment and a handful of impertinence—and calls it "love."

Marriage is like mayonnaise, it requires a lot of oil, a little sugar and very little vinegar in the mixing—and even then, with all your skill and precaution, it may "fall flat" or curdle.

Nowadays, every girl seems to be doing something to catapult her into the limelight. But the number of things that she can do to make the world catch its breath is rapidly dwindling. Everything has been done and overdone, from publicly bathing in champagne to shooting your grandmother.

Faraday Caused a Scientific Revolution

By Archibald Henderson

It is highly appropriate that many celebrations should occur this year in celebration of Faraday, a scientist of amazing and comprehensive genius. He is one of history's outstanding examples of the "natural" in science. It was not second nature, as we say, but first nature—of the very nature of the man himself—to investigate Nature, with a capital letter, at first hand. There seemed to be some secret harmony and intercommunication between the mind of Faraday and the world of external nature, with its vast, secret and unnumbered forces.

Surely, if ever scientist was gifted with foresight that scientist was Michael Faraday. He seemed to sense, with a sort of unerring instinct, those discoveries and inventions which gave promise of immense future developments in industry. This genial and kindly natural philosopher refused the great financial rewards ungrudgingly, even eagerly, offered him, and worked in the most altruistic spirit, for the sake of pure truth.

Faraday came of humble parentage, but his father was a hard-working, earnest, and deeply religious man. Some of that deep faith passed to his son. As a boy, Michael lived on short rations, for it was the hard period of the Napoleonic wars; and he has recorded himself that his bread allowance was limited to one loaf a week. It is worthy of note that he acquired his first knowledge of electricity from the "Encyclopaedia Britannica;" and he was introduced to chemistry by a book entitled "Conversations on Chemistry" by a Mrs. Marcet. Faraday's own confessions regarding this introductory period in his career are revelatory:

"Do not suppose that I was a very deep thinker, or was marked as a precocious person. I was a very lively imaginative person, and could believe in the Arabian Nights as easily as in the encyclopaedia. But facts were important to me, and saved me. I could trust a fact, and always cross-examined an assertion. So when I questioned Mrs. Marcet's book by such little experiments as I could find means to perform, and found it true to the facts as I could understand them, I felt that I had got hold of an anchor in chemical knowledge, and clung fast to it. Thence my deep veneration for Mrs. Marcet—first as one who had conferred great personal good and pleasures on me; and then as one able to convey the truth and principle of those boundless fields of knowledge which concern natural things, to the young, untaught, and inquiring mind."

As Faraday advanced in knowledge, he developed the highest ideal for the scientist. He resolved to dedicate himself unstintedly to the pursuit of truth. It was his consciously expressed ambition to become what he called, very properly, a philosopher. Faraday was indeed, all his life, a lover of wisdom and a devotee at the altar of truth.

At the age of 22, through the kindly and sympathetic interest of Sir Humphry Davy, Michael Faraday was given a poorly paid post at the Royal Institution. But the opportunity was golden. It has been said that the fruits of his career were a revolution in civilization greater than has ever been made by any king, conqueror or empire.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Ask any man who went through the war what was the hardest thing to stand. He won't tell you of that terrible rush across the field. Nor of the horror of clotting blood and ravelling flesh and voices that went on screaming . . . screaming . . . without a throat.

Awful as those memories are, you'll see a grimmer vision rising in his eyes—THE MEMORY OF "ZERO HOUR"—those tense and endless moments in the trench, before the signal came, when there was nothing to do . . . nothing to do . . . nothing to do BUT WAIT.

You—you know, don't you? You've been through it, too—some time. Perhaps not in France. But on as terrible a battle line—in as dark a trench.

You, who had always fought it out in the open, now trapped at last—trapped by poverty, or suffering, or grief, or shame—

Wait?

My God, how can you stand it?

Mark time like this, with your nerves fraying to threads and your heart being squeezed as dry of blood as a sponge?

If only there were something to do—some danger to face—some pain to be borne—some hardship to endure — some excitement — some action—

BUT . . . JUST . . . TO . . . WAIT . . .

Alone . . . for no matter how many are around you, you're alone, at Zero Hour—

Helpless . . . for, though you have wealth and power and wisdom unlimited, you're helpless in Zero Hour—

Yet, sooner or later, you'll have to do it, for Zero Hour comes to every life. And for many it lasts not an hour, but months—or weary years. Months and years when there's nothing to do but mark time . . . wait . . .

Wait . . . with your heart trapped deep in some trench waiting for the light . . . waiting for the signal that another chance has dawned . . . ANOTHER CHANCE TO GET OUT AND FIGHT AGAIN—

But take it from one who's been through it, stranger, IT ISN'T A WASTE.

Zero Hour must come—and all your tears and all your prayers won't save you from it. BUT IF YOU HAVE THE COURAGE TO HOLD YOURSELF STEADY THROUGH IT, YOU'LL COME OUT RICHER THAN YOU WENT IN.

For one thing, you'll KNOW YOURSELF. And no man can know himself unless he has gone through that trial. You'll know yourself, clear through to your lazy thread of cowardice, your last stout fiber of courage. And all the gold in the world couldn't buy you a more valuable lesson than that—if you have the sense to use it.

And, for another thing, you'll KNOW LIFE. Life has no more surprises, no more peak loads, for the man who's gone through Zero Hour. Life has done her "ALL" to that man. And if he has the courage to stand the gaff, he's master of his fate from that time on. He has lost the illusion of fear. He has seen that no fear can hold a man forever in the trench.

And, best of all, you'll know something about GOD. For Zero Hour is the best of all places for a man to find his God. His job is Nothing—Else—But! Yet, sooner or later, He always manages to go over the top.

Isn't It So?

The higher a man rises, the more he has to depend on others to hold him up.

The trouble with business is that it has too many prophets and not enough profits.

The greatest pleasure some people seem to have is to keep other people from having any.

About the only chance a man has to talk to his wife these days is to serve on the same committee.

Quaint Names

The by-gone years left names whose sounds are sweet
And lingering echoes of calm lives still greet
The ear with many a quaint and singing word.
For Patience, Mercy, Prudence and the rest
Of all that gentle, vanished sisterhood
Were surely of rare kindliness possessed,
And went as pilgrims, vowed to all things good.

Her days unvexed by evil's doubts and fears;
In some man's heart Faith ruled as tender wife,
With love unchanging through the changeful years.

Text For Today Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus.—Philippians, iii:12.

What About U. S.?

Are We So Prosperous?

WHAT ABOUT POOR UNCLE SAM?

This little picture from the Boston Transcript will appeal to many Americans, although, as a matter of fact, Uncle Sam is not QUITE reduced to a barrel for his clothing.

Our good European friends, led by our British cousins, who agreed to pay part of what they borrowed from us and are sorry for it, are forever saying: "Wipe out the international debts."

They say, "We cannot become prosperous again unless you forget that you have lent us ten billions of dollars and allow us to forget about repaying the money."

Europe apparently has not heard of a little depression that we have over here.

However, quite apart from the depression, the average American does not feel inclined to have ten billions added to his taxes, or half of ten billions, in order to free our friends in Europe from the necessity of paying back money borrowed in war time.

It should be paid because it is a debt of honor.

It should be paid, above all, because paying it will remind those that pay—IF they pay—that war is not profitable.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 21. — Vice exposures, so horribly stressing the framing of innocent women by New York police, have made the plain clothes man a target for almost city-wide contempt. Their prototypes are jeered on the stage. While many are on the level, the New York attitude is: Prove it!

For a number of years women have been carried away to prison screaming they had been "framed." And the police answer was: "That's what they all say!" The public naturally preferred to believe the police but today such arrests are viewed with suspicion.

Vice squad cops have been heretofore generally credited with clearing the pavements of those nymphs du pave, known as street walkers. Now it is known the light ladies were not so afraid of occasional arrests as of being victims of "shake downs."

If they could not pay, they were railroaded to prison. For every woman whose livelihood came from the fruits of prostitution there were several leeches to share the spoils. Many women of excellent reputations were intentionally jockeyed into what looked like street flirtations.

As a result boulevard hustling is now confined almost exclusively to hotels, apartments and other so called "houses of call." There is little sidewalk soliciting as in other days. In this way what Grandma called "soiled doves" can give an outward show of respectability.

They are sent for by telephone to meet the Good Time Charlies. But they can reside at good addresses among people who know nothing about their methods of making a living. Some indeed work at part time jobs and are not even suspected by employers.

New York has at last become conscious this enormous swag did not all go to the police. Through circuitous sources it trickled to those high up. Stories are increasingly persistent there are several high-up "vice millionaires." It is a rotten mess.

* * *

Basil Woon is back from Paris with news that those circular tin constructions dotting the curbs of the boulevards are being removed. "But even so," he adds, "Paree is still gay." Before sailing he was introduced to a lady at a New York tea as "Mr. Woon" and she began talking to him in pidgin-English.

Robert P. Scripps, the young publisher, is wearing one of those dashing beards affected by worldly stage counts. Recently at the Dutch Treat show he came upon Irvin Cobb who looked at him quizzically and then with a light of recognition exclaimed: "I thought at first it was Schumann-Heink upside down."

* * *

The Dutch Treat annual show, incidentally, is a high spot in the lives of New York's notables of art and letters. Weekly it holds a luncheon but one night a year it dons cap and bells and stays up all night. It prints privately an hilarious year book for those privileged to attend and presents a show that at least could be called roguish. Upon such occasions one sees such immortals of Charles Dana Gibson, J. M. Flagg, Ring Lardner, Rex Beach and the like clowning. The Dutch Treat is perhaps the most distinguished in membership and certainly the most regularly attended in the metropolis, yet it has no club dues. Its luncheons are held in a mid-town hotel and fulfills its name—it is a Dutch treat for every one attending with one exception, the guest of honor. And he or she had better be good!

* * *

The other day I talked to a gray-haired lady with a saintly face and a voice like the soft cooing of pigeons whose arrest for shop lifting 20 years ago stunned the town. It was a fleeting kleptomania in a life of utter respectability before and afterward. Today it remains the dim blur of a dream, but in all the interlude she has never been inside a store or in a home other than her own. She lives in horrible dread of another sudden impulse.

* * *

Similarly upon the few times I have visited la-de-dah jewelry establishments I have always feared, before getting out, someone would tap me on the shoulder and say "The manager wishes to see you in his private office." Right then, I'd take up flying. They are not going to search me and crack jokes about my red underwear.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You may not have had the benefit of as much schooling as most of those who are working with you.

In your daily contacts with them the fact may become known.

But they may not realize how few educational advantages you had.

In fact, you might lose considerable prestige throughout the whole establishment and with the management.

The important thing is to adopt a systematic line of study to fill in the subjects and the breadth of a course such as they have in the public school or college.

The longer you do, the harder it will be for you to learn.

Perseverance and a will to accomplish should help you qualify.

The results will well repay you for any effort you may make.

2,000 EXPECTED AT PEABODY GATHERING

Political Leaders of State, County and City Listed For Addresses at Meeting

Independent voters of three East End wards will organize tonight at a rally in the Peabody High School. More than 2,000 invitations have been issued to residents of the Seventh, Egihth and Eleventh wards.

The meeting, called by the newly organized East End Independent League, has been set for 7:30 o'clock. The officers today stressed the fact that the movement is not for the organization of an independent party nor for the indorsement of independent candidates, but rather a move to organize the voters.

An extensive speaking program has been announced by the secretary, Mrs. Frank J. Boyle. Among the prominent leaders to be heard will be State Secretary of Property and Supplies James F. Malone, County Commissioner Charles McGovern, Coroner William J. McGregor, Attorney Frank F. Canuti, Councilmen Robert Garland and Charles F. Anderson, S. J. Topley, chairman of Allegheny County Planning Commission, Attorney Benjamin Lencher, Attorney Joseph H. Reich and Attorney Raymond D. Evans.

Women and men voters will be informed of the importance of voting, regardless of what ticket is followed, Mrs. Boyle declared. The organization seeks to bring out voters who heretofore have neglected to express their choice of candidates at the polls, she added.

Other officers of the organization are: President, Churchill Mehard, who will preside; vice president, Frank I. Craig, and treasurer, Louis Donner. Mrs. Boyle will introduce the chairman.

EX-POLICEMAN NOW RADIO STAR

From a policeman's uniform to evening attire for concert and radio appearances has been the experience of Robert L. Johns, formerly of the East Boroughs district and now in New York City.

Robert L. Johns

The former Pennsylvania state trooper found the road to success when he joined the police department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company in East Pittsburgh during the early days of Station KDKA. Johns had joined the Westinghouse chorus and his voice was quickly recognized for its possibilities. He was named a soloist.

Johns' radio debut occurred when a prominent Pittsburgh singer became ill and could not appear. He filled the place. Repeated appearances followed. Continued study took Johns to New York where he since has been heard in concerts, churches and before the microphone. KDKA officials today predict further success for one of their first broadcast singers.

RADIO TO OFFER HOMESTEAD SINGERS

Westminster Choir Features KDKA Program Saturday; Festival Set for June 1

Homestead district contributes to an annual radio program Saturday night when the well-known Westminster Choir of the First Presbyterian Church of Homestead will be heard over Station KDKA.

Classical and sacred selections will be offered under direction of Frederick A. Welty when the singers go on the air at 8 p. m. During the program the Rev. Dr. W. C. Claudy will speak on the forthcoming general assembly of the Presbyterian church and the festival program with hundreds of voices scheduled for Homestead, June 1.

The choir has been organized on the Westminster plan, which trains the young boys and girls for the adult choir after they have been taught the knowledge of the church hymnal, received voice culture and have been educated in the works of some of the most popular composers. This organization started two years ago under the supervision of Mr. Welty, graduate of the Westminster Choir School, Ithaca, N. Y.

Each member of the adult choir donates his talent to the church, in return for which he receives a vocal lesson each week.

OPEN PITT CAMP AUGUST 10

A geological summer camp is to be held for the first time this summer by the University of Pittsburgh, according to announcement from Dean Elmer A. Holbrook, of the schools of engineering and mines.
